Johnson Demand Turned Down

Hoover Cites Washington Precedent in Refusing Correspondence

Assurance Given That No Secret Undertakings Are Concealed

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—President Hoover today refused to comply with a request by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee communications exchanged with other governments leading up to the London naval parley.

The President's decision was conveyed to Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Secretary Stimson in a letter which carried assurance that "there have been no concealed understandings with any nation, nor are there any agreements whatever except as appear in the treaty itself."

The letters exchanged in negotiations leading up to the London conference were requested by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, before approving the naval treaty. Neither Senator Johnson nor Senator Borah commented tonight on the decision of the administration to withhold the documents.

Senator Borah brought his letter of request to Chairman Borah personally and accompanied it with a lengthy special memorandum which he drew as far as possible the questions contained in Senator Borah's letter of June 3."

PRECEDENTS CITED

Secretary Stimson's letter recalled that President Washington had declined to transmit state papers to the Senate and he recalled later at the State Department that President Jefferson had refused to send to Congress some of the papers in connection with Washington naval conferences.

There was question whether this treaty was not in the interest of the public and should or should not be sent to the Senate must be determined from the nature of the document itself, Stimson bluntly told the Senate from extraneous matters.

Senator Johnson had called for the papers, documents, telegrams, speeches and communications of every sort leading up to or relating to the London conference and the treaty." Pending a study of the Stimson memorandum he made no comment.

MEETING MONDAY

However, Senator Borah presently will call the committee together Monday to consider action on the treaty. He said meetings would be held daily until the committee made a report. Advocates are confident of an overwhelming majority for the treaty in the committee.

Action on the past will be taken up at the regular session, as advocated by some of the Republican young bloods laid over for a special session.

Will Rogers Remarks:

CLAREMORE (Okla.) June 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Breakfast in Beverly Hills and dinner in Claremore. These are the two cities we been needing to have joined by a regular passenger line; the town is so crowded here we have to have our airport in the edge of Tulsa, and that Tulsa and Claremore airport broke a world's record in May just past. They hauled 10,212 passengers, that's ten thousand, not hundreds. Croydon, Eng., was second with 4690. They expect 15,000 a month during the summer from here. Cheap rates and safe service is what's doing it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Camp Kearny's Case Argued

Contentions as to Sunnyvale Advantages Contested Before Committee

Rosendahl Cross-examined and Other Naval Men to be Heard Today

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Virtually every contention as to the superiority of the Sunnyvale site on San Francisco Bay for the Navy's proposed $5,000,000 Pacific Coast dirigible base was contested today by Representative Swing, Republican, California, who urged establishment of the base at Camp Kearny in the San Diego area.

The El Centro Representative, who introduced a bill to authorize acceptance of a site at Camp Kearny, as opposed to the Free bill preferring a site at Sunnyvale, cross-examined Lieutenant-Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, former commander of the Los Angeles, seeking to show Camp Kearny offers greater advantages for a dirigible base than Sunnyvale.

INSPECTION PLANS

Commander Garland Fulton of the navy construction corps will take the stand tomorrow. When he has completed his testimony Lieutenant-Commander Edward L. Marshall of the navy civil engineer corps will be called. They are the only members of the special west coast air base board who have not yet appeared.

Report for Prohibition Gets Enthusiastic Greeting at Denver Conclave

Some Opposition Expected, However, to Wording of Liquor Resolution

DENVER, June 6. (AP)—Reaffirming the stand of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in favor of prohibition, the preliminary report of the resolutions committee was greeted with prolonged applause when presented at the first business session of the federation's twentieth biennial convention here today. The convention is to act on this and fifteen other resolutions tomorrow.

The prohibition resolution sponsored by Mrs. J. C. Pearson of Marshall, Okla., chairman of the American citizenship committee, is expected to meet some opposition on the floor of the convention and an amendment will be offered at tomorrow's session.

The resolution recites, "There are sinister influences at work seeking to undermine the efficacy of the Eighteenth Amendment" and "that individuals and organizations are making strenuous efforts to destroy the faith of the people of the United States in prohibition and to promote the idea that prohibition is contrary to the principles of our government."

AMENDMENT MOVE

An amendment is to be presented by Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., president of the Texas federation, moving to strike the word "sinister" from the phrase, "There are sinister influences seeking to undermine the efficacy of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Mrs. Lindsay's amendment also will seek to eliminate the phrase reciting that the federation "reaffirms its conviction that prohibition offers the best means for curbing the liquor traffic and its attendant crimes," making the paragraph read simply "that the General Federation of Women's Clubs through its delegate body reaffirms its continued support to the Eighteenth Amendment and the rigid enforcement thereof."

CHILDREN'S BUREAU

It also is believed, according to rumors at Convention Hall, that considerable discussion will attend a resolution indorsing the principles of a bill now pending in Congress which would virtually dissolve the Children's Bureau at Washington, transferring the duties to the Department of Public Health.

In accordance with its proposed resolution favoring the observance of the bicentennial of George Washington's birth, the federation today planted a tree honoring the first President.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., first vice-president of the federation, told the 5000 delegates and visitors the home-maker is "just beginning to realize that she is a part of the life of the community. She is just waiting for us, as I know from my personal contacts with her last year."

MEMBERSHIP GAIN

A review of the growth of the federation membership during the last year was presented by Mrs. Frederick G. Smith of Somerville, Mass., membership chairman. The membership, she said, is increasing steadily, "and it can be said very emphatically that our women's club movement has not yet reached its peak."

Reviewing the history of the club movement among farm women, Mrs. Smith observed: "The many modern household conveniences have allowed the rural woman more leisure and clubs have sprung up in the hill townships of our country."

Since the last convention, Mrs. Smith said two more States have voted universal membership—that is, they have inducted all their women's clubs into the General Federa-

CAROL ENDS HIS EXILE

Ex-Crown Prince in Rumania

News of Arrival by Plane from Paris Causes Stir in Kingdom's Capital

Agitations in Court Circles Point to Preparation for Prodigal's Return

[Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times]

BUCHAREST, June 6. (Exclusive) After five years in exile, former Crown Prince Carol made a dramatic return to Rumania tonight. He arrived in Bucharest from Paris by airplane at 6 o'clock.

The news of "Mr. Carol Caraman's" return to the country of which he would have been sovereign for the last three years, had it not been for his attachment to Mme. Magda Lupescu, spread rapidly in court and government circles. Late tonight, however, all was quiet in Bucharest.

RETURN PREPARED

That the former Prince's return not only had been expected, but prepared for by the government and court, seems likely. The day before yesterday a delegation of 200 farmers waited on Patriarch Miron Christe, one of the three regents, and requested that Carol be allowed to come back. For weeks the Liberal opposition has been attacking the Maniu government on the ground that it has refused to end the striking revival of agitation in favor of his return.

Prince Nicholas, brother of Carol and also a regent of the council ruling during the minority of Carol's son, King Michael, has openly intimated his opinion that the ban on his brother should be lifted and is known to be ready to resign his position on the regency council in Carol's favor.

TEARFUL SESSION

Three days ago it was definitely announced from Paris that Carol had irrevocably severed all relations with Mme. Lupescu.

For some time it has been evident that the only real opposition to Carol's return came from the Liberal party and possibly from Dowager Queen Marie, who was largely responsible for forcing her son to renounce the throne in 1925 and who, conceivably, awaited his return with some apprehension.

Two days ago Queen Marie had a series of interviews with Premier Maniu and Patriarch Christe, from which she emerged agitated and tearful. On the same day her departure for Oberammergau was announced. It also was given out that Princess Helen, Carol's former wife, mother of little King Michael, would visit her mother in Frankfort. There is reason to believe that Princess Helen is not opposed to a reconciliation with her divorced husband.

Lindberghs in New Type Plane Take Joy Ride

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) June 6. (Exclusive)—With the stork, which has been hovering over the Morrow mansion here preparatory to a landing, expected within two weeks, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh lifted his wife, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, into the cockpit of a new type blue monoplane at the Teterboro airport at Hasbrouck Heights at 11 a.m. today. They hopped off seated side by side in a Wright-Gypsy motored plane of the small, high-wing variety and twenty-five minutes later landed at Metropolitan Airport, Newark.

They remained there for ten minutes to gas up, took off again, returned to Teterboro shortly before noon and motored home in Lindbergh's car with its owner at the wheel.

ONE KILLED, ANOTHER HURT IN PLANE CRASH

WICHITA FALLS (Tex.) June 6. (AP)—Crates Douthitt of Henrietta, Tex., was killed and Warren Fannin of Ashland, Ky., was seriously injured today when a two-seater biplane fell here.

GRAF RESTS AT HOME BASE

Wild Throng Welcomes Zeppelin's Arrival After Dodging Storm Peril Over Southern France

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) June 6. (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin rests tonight at her home base at the end of a history-making voyage which carried her to North and South America, over a portion of Africa and twice across the Equator in nineteen days.

Dodging terrific electrical storms that threatened her with disaster over Southern France, the Graf detoured to Germany, turning aside from her customary course in the Rhone Valley and passing over Soleetre, near the Swiss frontier.

The last two days of the Graf's voyage were made memorable by the most unseasonable weather Spain has witnessed in years, and again by just such an atmospheric disturbance as all but wrecked Dr. Hugo Eckener's giant dirigible in 1929 when she was forced to abandon an Atlantic crossing at a point near the suburbs of Valence and finally landed near Toulon.

A wildly enthusiastic throng greeted the returning voyagers at the end of the dirigible's seventh trans-Atlantic crossing. The city from end to end was bedecked with flags. As the great craft came in sight of her hangars at a few minutes after 7:22 p.m. (1:22 p.m., E. S.T.,) cannons were fired, sirens shrieked and the bells of churches pealed.

The police with great difficulty succeeded in holding back the ever-increasing crowd from the roped inclosure. It was an equally difficult task to escort to the field Mrs. Eckener and the wives of Capt. Lehmann and Capt. Fleming, who arrived with a director of the Maybach Company.

Soon after arriving home the Graf's commander began to make

DEATH TOLL IN EASTERN HEAT GROWS

Fatalities Increased to Eleven as New York Area Sizzles Fourth Day

NEW YORK, June 6. (Exclusive) Afforded some relief by cooling southwesterly breezes and slightly more seasonable temperatures, New York and vicinity nevertheless sizzled in summer heat again today—the fourth day of the hot spell and two more deaths of prostration victims brought the total for the period to eleven.

With showers and much cooler weather promised, no precipitation came to the metropolitan area, although local storms threatened at intervals in the afternoon and early evening. The mercury climbed somewhat more slowly, the high being 85 deg. at 3 o'clock as compared to a maximum of 90 deg. in the late afternoon of the two days immediately preceding.

Cave-in Victim Finally Saved

SEATTLE, June 6. (AP)—After fifteen hours at the bottom of a forty-foot sewer trench where he was entombed by a slide of dirt yesterday, A. G. Brooks, senior street inspector, was rescued today by workmen who had been digging steadily since the cave-in.

Brooks apparently is uninjured, only weakened by the shock, doctors who attended him, said.

Two Millions Left to Youth

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—A 14-year-old boy has become a millionaire twice over under the will of his father, the late David P. Thompson, vice-president of the Inland Steel Company.

The lad, Alexis, receives his father's entire estate, valued at $2,000,000.

SONG WRITER LEAVES $250

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—The estate left by William Denright Cobb, who wrote "Good-by, Dolly Gray," "Schooldays" and other popular songs, is valued at $250.

Boat-Building Police Fail to Measure Door

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—Detective Sergeants Phil Lindecker and Jack Cannon, friends for years on the San Francisco Police Department, for several months have been working in a family garage putting into their home-made power boat all the care the deacon used in the construction of his wonderful one-hoss shay.

Next Sunday was set for the launching and a few select friends were invited.

But today friendship was cooling, and friends were smiling, for the boat, built to run 100 years to a day, has too much lumber in the middle for the garage doors. Either the garage must be wrecked or the boat stays.

Biloxi Cheers as Boys in Gray Pass in Parade

BILOXI (Miss.) June 6. (AP)—The largest crowd in Biloxi's history today watched and cheered themselves hoarse as the old Confederacy was again glorified in the veterans' reunion parade.

The long march of nearly six miles in the heat of the day was too strenuous for any of the old soldiers to make afoot. The 3000 veterans, rolling by in hundreds of flag and ribbon-draped automobiles, saluted the cries of the thousands that lined the parade's course and waved Confederate flags as they gave their rebel whoops, which were answered in kind by enthusiastic onlookers.

FOURTH WORLD RECORD SET

Our Percentage Gain for Decade Also Hangs Up Big-City Mark

Further analysis of the 1930 population figures of Los Angeles shows that this city has set a fourth world record for rapidity of growth among cities of the metropolitan class.

On the basis of totals already reported and allowing the most liberal estimates for those cities the censuses of which are not yet complete, it appears certain that the 113.59 per cent increase shown by Los Angeles since 1920 will far exceed the similar percentage growth for this decade of any other city in the United States of more than 500,000 population. Even if Detroit makes the 1,500,000 total she claims, her percentage of growth for the ten-year period will be only 50.9 per cent. Chicago's indicated percentage is 23.44 and that of New York is 9.40. San Francisco's is 22.71 and those of the rest of the first twelve cities are all under 15 per cent.

In the summary of the census figures published yesterday in The Times it should have been specified that the world record claimed for the numerical increase in population for the past half-century was for cities which had less than 100,000 in 1880.

BUCKINGHAM APPEARANCE CANCELED

[Copyright 1930, by New York Times.]

LONDON, June 6. (Exclusive)—One of the most beautiful women presented to King George and Queen Mary at their first court in Buckingham Palace May 14 has received notification from the Lord Chamberlain that her presentation has been canceled and struck off the official records. She is Mrs. Christopher Courtney, C.B.E., D.S.D., who was Miss Constance Rayson Greenhill.

Group Captain Courtney is deputy director of operations and intelligence at the Air Ministry, and his wife was presented at the court by Lady Salmond, wife of Air Chief Marshal Sir John Salmond.

This is the first time in twenty-seven years that a presentation to Their Majesties has been canceled, and there is no known case of a cancellation taking place so soon after a presentation. Although in the last decade lists of applicants for presentation have widened and become more democratic, credentials are most carefully scrutinized by palace officials to prevent an occurrence of this kind.

Lady Salmond tonight declared she is unaware the cancellation was to be published and could not enlighten newspapers as to the reason for the Lord Chamberlain's action.

Courtney is a son of the late W. L. Courtney, editor of the Fortnightly Review. He gained decorations for his services as an airman during the World War.

Chocolate Men Get Tax Rebates

PHILADELPHIA, June 6. (AP)—Under a ruling by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today that sweet chocolate is not candy, the government will have to refund nearly $7,000,000 to four chocolate-manufacturing companies, from whom the money was collected as taxes on "candy."

CENSUS AIDS PRESTIGE

County Will Gain Congressmen

We Will Have Several More Representatives and Also Added Assemblymen

Other Areas of Southland Likewise Will Benefit in New Apportionments

In addition to other large benefits which Los Angeles county enjoys, and will enjoy, as a result of the census tabulation giving this city and county a population of 2,190,557, figures were made available yesterday showing that this county will gain from four to six new Representatives in Congress and will gain ten new members in the State Assembly.

Although the apportionment of the 435 members of the House of Representatives under the 1930 census, as provided in legislation enacted by Congress last year, must be determined after returns from the entire nation have been received, returns from all sections of California indicate that the present Congressional representation of eleven members from this State will be increased to nineteen and that Southern California may obtain nearly all of the new districts.

DISTRICT FIGURED

Los Angeles, with two members of Congress now representing a constituency of more than 2,000,000, will have a total of seven national Representatives when the 1930 census is made effective in determining the new Congress quotas, according to Assemblyman Willis Baum of Los Angeles, who has made a careful study of the population figures.

It is estimated that this State's total population will reach 5,426,000, and that the total population of the United States will approximate 122,000,000. Hence, on these estimates, the unit of population for a Congress district will be between 275,000 and 300,000, and the eighty Assembly Districts of California will be divided into units of 67,825.

Under the terms of the new state constitutional provision relating to the election of State Senators and Assemblymen, each county may not have more than one Senator, but the Assembly membership is allocated according to population.

LARGER GROUP

Hence, the Assembly delegation from Los Angeles city and county, to be twenty-two in 1931, will be increased by ten in the Legislature of 1933, giving this county almost half of the total membership of the lower legislative house.

The Eleventh Congress District, consisting of Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial, San Diego, Inyo and Mono counties, and at present represented by Representative Swing of Imperial, is expected to gain at least one additional Representative. This area also will receive several new Assembly districts.

BOSTON WILL DROP TWO PLACES IN LIST

BOSTON, June 6. (Exclusive)—Boston is due to drop from seventh to ninth in the standing of the first ten cities of the country according to population, it was learned tonight with the revelation that the completed Federal census will show the total number of inhabitants to be 780,851.

This figure represents an increase of only 1231 persons since the State census five years ago and 32,791 since the last Federal census, when the population was listed at 748,060. As a result Los Angeles, with a population of 1,231,730, and Baltimore, with 790,000, will pass the Hub in size when the figures are officially released.

TAFT POPULATION HAS CLIMBED TO 7067

TAFT, June 6. (Exclusive)—Taft's population, including South Taft and Taft Heights, is 7067, Roland J. Veon, director of the census here, announced today following completion of the census-taking for the West Side city.

Taft proper has a population of 3404 persons, an increase of eighty-seven, or 2.6 per cent over the 1920

SOUTHLAND TO CELEBRATE

Chamber Plans Census Jubilee to Commemorate Achievement of World Records for Growth

A jubilee celebration in which all of Southern California will be asked to participate is being planned by Secretary Arnoll of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to signalize the breaking of all world records for growth by Los Angeles, it was revealed yesterday. Just what form the celebration will take has not been decided, but it is thought that it will be characteristically Southern California and of the fiesta nature, probably extending over three days.

Detailed plans are to be worked out by a committee to be selected immediately. It may be that the celebration will be held over until the fall to permit adequate planning and staging.

With the announcement that Los Angeles' population is 1,231,730, congratulatory messages poured into the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, locally and from distant parts.

SOUTHLAND TO CELEBRATE WORLD RECORD GROWTH

Census Leadership Announcement Declared Beginning of New Era in Business Expansion

cisco and our Bay area congratulate you and the people of Los Angeles on the results of the 1930 Federal census in Los Angeles showing a growth of which all California may be proud. Our Bay area population will probably show close to 1,500,000 when the final returns are all in and we hope that as both of our communities grow larger we will grow closer in our common aim of building a greater and more prosperous California."

What must have been another record in the line of lightning-like growth for a city was uncovered yesterday when, in the twinkling of an eye, 100 more persons were added to the city's population by the discovery of a clerical error in the official lists by Census Supervisor Munson of the central district. It is expected that changes will be made in the total from time to time as additions and subtractions are made through clerical revisions.

Various communities began reviewing the census figures and "pointing with pride" to the progress they have made. Among the prominent districts which enjoyed great growth are San Pedro and Wilmington. The city of Wilmington listed 14,907 persons in the present census as against 2367 ten years ago, a gain of 457.6 per cent. San Pedro's population is 35,918 as compared to 23,098 in 1920, a gain of 55.5 per cent.

Norwalk wished to remind the world that they now have 4449 residents, not counting the hospital employees and inmates.

HOLLYWOOD TOTAL

Hollywood was credited with an unofficial population figure of 133,294, according to figures supplied to the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce by Supervisor Kincaid.

Departmental managers of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, men who through years of study are experts in their respective fields and know the value of the healthy growth of a city with respect to her business relations with the rest of the world, expressed great satisfaction over the new census figure and its probable effect on trade and industry in the city.

Clarence A. Matson, manager of the foreign commerce and shipping department of the chamber, discussing the new census figures, said:

"The new census figures will demonstrate to people in other countries — better perhaps, than could be done in any other way— the leadership that has come to Los Angeles among the cities of Western America. The fact that Los Angeles is approximately as large as San Francisco, Seattle and Portland combined, cannot fail to impress our neighbors, around the Pacific, especially, with the fact that Los Angeles will have a much larger part in the development of trade and commerce in the future than even in the past.

AUGURY FOR FUTURE

"At the same time the growth of these other cities is in no way discounted, for they have made admirable showings, indicating that the entire Pacific Coast of the United States is a greater factor than ever in the commerce of the world.

"In other words, our census figures are another strong evidence of the advent of the Pacific era in world affairs, with Los Angeles as a large factor therein.

"One other fact is an inspiration to me personally in my work:

"From my office windows I can look out to the Palos Verdes Hills and Signal Hill to the south, and to Hollywood, the Verdugo Hills and Pasadena to the north. Almost within range of my vision a city of a million people has been built in the last ten years—a city of commerce and industry, of culture and education, in which have been developed economic, social and spiritual movements of world-wide significance. Here is a miracle, unlike anything that has happened in history heretofore—and it is only a precursor of what is to happen here in the decades to come."

LARGEST MARKET

Robert D. Sangster, manager of the industrial department of the chamber, said:

"We have known and stressed in out contacts with prospective industries that Los Angeles offered the largest local market on the Coast, which fact, together with cheap and varied transportation outlets coastwise, made this the economic distribution point for serving the Western States as a whole, notwithstanding our geographic position.

"The census returns indicate that Los Angeles city has 44 per cent of the combined population of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Seattle and Portland, and that the sheer gain of our population during the past ten years was 138 per cent greater than the combined gain of the other four principal Coast cities. This clinches our argument and strengthens our claim upon vital points attracting factories, namely, value of market and advantageous distribution.

"The sharp upward swing of our population has been accompanied by stabilizing pay rolls, Los Angeles county alone having made 92 per cent of the total gain in California manufacturing during the eight years, 1919-1927.

"Sites for factories and plants nowadays are chosen in relation to market centers rather than geographic centers. Hence Los Angeles has for several years been the chief western magnet drawing branch factories of nationally known industries."

ASSEMBLY DISTRICTS

In Los Angeles the populations of Assembly districts were given by Supervisor Munson as follows:

No. 59	73,440
No. 62	75,986
No. 63	64,952
No. 64	80,390
No. 66	67,268
No. 67	72,733

Note: Figures for that portion of District No. 67 outside of the city are not included in the above figures.

Population for Riverside county, omitted in yesterday's schedule, was given as 82,266, compared with 50,297 ten years ago. This is an increase of 63.5 per cent for the county. The new population for some of Riverside county cities and communities follow:

	1930	1920	Pct. Inc.
Beaumont	1,331	857	55.3
Elsinore	1,352	633	97.7
Hemet	2,234	1,480	50.9
Perris	763	499	52.9
Riverside	30,656	18,341	58.4
Banning	2,750	1,810	51.9
San Jacinto	1,345	945	42.3

Saving $700 on a $6000 Loan

A borrower had a $6000 real estate loan which he was paying off in 120 months, by monthly payments of $12.34 per $1000. His total payment was therefore $74.04 a month. Upon analysis he found he was paying 8.4% interest.

He refinanced his loan on Pacific States Savings' 7% basis. For the same size loan running for the same term he is paying only $69.96 a month.

That is an actual saving of $4.38 every month, or $52.56 yearly. He is placing this monthly saving in Pacific States Savings in accordance with our usual 6% provisions. It will accumulate to approximately $700 by the time the loan is paid. Is this not a worth while saving on a $6000 loan?

You may be able to make a comparable saving. Call at Pacific States Savings and let our loan officials demonstrate the economies you can make by refinancing on Pacific States Savings' long term easy payment 7% basis.

We are making prompt advances on residential and income property meeting our usual standards of desirability in and near cities served by our offices. Borrowers are not required to carry savings balances with us. If it is inconvenient to call, send for booklet.

LIFE REAL STRUGGLE FOR HEIR

Scant Income Barely Meets Expenses

William Willock, Jr., and Bride

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Heir to millions, William Willock, Jr., 22-year-old bridegroom, is struggling to get along. He and his bride, former household servant, live in the gardener's house on his father's Long Island estate, they stay at home every night and have no company. His father allows him $20 a week and he makes $7 driving a truck. The household expenses run $30 a week.

All of which he told when examined by lawyers for Katherine McCormack, another sarvant, who is suing him for $250,000 for breach of promise. He said he has $14,701 in the bank.

The Zeppelin took off from this base Sunday, May 18, last, left Seville, Spain, on May 20, and arrived at Pernambuco, Brazil, on May 23. It visited Rio De Janeiro and, returning to Pernambuco, departed May 28 for the United States, avoiding a previously scheduled stop at Havana, arrived at Lakehurst, N. J., on May 31, and departed two days later for Seville.

Arriving at Seville yesterday she remained just thirty-one minutes, discharging passengers and replenishing her fuel and provisions. The voyage from Seville to Friedrichshafen lasted twenty-four hours and forty-seven minutes.

Ryan Wins Point in Tax Battle

ALBANY (N. Y.) June 6. (AP)—Supreme Court Justice McNamee today issued a writ of certiorari against the New York State Tax Commission, ordering it to present proof the entire income of John D. Ryan, chairman of the board of the Anaconda Copper Company, is subject to income taxation by this State.

Ryan has contested the attempt to tax him for an income of $962,560 derived from sources without the State, contending he is a resident of Butte, Mont., and not of New York.

Privilege Voted for Mrs. Taft

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Mrs. Helen H. Taft, widow of the former President and Chief Justice, would be granted a franking privilege in accordance with a long-standing precedent under a bill passed unanimously today by the House and sent to the Senate.

It has been the practice of the government for many years to allow all mail sent by widows of Presidents to be handled postage free during their lifetime.

committee, Chairman Britten said today the subcommittee which he yesterday requested be authorized for that purpose will include all members of the committee who desire to make the trip.

During examination of Commander Rosendahl, Swing attacked testimony that Sunnyvale is superior from a strategic standpoint and that its wind conditions are better.

He questioned the witness's testimony that cheaper land is available at Sunnyvale for expansion purposes than at Camp Kearny, but the witness stuck to his view. Swing indicated he expects to counter by testimony of his own witnesses.

Swing recalled that Rosendahl previously had urged Camp Kearny as a site for the dirigible base. Rosendahl pointed out he still thinks it suitable, but he believes Sunnyvale superior.

HOPES AS TO DIRIGIBLES

Rosendahl expressed the hope that both new dirigibles under contract at Akron, O., will be stationed on the Pacific Coast.

The supposed advantage of greater gross lift of a dirigible at Sunnyvale because of lower altitude, as asserted by Rosendahl, Swing declared to be slight. The witness agreed it is not a serious point, and said he had included it because it had been overlooked before.

Rosendahl said it is "not so vital" that a dirigible base be adjacent to a heavier-than-air base.

Swing contended the difference in comparative wind conditions at Sunnyvale and Camp Kearny is slight. Rosendahl had testified that the air in the vicinity of Kearny is "bumpy," due to terrain and uneven heating conditions.

REPORT RECALLED

The Camp Kearny proponent referred Rosendahl and members of the committee to the report of the special board headed by Rear-Admiral Helm, which, a number of years ago, recommended an aviation operations base be established at San Diego at the same time it recommended establishment of a navy yard at San Francisco. This, Swing contended, demonstrates that the strategic values of Camp Kearny are superior for the dirigible base to those at Sunnyvale.

"In the first place," Rosendahl answered, "in those days we had no airships. I do say that Camp Kearny is excellent for an airplane base, but that Sunnyvale conditions are better for an airship."

Swing sought to show that additional men who might be necessary in time of an emergency landing can be more quickly obtained at Kearny than at Sunnyvale. Whereas ground crew volunteers can reach Kearny field in twenty minutes by truck, he contended student volunteers from Stanford University could not reach the Sunnyvale site in less than two hours.

Two hours, he said, might be the difference between saving and losing of a storm-battered dirigible.

Rosendahl said that if mechanical power to moor the ship were not sufficient, additional man power would be of no avail.

Doran Declares Drink Declining

ROCHESTER (Minn.) June 6. (AP) Dr. James M. Doran, Federal prohibition commissioner, believes liquor drinking decreases as prohibition talk increases.

Addressing a Women's Christian Temperance Union convention, he said consumption of liquor is less than a year ago and predicted it will be still less next year.

HOOVER PLANS SHIPPING QUIZ

Committee to be Named for Exhaustive Inquiry

Merchant Marine Situation Highly Involved

Sale of Two Lines and Huge Loans Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—President Hoover today informed Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board that he proposes to appoint a committee of outstanding men to investigate and consult with the board upon policies.

The board has under consideration bids for disposal of the Black Diamond and Cosmopolitan lines in the Atlantic and proposals under which it would lend some $60,000,000 of Federal funds to the United States Line for new ship construction.

REPORTS CONFLICT

The President said he has received many representations dealing with the subject and since he can not personally pass judgment upon the "highly controversial questions" he will appoint the committee. Its inquiry, he said, will not require more than sixty days.

President Hoover, in his letter to Mr. O'Connor, said he has received "many representations pro and con upon the merits of rival bids and protests at the character of ships which it is proposed to construct under government loans."

"The disposal of these questions will have a profound effect upon the future of our merchant marine and upon the policies involved therein," he continued. "Obviously I cannot personally pass judgment upon highly controversial questions.

KEENLY INTERESTED

"While Congress has provided no authority for the President over the policies of the Shipping Board, yet these matters are of great importance to the future of the Merchant Marine, in which I am deeply interested.

"I propose, therefore to appoint a committee of outstanding men who would review these questions and advise upon them and on the broader policies in merchant marine organization. If the board finds itself in agreement with this proposal it will be necessary to withhold action in the disposal of these questions."

PLUMMER NOMINATED FOR REAPPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The nomination of Edward C. Plummer of Maine for reappointment to the Shipping Board was sent to the Senate today by President Hoover.

session, as proposed by Senator Watson, Indiana, the Republican leader, and other party chieftains, appeared unsettled.

Secretary Stimson described as "nonsense" any talk that "these confidential papers are being kept confidential in order to cover up some secret understanding or some indiscretion of the American delegates."

STIMSON'S LETTER

His letter to Senator Borah follows, in part:

"Respecting the other papers called for I am directed by the President to say that their production would not, in his opinion, be compatible with the public interest. These requests call for the production and possible publication of informal and confidential conversations, communications and tentative suggestions of a kind which are common to almost every negotiation, and without which such negotiations cannot successfully be carried on. If the confidence in which they were made to the American delegation in London is broken, it would materially impair the possibility of future successful negotiations between this government and other nations.

"The necessity of preserving such confidences was made clear by President Washington at the very beginning of this government. In reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives of March 24, 1796, he said:

CAUTION REQUIRED

"The nature of foreign negotiations requires caution and their success must often depend on secrecy; and even when brought to a conclusion a full disclosure of all the measures, demands or eventual concessions which may have been proposed or contemplated would be extremely impolitic; for this might have a pernicious influence on future negotiations or produce immediate inconveniences, perhaps danger and mischief, in relation to other powers.

"Both the Secretary of the Navy and I have been before your committee and have been examined at length. Officers of the Navy have also freely given their views to your committee. Moreover, two members of your committee were members of the American delegation at London and are familiar with every phase of the negotiations from beginning to end and stand ready to make their knowledge available to interested members of your committee. The question whether this treaty is or is not in the interest of the United States and should or should not be ratified by the Senate must in the last event be determined from the language of the document itself and not from extraneous matter.

"There have been no concealed understandings in this matter, nor are there any commitments whatever except as appear in the treaty itself and the interpretive exchange of notes recently suggested by all your committee, all of which are now in the hands of the Senate."

MEXICO CENSUS REVEALS GAIN

Population of Nation Shows 2,000,000 Increase

Total Now 16,404,030 for Entire Country

Five States Have More Than 1,000,000 Each

MEXICO CITY, June 6. (AP)—Mexico's population is 16,404,030, according to the 1930 census.

The nation-wide count taken on May 15 showed a gain of approximately 2,000,000 population since 1921, according to a statement of the Census Board made public today.

The figures showed 8,065,695 males and 8,338,335 females.

All States showed an increase except Colima, which lost 30,000.

The population of the Federal district is 1,217,663, an increase of more than 311,000 since 1921.

States showing more than a million inhabitants are Jalisco, Michoacan, Oaxaca, Puebla and Vera Cruz.

Vera Cruz showed the largest gain outside the Federal district, 216,000. Puebla gained 123,000.

Some of the other figures are: Tamaulipas, 343,677; Nuevo Leon, 416,173; Chihuahua, 491,893; Sonora, 315,312, and Northern District, Lower California, 47,993.

FOUL PLAY FEARED IN DISAPPEARANCE

SALT LAKE CITY, June 6. (AP)—Police searching for Lowell A. M., April 15 with $11,000 worth of jewelry and expense money.

New Cruisers' Names Picked

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Secretary Adams said today that four new 10,000-ton cruisers are to be named the Portland, Astoria, Minneapolis and New Orleans.

The Portland, named for the Maine city, is under construction at Quincy, Mass.; the Astoria at the Puget Sound navy yard, the Minneapolis at the Philadelphia navy yard, and the New Orleans at the New York navy yard.

Hunger Death Eludes Farmer

DANVILLE (Va.) June 6. (AP)—Today, the day he had set for his death through self-imposed starvation, found little change apparent in the condition of Frank W. Davis, farmer, who has refused food for the last twenty-six days in an effort to end his life because he says he is tired of living.

Although he is perceptibly weaker, it is believed he will survive several more days.

SENATE KILLS WET PROPOSAL

Poison as Denaturant for Alcohol Retained

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The Senate again crushed by an overwhelming vote today an effort to prevent by legislation the use of poisons in denaturing industrial alcohol.

The latest of repeated attempts by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, was defeated, 45 to 35, after he had blocked consideration of the Howell bill to tighten prohibition enforcement in the District of Columbia.

Tydings attempted to attach the amendment to a bill to regulate the labeling of canned fruits and vegetables.

SAILORS TAKEN IN RACE RIOTING

Twenty-four of Navy's Men Arrested in Connecticut

Scores of Coast Guardsmen Allied With Bluejackets

NEW LONDON (Ct.) June 6. (Exclusive)—Twenty-four United States sailors were placed under arrest by State police here today as ringleaders in the five hours of race rioting which raged here from last midnight to daybreak, with 200 seamen and 350 Coast Guardsmen on one side and several hundred Negroes opposing them.

The declaration of war between the whites and the blacks is asserted to have come about through an attempt by L. A. Newsom and Athol B. Williams, sailors from the submarine base, to force their attentions on an attractive colored girl.

She felled Williams with a rock and turned her fury on Newsom. Sailors seemed to pour from every doorway in answer to their signals of distress. The Negro citizens, for whom this battling with bluejackets os not new, poured out too and the war was on.

Rocks, clubs and fists—and occasionally a knife—were the weapons employed in the ensuing battle which raged until 5 a.m., despite all the police and fire department and a few State troopers could do. In the course of it the sailors—not doing so well—drew on the Coast Guard station a mile away for reinforcements.

Receiving their call to arms by some underground system the Coast Guardsmen, 350 strong, forsook their beds, deserted the base without permission and joined the fray, they, too, having had their troubles in the Negro area.

DEATH CALLS A. L. MOHLER

Ex-Rail Chief Dies After Two Weeks' Illness

Former Union Pacific Head Once Office Clerk

Identified With Roads of Nation Since 1868

CHICAGO, June 6. (Exclusive)—A. L. Mohler, former president of the Union Pacific Railroad, identified with the railroads of the country since 1868, died today at St. Anthony's Hospital. Mr. Mohler, a native of Ephrata, Pa., was 80 years of age.

Two weeks ago Mr. Mohler was stricken in Chicago while on his way home from New York to Hayward, Wis., after a fishing trip. He collapsed while walking from his train to the Atlantic Hotel, and was taken to the hospital.

Throughout his illness the former rail executive, who fought his way from a clerkship with the Chicago and Northwestern to high positions, would not concede defeat though warned by physicians of the gravity of his condition.

Mr. Mohler's first rail position of importance was as general freight agent for the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba in 1882. At later periods he was general manager of the Great Northern, the Montana Central and of the Minneapolis and St. Louis. After a further succession of executive positions with various lines, he became president of the Union Pacific in 1912, retaining this position until his retirement in 1916.

EXPLORERS FIND BURIED CITY

Oil Scouts in Mexico Tell of Mayan Ruins Located in State of Vera Cruz

MEXICO CITY, June 6. (AP) Dispatches from Puerto Mexico tell of a group of oil explorers finding a buried city of mysterious origin in the uninhabited southern part of the State of Vera Cruz.

The party set out from San Juan De Carmen and found the city along the River Playas. It appeared to have been of considerable size, with streets laid out in regular order. The inscriptions apparently were Mayan and various mummies and interesting art objects were found.

The explorers said the ruins were covered by millions of small white flowers unknown in Mexico.

TRIO KIDNAPED IN INDIAN RAID

Two British Officers and Woman Captured

Prisoners Held in Nomad Village by Tribesmen

Casualties Heavy in Battle Near Peshawar

BOMBAY (India) June 6. (AP)—Unrest of tribesmen on the northwestern frontier continues to focus the anxious attention of the Europeans here, coupled with the news that two British officers and the wives of one of them have been kidnaped by transborder Achaksa raiders.

The British hve used airplanes against the hostile men of the hills, however, and tonight the situation on the frontier appeared to be in hand. A number of Royal Air Force machines and a column of infantry engaged a force of Afridi tribesmen which had penetrated almost to the walls of Peshawar, and something resembling pitched battles were fought, although details are lacking. It is understood the tribesmen suffered heavy casualties and the military forces a few.

TRAVELERS AMBUSHED

The Europeans kidnaped are Maj. E. L. Marley, stationed at Quetta; Capt. J. C. Frere of the Twelfth Secunderabad Infantry Brigade, and his wife.

The incident occurred Wednesday afternoon at a point seven miles from Chaman on the main Quetta Chaman road. The three were traveling in two motor cars driven by Indians and were held up by a barricade of rocks. Scarcely had the machine stopped when the raiders fell upon the occupants and carried them across the frontier.

The first news of the event was received in Chaman from the engineer of a train which passed close to the spot shortly afterward. Seeing the barricade and the two empty cars, he stopped for an investigation and then rushed to Chaman.

Police and troops sped to the spot but were unable to overtake the raiders before they crossed the border into Afghanistan, six miles distant.

RELEASE EXPECTED

It was learned the kidnaped persons were place on camels and taken to a Nomad village near Kunchai, about twenty miles southwest of Chaman in Afghan territory, where they spent Wednesday and Thursday nights.

A jirga (tribal gathering) of local chiefs was sent to find the raiders and of them, Haken Spin Baldak, was requested to handle the negotiations. Yesterday he sent a small group to Kunchai, but when their negotiations were futile, he went in person, accompanied by a body of Afghan troops in six motor trucks. It was believed the release would be effected shortly.

It was reported the prisoners have been treated considerately. No motive for the kidnaping has yet been established.

Down in the salt-raiding country lively affray occurred at Dharasana today, where salt raids have become somewhat of a routine affair. One hundred and sixty-seven Nationalist volunteers attempted to seize the government salt pans, but were beaten off in a charge by police. Some of them sat stolidly in the road, making no effort to obtain salt and paying no attention to orders to disperse. They were bodily removed.

FRENCH ALARMED BY RED REVOLT IN INDO-CHINA

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 6. (Exclusive)—The rising tide of revolution in Indo-China, which seems to be following in the footsteps of India, was subject to fiery debates in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

During the debates documentary evidence was produced to show that the troubles in Indo-China were fomented by Communists, and the Deputies warned that Red propaganda must be stamped out or the lives of thousands of French soldiers will have to be sacrificed as in the Riff and Syria.

Even as the Deputies were discussing the long list of disorders, starting with the bloody mutiny at Yen Bay, dispatches arrived from the East telling of new outbreaks near Saigon.

According to the dispatches, a mob of nearly 1000 natives carrying red flags and Communist emblems twice surrounded the village of Bahom in the Province of Cholon and fired on houses. They were finally repulsed by the police, leaving one dead and five wounded.

In the near-by village of Hocmon there was more rioting and gunplay.

FOUR RIOTERS GIVEN SENTENCE OF DEATH

BOMBAY, June 6. (AP)—A report from Sholapur said that four persons were sentenced to death tonight for the murder of policemen during recent rioting in that city. The judge who heard the cases was an Indian, N. J. Owadia.

A committee of the India Merchants' Chamber of Bombay announced it would forward to authorities the resignations of Sir Purshotamdas Thakurdas and Lalji Naranji, the chamber's representatives in the Legislative Assembly and Bombay Council, respectively.

WOMAN REFUSES HONOR FROM KING AS PROTEST

LONDON, June 6. (AP)—A dispatch to the Daily Herald says that Miss Ida Dickinson, who was awarded the Kaisar-I-Hind silver medal in the King's birthday honors for social work in Bombay, has refused it as a protest against the Indian government's "policy of repression."

She also resigned from the Bombay Legislative Council, of which she was the first and only woman member.

HUBBY CITES THREAT TO HAVE HIM KILLED

ST. PAUL, June 6. (AP)—Frank Walton, wanting a divorce, says his wife threatened to have him killed for $25, but couldn't get the $25. She attacked him with knives and fists, his petition asserts. He told of her "stropping a knife, saying she intended to kill said plaintiff when the knife was sharp enough." Walton maintains that this constitutes cruel and inhuman treatment.

125 So. Vermont SATURDAY

At 9 o'clock Saturday, the Seventh of June, the doors of the new home of Security Building and Loan Association at 125 South Vermont Avenue will be opened to the public.

Making "Security Service" available at this — its second office — witnesses officially the merging of the International Building and Loan Association with the Security Building and Loan Association. The union of these two Associations offers something of a new and friendly usefulness to their joint membership. As a special feature, certain valuable considerations will be made to those who add to the importance of this occasion Saturday by opening a Security 6% Thrift Account.

Free

A cordial invitation is extended to all to visit the new office Saturday between the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock in the evening. A handsome and useful souvenir of the occasion will be presented to each of our visitors.

Dental Practice on Large Scale Cuts Cost of Work

By DR. PAINLESS PARKER
Founder of the E. R. PARKER SYSTEM

THERE is only one way to practice good dentistry at a moderate price to patients, and that is on a large scale and according to a system.

Dentistry has too many branches and too many details for one man to do it well alone in a small office.

There are extracting, filling, treating, artificial plate-making, crown and bridge work, examinations, receiving patients, bookkeeping, record-keeping, buying supplies, paying bills and many other business details to be looked after.

Under the E. R. Parker System a number of dental surgeons, dental mechanics, trained nurses, stenographers, bookkeepers and attendants work together in the cause of serving the public.

Each has some particular kind of work to do, and thus becomes expert at it, doing it better and in less time.

Advertisements are put in the papers telling what good dental work is done by the use of this modern System, and many patients come in and have their teeth cared for.

Better dentistry can thus be given for less money. Where the patronage is large, the price can be made smaller.

You are invited to have your teeth examined free.

MOTHERS BACK ON HOME SHORE

First Group Returns from Trip to France

Visit to Graves of Sons Leaves Vivid Memories

One Wires Thanks Direct to President Hoover

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Mothers of heroes, the first little group of 6000 whom two republics are honoring this summer in grateful recognition of the sacrifice they made, came back to the homeland today from the graves of their sons in France.

As they depart tomorrow for the cities and hamlets and countrysides to which their boys never returned, each will carry with her a picture—one exalted, moving moment—that she will never forget.

It is not always the same picture. Each of the 227 who landed from the liner President Harding in Hoboken today apparently had been touched by some scene, some contact, some event that had had its special significance for her alone.

GRAVES OF UNKNOWN

They were not always big things and, curiously enough, it was seldom her first sight of her own boy's grave.

For Mrs. Ada Brown of Winter Garden, Fla., it was those rows and rows of white marble crosses in the Romagne Cemetery on each of which is lettered: "Here rests in honor and glory an American soldier known but to God."

For Mrs. Julia Burke of Maywood, Neb., whose son, Lieut. Walter Burke, was part of the toll in human lives required for the British and Americans to break through the Hindenburg line, it was the poppies in the great Somme Cemetery.

And for Mrs. D. C. Waring of Cincinnati, it was the sight of hundreds of French war mothers, all in black, who stood on the dock silently weeping as they drew up at Cherbourg.

TEARS CAUSE STRAIN

"It was a simple thing," she said. "There was nothing official about it all. They just stood there waiting for us—tears in their eyes, holding out their hands. We could not talk to each other, for we spoke different tongues. But we didn't need to talk.

"There was a band, and as we approached the dock it was playing the 'Marseillaise.' I said to myself, 'If it plays the "Star Spangled Banner," I shall cry,' it did, and the tears came. But then I felt better."

Mrs. William H. Siddells of Newberry, Fla., who sent a personal telegram to President Hoover today because she wanted him to know how grateful she and the others felt, said it was the beauty of the cemetery in which her son is buried that touched her most.

All but one of those who went over in the first unit returned today. Mrs. Florence Williams of Portsmouth, O., 72 years of age, was left in Verdun recovering from bronchial pneumonia.

MAUVE ERA PALACE PASSES

Potter Palmer Mansion Opened to Curious Folk for Two Days on Eve of Demolition

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—The doors of the Potter Palmer "castle" on the Gold Coast, one of the few remaining show places of the gorgeous and naughty '80's and '90's, opened today to the feet of the curious commoners.

After a two-day society charity benefit, to which a signboard bids "everybody welcome," the turreted stranger among towering apartment buildings will be given over to the wreckers. An apartment-hotel will take its place.

Potter Palmer, an early mercantile prince and inn keeper, built the old home on Lake Shore Drive during the 1880's. Few were welcome to the "castle" and these only of the socially elect, during the more than forty years that followed. There it stood in its early days, as austere and aloof as the stately chatelaine who ruled it, and the society she reigned over three decades. Mrs. Palmer was the only social dictator of Chicago's elite.

Mrs. Palmer, who died in 1918, also maintained homes in Paris and London. Her place in European social circles was as firmly fixed as in Chicago.

An audience with her was obtained only after a message passed through the hands of twenty-seven persons, butlers, maids, social secretaries and democracy's equivalent to ladies-in-waiting. Her closest friends made appointments in writing.

NOTABLE FUNCTIONS

The most elaborate of the Palmer social functions were on New Year's Eve. An invitation was carte blanche to any of Chicago's affairs of the ensuing year.

The Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII of England, was a guest of the Palmers. Presidents Grant, Garfield and McKinley were entertained at the "castle." When Czar Nicholas, last of the Romanoffs, was crowned, Mrs. Palmer chartered a special boat and train to reach St. Petersburg for the coronation. Many of the Russian nobility returned to be guests at a house party on the drive.

Contestants in House Both Lose Fight for Seat

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—A decision that neither Vincent L. Palmisano, Democrat, nor John Philip Hill, Republican, is entitled to his seat in the House from the Third Maryland District was reached today by a House Elections Committee.

In taking the unusual course of denying the claims of both contestants and thus, in effect, recommending that the seat be declared vacant, the committee came to the conclusion that "Hill was not elected and that Palmisano is not entitled to be seated."

The vote in both cases was 5 to 3.

FIERRO HALTED ON LONG-DISTANCE HOP

FIFTEEN TO BE GUESTS OF HOOVER

High Officials Among Men Going to Mountain Camp With President Today

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Fifteen guests are to accompany President Hoover tomorrow to his Virginia mountain camp where Mrs. Hoover is convalescing from the injury she received two months ago. The list is drawn largely from high officials of the government, seven being invited in addition to Secretary Hurley, who has been a regular companion of the Chief Executive on his trips this summer.

Hanford Macnider of Iowa, recently appointed Minister to Canada, also is to accompany the President.

The party includes Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the Treasury; Walter Hope, assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Charles P. Sisson and Seth W. Richardson, assistant Attorneys-General; Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico; Robert Lucas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue; Thad Brown, general counsel for the Radio Commission; Ira T. Bennett, editor of the Washington Post; Mr. Macnider, John Richardson of Boston, Ashton Brown, Washington correspondent of the Providence Journal and Bulletin; Robert A. Taft, son of the late Chief Justice; Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President, and Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician.

FORTY-FOUR NAVAL MEN PROMOTED

Seven Captains Raised to Rear-Admiral Rank; Californian Among Them

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Preparing to fill vacancies in the high naval ranks, the Navy Department, with the approval of President Hoover, today issued a list of those selected for promotion this year.

Seven captains were selected to be rear-admirals, fourteen commanders were chosen for the rank of captain and twenty-three officers of lower rank were listed for promotion to commander.

The captains chosen for promotion to rear-admiral are Walter Rockwell Gherardi of the Navy General Board, Arthur St. Clair Smith, chief of staff to the commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, who is from Iowa; Clarence S. Kempff, the navy hydrographer, from California; John Halligan, commander of the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet, from Massachusetts; William T. Tarrant of the Bureau of Naval Operations, born in Mississippi, but appointed from Texas; George Tilford Pettengill, Naval War College, Newport, R. I., from Idaho; Edward B. Fenner, commander of the U.S.S. Mississippi, from New York State.

Among the commanders to become captains was Charles H. Towers, the organizer of the first trans-Atlantic flight and assistant chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

AIR MERGER RUMORS FLY AT PARLEY

Officers of Corporations in Conference at Chicago Represent Huge Holdings

CHICAGO, June 6. (Exclusive)—Reports of possible further consolidations in air transport lines were circulated in Chicago today in connection with the appearance here, for conferences, of Hainer Hinshaw, assistant of President Frederick G. Coburn of the Aviation Corporation, and W. G. Herron, vice-president of Air Investors, which is an investment corporation with huge holdings in the Aviation Corporation as well as in many other enterprises.

One of the reports is that negotiations are on between the Aviation Corporation and the United Aircraft and Transport for the possible purchase of Universal Air Lines, a subsidiary of Aviation Corporation, operating a passenger service between Cleveland and Dallas by way of Chicago, which line parallels the National Air Transport mail line, recently acquired by United and which is expected shortly to put on a passenger service.

Three Convicted of Mail Fraud

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—A verdict of guilty against three of four individual defendants in the second Utah Lead Company mail-fraud trial was returned tonight by a jury in Federal court.

Charles Beadon, promoter and the principal defendant, was convicted of mail fraud and conspiracy to use the mails to defraud. Michael Darnett, Philadelphia lawyer and president of the lead company, and Harry H. Phillips, Philadelphia and New York broker, were convicted of conspiracy.

Joseph Morris, statistician employed by Beadon, was acquitted.

TWO OIL WORKERS KILLED

EDGERTON (Kan.) June 6. (AP)—William Stanfield, 30 years of age, and Charles Green, 50, both of Tulsa, Okla., were killed and two other men injured near here today in the collapse of a 55,000-gallon storage tank they were erecting for the Independent Oil and Gas Company.

PARK OFFERED TO NEW YORK

Rockefeller Makes Tender of $7,000,000 Estate

Fine New Buildings for Museum Included

Total Gift Value Figures Up to $13,000,000

New York, June 6. (Exclusive) John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made to the city today one of the most princely offers in the history of even the Rockefeller benefactions. He offered to give the city, as a complete park, everything paid for, fifty-six acres which he has owned for many years at the northernmost part of Manhattan, overlooking the Hudson River—a beautiful, wooded tract including the one-time estate of C. K. G. Billings.

In his offer to the Mayor and the Board of Estimate Mr. Rockefeller says that he also is offering four acres of the tract to the Metropolitan Museum of Art to house the cloister treasures once owned by the sculptor, George G. Barnard, and that he will provide not only the ground but will pay also the cost of constructing the new annex for the art museum.

MILLIONS INVOLVED

It was estimated today by Mayor Walker that the value of the land on Fort Washington Heights in the neighborhood of One Hundred and Ninety-second street, is at least $7,000,000 and that it would cost Mr. Rockefeller $5,000,000 additional to convert the land into a completed park, as he has offered to do. This does not include the cost of a new building for the Metropolitan Museum, which he offers to build and it is estimated that such a building might cost another $4,000,000. At a rough estimate, therefore, Mr. Rockefeller's offer to the city of New York is worth at least $13,000,000.

This is not the first time that Mr. Rockefeller has offered the Billings estate to the city. Twice previously he made similar offers—once when Mayor Mitchel was in office and again during the Hylan regime—but each time the conditions he prescribed were refused.

CONDITIONS LISTED

These conditions involve the development of the park, closing of certain streets now running through it and purchase of a certain small amount of now-neglected land which lies between the tract and the river.

It is assumed that Mayor Walker and Mr. Rockefeller have come to an agreement about these conditions and that the Mayor has approved them, or the Rockefeller offer would not have been repeated.

ADVENTISTS LEND AID TO PROHIBITION

Telegram Will be Sent to President Hoover Backing Him in Dry Efforts

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—A committee of five appointed after an enthusiastic session of the religious liberty department of the quadrennial conference of Seventh Day Adventists here today was instructed to draft a telegram to President Hoover supporting him in his prohibition law enforcement program and also to draft resolutions reaffirming the denomination's position in favor of both temperance and prohibition.

Prof. A. W. Spalding of Washington, D. C., director of the denomination's home commission, in his report to delegates declared, "Society will break, the church fall and the nation lose its power and its prosperity if home affairs continue to weaken."

He spoke of self-indulgence, impatience, disorder, extravagance, irreverence and frivolity as weaknesses that make the church feeble and the flow of gifts to its promulgation sluggish. An appeal was made for funds for far-flung missionary enterprises.

The following were elected trustees for the general conference corporation: P. M. Wilcox, president; C. H. Watson, J. L. Shaw, J. L. McElhany, C. K. Myers, O. O. Montgomery, E. R. Palmer, H. E. Rogers and W. H. Williams. All will be located in Washington, D. C.

CANNON TO CAUSE TRIP OF CARAWAY

Lobby Committee Head to Consult With Members on Bishop's "Walkout"

DEXTER (Mo.) June 6. (AP)—Senator Caraway of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate lobby committee, plans to return immediately to Washington to confer with committee members regarding the refusal of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., to answer questions asked by the members.

"I do not think it was ever the committee's intention to attempt to force Bishop Cannon to discuss his campaign activities against Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency," Senator Caraway said. "As far as I am concerned, I am not interested in calling the bishop for questioning."

BISHOP ASSERTS NO DISCOURTESY MEANT

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Asserting he intended no discourtesy either to the Senate or its lobby committee by walking out of the committee session Thursday morning, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in a statement tonight, questioned whether he could be adjudged in contempt for his action in view of the absence of a quorum.

Only Senators Walsh, Democrat, Montana, and Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, were present throughout the time the bishop was on the stand.

HERE'S HOW TO CHECK ASTHMA

Make Patient Furiously Mad and Presto, Relief Comes, Osteopaths Hear

SPOKANE, June 6. (AP)—Dr. W. W. W. Pritchard of Los Angeles said today that a serious case of asthma can be checked, temporarily at least, simply by making the patient furiously angry.

The nerves controlling the ligaments about the bronchial tubes also control adrenal glands, which pour adrenalin into the system during the emotion of anger, he told osteopaths of Washington, Idaho and Montana, in convention here.

ATTIC CASE SUSPECT IN MILWAUKEE

Mrs. Oesterreich Refuses to Talk About 1927 Blaze While at Mother's Rites

MILWAUKEE, June 6. (AP)—Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused with Otto Sanhuber of the slaying of her wealthy husband, Fred Oesterreich, today refused to discuss with Asst. Dist.-Atty. Skogmo the burning of the Oesterreich apron factory here in 1927.

Skogmo said he believes the fire was a case of arson. Mrs. Oesterreich, here to attend burial rites for her mother, stood on her constitutional rights and said she will answer no questions until after her murder trial, which begins in Los Angeles next week.

Mrs. Oesterreich was in a state of near collapse as her mother's body was buried. On the way to the burial the automobile carrying her passed the two residences where Mrs. Oesterreich was asserted to have hidden her reputed "attic lover." Sanhuber, she arrived here today under temporary bond of $50,000, under guard of a Los Angeles woman deputy sheriff. Skogmo attempted to question her immediately after the burial.

The party plans to leave Chicago tomorrow night for the West.

MRS. OESTERREICH PLEA RULING WITHHELD

A motion for a separate trial for Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich and Otto Sanhuber, charged with the murder of Fred Oesterreich eight years ago, was taken under advisement by Superior Judge Hardy yesterday until 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The motion was made by Jerry Giesler, her attorney.

Judge Hardy deferred his decision on the motion upon the request of defense counsel who urged him first to read the grand jury transcript of the case.

It is contended that because of the fact that Sanhuber entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity, the defendants should be given separate trials because of the widely different nature of the evidence to be used.

Cotton Agency for Stabilizing Market Formed

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Establishment of a Cotton Stabilization Corporation has been announced by the Federal Farm Board.

Formation of the corporation was recommended by the cotton advisory committee with the statement that "there is an emergency in the market requiring a stabilizing corporation."

The advisory committee met here May 16 and 17 to consider the matter, but public announcement was withheld.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—Raymond E. Luke, 20 years of age, San Francisco, drowned late yesterday while swimming, in defiance of posted warnings, in the breakers south of Fleishhacker pool. The body was recovered.

FOX ACQUIRES LONDON SHOWS

Corporation Said to Hold Theater Chain

Music Halls Thrown in With Cinema Houses

Purchasers' Former Remarks Lend Rumor Color

LONDON, June 6. (AP)—The London Press today published a statement to the effect that active control of the Gaumont-British Picture Corporation and all allied companies has passed into the hands of the Fox Films Corporation of America.

The Gaumont-British chain includes 300 motion-picture theaters as well as some music halls, including the Palsdium, one of London's best-known variety theaters, where a command vaudeville performance recently was given before the King and Queen.

Lieut.-Col. A. C. Bromhead and his brother, C. Bromhead, controlled the Gaumont-British until a year ago, when Isidore Ostrer and his brother Mark acquired a majority of shares. It was then being freely stated, the Press reports, that the Ostrer brothers were acting in behalf of William Fox.

Questioned regarding reported developments, the London office of the Fox company said it knew nothing and would neither confirm nor deny the report, while the Gaumont-British said the one man who could answer the query was away on vacation.

SENATORIAL RACE FUND QUIZ SLATED

New Jersey and Oklahoma Campaign Costs Will be Inquired Into

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Immediate inquiry into charges of excessive campaign expenditures in New Jersey and Oklahoma Senatorial primary races was ordered today by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee.

The preliminary investigation was placed in the hands of committee investigators and Chairman Nye said no action will be taken until their reports have been received. He left the city tonight and definite committee action in either State before the end of the month seems unlikely.

The charges received by the committee were not made public. In New Jersey, Senator Nye said, the complaints did not involve all three Republican Senatorial candidates but he did not specify which ones were accused of "flouting the $50,000 limitation placed on candidates by New Jersey."

Dwight W. Morrow, Joseph Frelinghuysen and Franklin Fort are battling for the Republican Senatorial nomination in New Jersey in a race involving the prohibition issue. Fort is the dry candidate. The primary will be held the 17th inst.

Venezuela Trade With West Coast Shows Big Gain

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (Exclusive)—Exports from the Pacific Coast to Venezuela have grown from $117 in value in 1913 to $1,262,391 and imports from nothing to $117,164, according to figures compiled by the district office of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. W. O. Ash, district manager, attributed much of the growth to the establishment of direct steamship service between California and the east coast of South America.

Chief exports to Venezuela are oil well machinery, canned and dried fruits, lumber and paper products, tinned sardines and salmon, canned milk and asparagus.

American Girl Wed to Reynal, Player of Polo

BUENOS AIRES, June 6. (AP)—Juan Reynal, polo player, and Miss Jeanne Hughson, an American girl, were married yesterday in the Nuestra Senora de las Victorias Church and with a civil ceremony thereafter at the residence of the Argentine sportsman's father.

Miss Hughson met the polo player in California. She arrived in Buenos Aires recently. The marriage was hastened because Reynal and his father are leaving for Europe in a few days.

The couple today left for Cordoba for their honeymoon.

President Signs Bill Extending Veterans' Time

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The time in which World War veterans may apply for compensation was extended from 1936 until 1935 under a bill signed today by President Hoover.

Under the original act, veterans were required to file for compensation by 1928, but the time was extended to benefit those who had not sought to take advantage of the act.

Parcel Blows Up in Postoffice

PARIS, June 6. (AP)—A small mail parcel addressed to the Baroness Edouard de Rothschild exploded in the Central Postoffice while employees were sorting mail today.

The explosion caused a heavy detonation, but no employee was within ten feet of the basket in which the parcel was lying and none was injured.

Prefect of Police Chiappe personally conducted an investigation. This was the third outrage of a similar nature in three months. The first two were of parcels addressed to the Countess Jacques Devienne and Count de Boisselin.

Senate Offices Get New Locks

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—New locks were installed in the Senate office building today as the result of a number of nocturnal ransackings of Senators' offices.

Senator McKellar complained recently his office had been robbed, important papers being scattered by prowlers. Then Senators Smoot and Brock protested similarly and were joined shortly by Senator Johnson, who said his "private, personal correspondence" had been ransacked.

Hammerstein's Widow Guilty

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the opera impresario, today was found guilty of immoral conduct and was remanded for sentence Monday.

Mrs. Hammerstein was arrested May 12 in her room at the Hotel Winthrop by a detective who said she accepted $30 from him.

Mrs. Hammerstein testified the charge was a "frame-up." Her attorney said she will appeal.

STATE OFFICER KILLED

BERKELEY, June 6. (AP)—Hurled against the pier ticket office when the rear tire on his motorcycle burst, Albert Smith, 38 years of age, a State traffic officer, was killed today at the Berkeley terminal of the Southern Pacific Golden Gate Ferries, Ltd.

VOTE ON TARIFF DUE NEXT WEEK

Conference-Report Roll Call Likely Friday

Passage by Majority of One or Two Expected

Debate on Measure Will Begin Tuesday

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—A final showdown on the tariff bill in the Senate is anticipated by leaders of all factions by next Friday at the latest.

Under an agreement proposed today by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, and consented to unanimously by the Senate, that branch will take a single vote on the conference reports comprising the Hawley-Smoot measure.

While at least one Republican, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, has not yet made up his mind whether to support the bill, majority chieftains are claiming victory by one or two votes after conceding several doubtful votes to the opposition. Senator Reed said he will not make a decision until he has made a further study of the conference changes. He was abroad attending the naval conference when most of the final revision took place.

Should the measure pass the Senate next Friday, Republican leaders look for final House action the following Monday or Tuesday.

SECTIONS CORRECTED

The conferees today corrected all but one of the rate sections against which Democratic points of order were made and sustained yesterday by Vice-President Curtis. They deferred until Monday a final rewriting of the watch sections to meet opposition challenges.

The most important change agreed to was the acceptance of the House rate of 7 cents a pound but not less than 35 per cent ad valorem on cheese and cheese substitutes. The previous conference agreement provided for 8 cents a pound but not less than 40 per cent.

Senator Blaine, Republican Independent, Wisconsin, said the new rate made the bill "more unpopular than ever" from his point of view.

FURTHER CHANGES

The conferees made further corrections by separating rayon filaments from yarns and providing a minimum duty of 40 cents a pound on the former, if over thirty inches in length, and 45 cents a pound on the yarns.

All reference to frozen cherries was eliminated, but the understanding is that these would come in as preserved cherries at a rate of 9½ cents a pound, plus 40 per cent.

Another section was revised to permit free entry of horses, mules and cattle from Mexico and Canada for pasturage purposes for a period of eight months. The original conference agreement fixed only a three months' period for cattle from Mexico.

Senator Smoot was elated over the quick work of the conferees and said the measure will be reported back to the Senate Monday and debate begun Tuesday. He expects the discussion to last about three days.

FRANCE WARNS OF TARIFF REPRISALS

TOURCOING (France) June 6. (AP)—The threat of tariff reprisals by Europe against the United States was conveyed to Ambassador Walter E. Edge tonight by Jules Joire, president of the Tourcoing Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking at a dinner given jointly by the Roubaix and Tourcoing chambers, M. Joire expressed the hope that an understanding between the affected countries would be reached and that "our industrial regions will not have to group all their strength as they are determined to do to defend their rights."

George Motte, president of the Roubaix chamber, warned Americans regarding a policy of "political economy in which one may see a tendency toward a hegemony, against which you have seen the resistance of those who thought themselves menaced by it." He alluded to the recent demonstration of lace workers at Calais.

Canada Liquor Men May Have Charge Dropped

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Dismissal of indictments against Canadian distillers and officers of companies returned at Buffalo a year ago has virtually been decided upon by the government.

The indictments charged a large number of officials, individuals and the companies with conspiring to violate the prohibition laws of the United States. Among those named was the Hiram Walker Company.

It developed the government has almost concluded the indictments will not be pressed in order to make a good will gesture toward Canada, showing the appreciation of this government for the recent passage of the bill prohibiting liquor export from the dominion.

Naval Supply Report Adopted

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The conference report on the annual supply bill for the naval establishment, appropriating $380,573,111, was adopted today by the House and the measure goes to the President.

The measure provides $37,000,000 for the construction of new cruisers and the modernization of the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona.

LLOYD GEORGE PLEA ASKS UNITED EMPIRE

LONDON, June 6. (AP)—David Lloyd George, Britain's war-time Premier, at the imperial press conference today sounded the call to a new empire unity. "We have attained equality through unity," he declared, sketching the situation in the days before the great war and bringing his chronology down to date, "now let us rivet that equality through unity."

LIDO ISLE IS SAFE... AND CALM

Yet the Ocean is but a step away . . . . if you prefer it

ENJOY THE WATER WITHOUT FEAR

Unnecessary . . . the breathless, nerve racking struggle with the huge breaker. Never again the heart rending moment when the crowds rush past you to the ocean's edge and you wonder if your loved one is the victim. Never again the insurmountable fear of the clutching, dragging undertow. Never again tons of water dashing you upon sharp rocks.

At LIDO ISLE there are no breakers . . . no rocks (large or small) . . . no undertow. All day long in the still, warm salt-water you can swim easily, fearlessly, joyfully.

On that fateful Memorial Day when fear froze the hearts of scores of ocean-going fishermen, and brought anxiety to the loved ones at home, mere children . . . boys and girls in tiny rowboats and snowbird sailors . . . skimmed the calm waters around Lido Isle in safety.

At Lido, mother may see her children off to swim without that often unspoken but ever-present fear.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Achmet Zek, spying Werper at the head of the charge, bore down upon the Belgian, who, terrified by contemplation of the fate he deserved, turned his horse's head and dashed madly away in an effort to escape. Shouting to a lieutenant to take command and urging him upon pain of death to dispatch the Abyssinians and bring back the gold to his camp, Achmet Zek, unable to forego the pleasures of revenge, set off across the plain in pursuit of the Belgian.

As the pursued and the pursuer raced madly toward the distant forest, the battle behind them raged with bloody savageness. No quarter was asked or given by either the ferocious Abyssinians or the murderous cutthrots of Achmet Zek. From the concealment of the shrubbery Tarzan watched the sanguinary conflict which so effectually surrounded him that he found no loophole through which he might escape to follow Werper and the Arab chief.

The Abyssinians were formed in a circle which included Tarzan's position. Around them and into them galloped the yelling raiders, now darting away, now charging in to deliver thrusts and cuts with their curved swords. Achmet Zek's men were more in number. Slowly but surely the soldiers of Menelek were being exterminated. To Tarzan the result was immaterial. He watched with but a single purpose, to escape the ring of blood-mad fighters and be away after the Belgian and his pouch.

When Tarzan first discovered Werper upon the trail he had thought his eyes must be playing him false, so certain was he that the thief had been slain by Numa. But after two days of watching he no longer doubted the identity of the man. As Tarzan crouched in hiding among the unkempt shrubbery which so short a while before had been the pride and delight of the wife he no longer recalled, an Arab and an Abyssinian wheeled their mounts close to him, slashing away with their swords.

MAN DIES AS TRAIN HITS CAR

Husband and Daughter Escape Fatally Hurt

Southern Pacific Limited in Collision Fatality

Three Villegas Family of Camarillo Victims

CAMARILLO, June 6.—Mrs. Sisto Villegas of Camarillo was killed instantly and her husband and daughter probably fatally injured when the light sedan in which they were riding was struck broadside by a northbound Southern Pacific train at 9:45 a.m. today at the Colonia Road crossing.

The family had just turned off Oxnard boulevard and was crossing the railroad tracks, when the Los Angeles Limited, Train No. 71, struck the machine and carried it a hundred feet down the track. Villegas' leg was amputated above the knee and Villegas was also injured internally. Neither is expected to live. The car was completely demolished.

Ralph Keene, attending physician, said this afternoon, that Villegas' injuries were still unknown, but that it was impossible to estimate the extent of their internal injuries. He sustained broken legs, arms and possible fractures, the doctor stated.

Special agent for the Southern Pacific, was a passenger on the train. C. Porter was the engineer, J. Woodruff, fireman, and A. Hamilton, conductor. Chief of Police Kerrick, Officer F. Hall and Deputy Sheriff Hall investigated the accident.

The Colonia Road crossing has been the scene of several similar accidents in recent years.

DR. MILLIKAN GOES TALKIE AT CALTECH

Expecting to Hear Him in Address on 'Cosmic Ray,' Group Finds it 'Canned'

PASADENA, June 6.—Even lectures on cosmic rays come "in cans" these days, it was discovered tonight by 400 persons who thronged Culbertson Hall, California Institute of Technology, to see and hear Dr. Robert A. Millikan discuss his recent experiments.

Upon entering the hall the audience discovered that a talking-picture apparatus had been installed and their suspicions that the famous physicist had "gone talkie" were verified when, after the grinding out of a musical overture, Dr. Millikan's likeness flashed on the screen and a voice, unmistakably his, began a serious discourse on cosmic rays.

Dr. Millikan could not be reached for a statement and his talking likeness wouldn't tell, but it was learned from other sources that a lecture which he gave a few weeks ago at Johns Hopkins University aroused such interest that the university authorities succeeded in persuading him to give the talk wider distribution by "canning" it.

In the six-reel talking film, "Cosmic Rays," Dr. Millikan announced that recent experiments have confirmed his theory that cosmic rays are the signals of the creation of common elements out of positive and negative electrons.

The picture was filmed by Phototone, with the co-operation of the General Electric Company.

Antiaircraft Devices to Be Shown Monday

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 6.—Advanced antiaircraft devices will be demonstrated Monday night in an aerial exhibition at City Park here, it was announced by Arthur Billey, commander of Robert T. McColley Post, No. 87, American Legion, and Lawrence Klinker, district commander. The spectacle has been arranged jointly by the Legion and the local Chamber of Commerce as a national defense demonstration. Officers and soldiers from Fort MacArthur will participate.

Three searchlights, which throw a reading light twenty-five miles, will be demonstrated, as will also sound detectors which pick up plane sounds as soon as they are in range of antiaircraft guns, and guns and lights which automatically pick up and follow planes. The Richfield Oil Company is furnishing its night-flying plane, piloted by Bill Devine, for this demonstration.

Crombie Allen Watch Awarded Chino Student

CHINO, June 6.—Announcement was made today that Nathan Kleinberg, youthful citizen at the California Junior Republic, has been awarded the Crombie Allen Trophy for making the most outstanding record as a good citizen at the school and for his unselfish service to his fellow-comrades. The trophy is a beautiful watch.

It was awarded to Kleinberg by Leonard Collins, superintendent of Chino schools, during the weekly gathering of Chino Rotary Club.

Kleinberg is skilled on the violin. Charles E. Wright, superintendent of the Junior Republic, introduced the youth to the club men.

Four other boys received consideration for the trophy. They are Roy Eulberg, Otto, Kropf, Jr., Allen Pinkston and William Ralston.

Burbank Adopts School Budget

BURBANK, June 6.—According to the budget for the coming year, it is going to cost the Burbank district $601,900 to operate its public schools. This will be an increase of $29,900 over the cost of the schools the past year, it was shown when the budget was adopted by the local School Board.

This extra cost will be caused, it is stated, because of the operation of the new junior high school. The budget, as itemized is as follows: Kindergarten, $27,000, or a decrease of $4000; elementary, $281,900, an increase of $4900; high school, $293,000, an increase of $29,900. On the basis of last year's valuations in the district the new budget will cause an increase of 7 cents on the $100 valuation. This will make the tax rate for schools about $2.05.

It was brought out at the board meeting that the school tax rate at Pasadena is $2.03; Alhambra, $2.17; Compton, $2.14; Monrovia, $2.28; Glendale, $2.15; Long Beach, $1.83, and Santa Monica, $1.85.

COSTLY BLAZE IN SANTA PAULA

Dry Goods Store, Also Hat Shop, Fire-swept

Loss Estimated at $43,500 to Building, Fixtures

Books Saved from Flames by Robert Cooney

SANTA PAULA, June 6. —Fire of undetermined origin sweeping through the Cooney Dry Goods and Carlson Hat Shop stores in the Hedrick Building on Main street last night caused damage totaling $43,500 to building, fixtures, and merchandise.

Loss on the building was placed at $8000, to the stock and fixtures in the Cooney Store $30,000, and to the Carlson Hat Shop, owned by Mrs. A. G. Pearson $5500. Stock and fixtures in the two stores were partially covered by insurance, while the building was fully covered.

Investigations were being made today by Chief of Police Thornton Edwards and Fire Chief Warren King as to the possible cause of the blaze. Several theories have been advanced.

Robert Cooney, brother of W. E. Cooney, proprietor of the dry goods store, was the hero of the fire when he dashed in the burning building with a wet handkerchief over his face and rescued some valuable record books which had been overlooked and left on a table instead of having been placed in the vault for the night.

Dense smoke proved a handicap to firemen who battled the blaze for more than an hour before it was under control.

Fifth District's P.-T.A. in Picnic at Redlands

REDLANDS, June 6. — The annual picnic for the Fifth District of the Congress of Parents and Teachers was held in Sylvan Park here today, with nearly seventy attending from the councils of San Bernardino, Ontario, Colton and Redlands.

During the afternoon session new officers were installed, Mrs. A. W. Burt of Upland turning over the gavel to Mrs. P. J. Filano of Colton. Several new officers were unable to be present for the ceremony, among them Mrs. Claude Tenney, first vice-president.

In appreciation for her work in behalf of the P.-T.A., Mrs. Burt was presented with a life membership, Mrs. George F. Tilton of San Bernardino, making the presentation speech. The money raised by purchase of these life memberships goes into the student-loan fund, and this year a girl from San Bernardino is being recommended for the loan.

The morning session was given over to reports on the State convention at Riverside, Mrs. Filano being in charge.

Mrs. Neal Bowen and Mrs. Johnson spoke on the leadership courses, Mrs. Harry Lelley on the value of co-operation, Mrs. Emmons on the gold star breakfast. There was also a memorial service for Dr. C. C. Noble, husband of the State chairman of Founders' Day, conducted by Mrs. Tilton. A resolution of sympathy is to be sent to Mrs. Noble.

Round tables were conducted by Mrs. Grace Stanley, Mrs. Harriet Fleming and Mrs. O. M. Robertson after luncheon, which was served by a committee from the local council.

Among the guests were Mrs. Arthur B. White of Riverside, president of the Twenty-third District, and Mrs. O. M. Robertson of Arlington, a State vice-president.

Nineteen Given Citizenship in Ventura Court

VENTURA, June 6.—Nineteen foreign-born persons in the county were granted naturalization papers today in the Superior Court by Judge Edward Henderson.

Each applicant for citizenship was accompanied by two witnesses. The petitioners were sworn in as a body by Judge Henderson this afternoon.

Commander H. H. Wright of the county post of the American Legion presented the new citizens with silk American flags after they were sworn in.

B. W. Henderson, naturalization examiner from Los Angeles, conducted the hearings.

Four Injured in Two Car Wrecks

INGLEWOOD, June 6.—Two bad automobile crashes here yesterday resulted in painful and severe injuries to four persons. A collision of the car driven by George Wilkening, 1061 Fairview Boulevard, and that driven by B. H. Miller of 16010 Hawthorne Boulevard, at the entrance to the driveway of Miller's home, resulted in a wrenched shoulder and severe cuts about the head of Wilkening and a bad gash on the left leg and other cuts and bruises for Miss Ina Bloor, Wilkening's companion.

A second collision occurred when the car driven by Mrs. B. Curtis, 710 East Eighty-fourth street, Los Angeles, and that driven by P. T. Ward, 10907 Fir street, came together at the corner of Hawthorne Boulevard and Rosecrans avenue.

In this accident Mrs. Curtis and her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Cornett, both received injuries of a serious nature, Mrs. Cornett sustaining a broken hip.

All four of the injured persons were taken to the Hawthorne Hospital, where they were pronounced out of danger.

JUNIOR COLLEGE BALLOTS AGAIN

First Voting for Officers of Student Body Void

Fullerton District School Politics in Mix-up

Dean Boyce in Denial of Ballot-Stuffing Rumor

FULLERTON, June 6.—One student-body election having failed to satisfy all concerned, Fullerton District Junior College students were today balloting again, the first voting on officers for next year conducted earlier in the week, having been declared void. In the first election Tuesday, Arvil Morris of Anaheim defeated Walter Taylor, also of that city, and William Peterson of Placentia in the race for president.

The first election showed 120 for Morris; ninety-three for Peterson and sixty for Taylor. For a night and half a day, until noon on Wednesday, the ballots and ballot box lay unprotected in a classroom, following which a group of supporters of one of the defeated candidates proceeded with an unofficial recount.

INSINUATIONS MADE

Then the first discrepancy appeared. Peterson had 118; Morris but sixty, and Taylor, ninety-five, the same grand total, but in different proportion. A protest followed and dissension arose. The original tellers faced insinuations and innuendoes. The recount faction was also under suspicion. Dean W. T. Boyce came to the rescue, so intense was the feeling, and a second election was called for today. The entire student body again went to the polls, but this time the ballot box was placed under adequate student inspection. Ballots were stamped officially as voted and every precaution taken to assure an accurate vote.

Commenting upon the situation, Dean Boyce declared, "There was no evidence of tampering with ballots, either by changing the voting marks or stuffing of the ballot box, but the fact that the ballot box and its contents was not held in security following the election until the second count was taken, made it impossible to accept it as official. The same number of ballots were recorded in each case, although the results were different."

RUMORS SAID GROUNDLESS

"No suspicion is lodged against any individual," Boyce declared following investigation. "The discrepancy might easily be one of tallying. To avoid possibility of charges being lodged against one group of students by another, the second balloting was ordered and will be accepted as official."

Boyce also branded as groundless rumors that community interests of student candidates entered into the feeling, declaring that many supporters of those seeking office were from the same towns as others also on the ballot, but were not influenced by this circumstance.

Realty-Value Rise Surpasses Wildest Dream

SANTA BARBARA, June 6.—The widest dreams and predictions of real estate dealers for increase in land values were answered in Montecito.

C. F. Bloomhart, local real estate broker, offered E. B. Starbuck of the County National Bank $500 for a small flume, 16x200 feet, in the vicinity of the Miramar Hotel. The bank official took the offer under advisement.

At noon he reported the property, which included some fifteen feet of beach frontage, was worth $2000, according to Bloomhart. Two hours later the price had been raised to $4000, the real estate broker said. The bank still owns the flume.

DRAMA CLASS TIRES OF LOW-BROW PLAYS

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, June 6. The senior drama class of the North Hollywood High School on the 12th inst. will put on Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," students here today saying they were tired of "performing low-brow plays," and that they had long wanted to try their hand at something first class. Miss Margaret Fritz is cast to play Portia, Robert Hosler will be Shylock, Edward Like, Bassiano; Stanlay Gotter, Antonio; Noah Beery, Jr., Gratiano; Joan Ingram, Nerissa, and Stephenie Graville, Jessica. Young Beery is a son of the film comedian.

MEMORIAL PLANNED

BURBANK, June 6. — At the annual meeting held in the lodge here, Robert Knowles was chosen new Noble Grand of the Burbank Odd Fellows. Harry Blaver was elected Vice-Grand and C. O. Fitts, Trustee. A memorial service in honor of dead members will be conducted here on the 15th inst., at a church later to be chosen by the lodge officers.

TREE TRIMMER CLIPS WEDDING

Modern Bob Given Huge Branches Overspreading Home of Ontario Bride-elect, Upsets Plans for Nuptials Beneath Them; Mother Weeps

ONTARIO, June 6.—When the city's official tree trimmer got through giving a modern bob to a huge tree in South Palmetto avenue, he did not realize that he had completely upset the wedding plans long entertained by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Robinson for their daughter Virginia.

The tree in question stands directly in front of the Robinson home on the parkway. It had wide-spreading branches and thick foliage, just the kind of a tree for romance. Under its spreading boughs the wedding was to occur next month.

Today, when Mrs. Robinson returned to her home and discovered the work of the tree trimmer, she shed bitter tears of disappointment.

The tree is just another ordinary tree now, and even the birds are seeking nests elsewhere.

The Robinson wedding plans are now undergoing complete revision.

IMPROVEMENT BODY MEETS

Long Beach Boulevard Association in Huntington Park Meeting Moves to Abolish "Bottle-neck"

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 6.—With more than fifty members present, the Long Beach Boulevard Improvement Association held its monthly session in this city last night at Cole's Cafeteria, President Hal Urdahl of Long Beach announcing at the opening of the meeting that this was "Alman Night," in honor of F. E. Alman of this city, who has long been a member of the organization. A short address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Otto R. Benedict of this city and was responded to by Frank Walton of Compton, who said that he greatly favored the elimination of the bottle-neck in a small section of the boulevard in Lynwood, and also the elimination of the bottle-neck in Walnut Park.

Everett Mausur of the engineering department of the City Planning Commission of Los Angeles, gave a short talk on "Maintenance of Boulevard" and stated that, with the proposed improvements of Long Beach Boulevard between Los Angeles and Long Beach, it had great possibilities of becoming as widely known as Wilshire Boulevard in Los Angeles. Walton remarked at this time that the boulevard should be widened as far as the new auditorium in Long Beach.

It was stated that the newly elected Councilmen in Long Beach were favorable to lending their support to the boulevard improvement.

Nolan Reed, city attorney of Long Beach; George Tramall, assistant City Attorney, and Harlan Boyer, connected with the City Attorney's office, gave reports on the court proceedings as to the lowering of the Pacific Electric Railway Company's tracks on American avenue, in Long Beach, stating that indications are that the tracks will be lowered in not the far-distant future.

Other short talks were made by President A. J. Hartfield of the Huntington Park Chamber of Commerce, and Robert J. Shanahan, executive vice-president of the local chamber, the latter stating that he favored the name Long Beach Boulevard, from Huntington Park to Long Beach. The boulevard in Long Beach is known as American avenue, in Huntington Park as Pacific Boulevard, and between the two cities as Long Beach Boulevard.

Louis H. Hamilton, president of the City National Bank of Huntington Park, gave a short talk showing the great possibilities of this boulevard, when the bottle-neck in Walnut Park is eliminated. He favored the name of American avenue from one end to the other, of this thoroughfare.

The meeting next month will be held in Masonic Temple in North Long Beach.

HUGE SUM IN DAMAGES SUED FOR

Suit for $1,500,000 Filed by William C. Davidson Against San Franciscans

EL CENTRO, June 6.—Naming more than forty prominent San Francisco officials and bankers as defendants, Attorney Ben Bitler on behalf of William Caine Davidson, filed in the Superior Court here today a suit for $1,500,000 in damages.

Davidson asserts in the complaint that he was the victim of a conspiracy which caused him to spend nearly two years in San Quentin on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Among those named in the accusation are Mathew Brady, Dist.-Atty. Harry W. Gaetjens, foreman and all members of the 1926 grand jury, Judge Michael J. Roche of the Superior Court, Police Chief Daniel O'Brien, all of San Francisco; members of the California State Parole Board, W. E. Wilcox, president of the California Bankers' Association; Edward T. Dalton of the Pacific Southwest Bank in Los Angeles and a score of others of less prominence.

In his complaint Davidson sets forth that in 1926 he was indicted by the San Francisco grand jury on charges of forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses. Before the case came to trial, he asserts, he was told by his attorney, Lasher B. Gallagher of San Francisco, that if he would plead guilty to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses he would be granted probation and the forgery accusation dropped. Following his plea he was sentenced to San Quentin, where he remained until August 12, 1929, when he was paroled. His arrest and conviction, he asserts, were to prevent him from testifying at Alexandria, Va., regarding violations of the prohibition laws.

He asks $1,000,000 in general damages and $500,000 in exemplary damages, plus costs of the action.

Religious Body to Incorporate

VENTURA, June 6.—Articles of incorporation for the Happy Valley Foundation, Ltd., were filed today with County Clerk L. E. Hallowell, the purpose of the organization being, according to the papers, to "establish institutes, schools and seminaries for the teaching of religion, philosophy, occultism, art, science and universal brotherhood."

Directors of the organization named were George H. Hall, Grace S. Hall and Hazel Crowe of Ojai, and J. H. Talbot, Louis Zalk, S. W. Williams and John D. Carey, all of Los Angeles.

PRESBYTERIANS IN ONTARIO GATHERING

ONTARIO, June 6. — Members of the Riverside Presbyterian Society made up of Presbyterian churches in Riverside and San Bernardiio counties, gathered at Westminster Presbyterian Church here this morning for an all-day session. Rev. E. G. Egly, pastor of Riverside Calvary Presbyterian Church, led the morning devotional service. Several reports were heard during the day. In the afternoon, Mrs. David Thomas of Los Angeles, spoke on "Alaska," and women of Westminster Church presented a skit.

Grand Jury to Sift Death of Traffic Victim

RIVERSIDE, June 6. — Reports at the Courthouse today said the county grand jury will open an investigation into the death of W. W. Atherton, 35 years of age, of Fullerton, who was killed Wednesday night when run down on the highway near the Gilman Relief Hot Springs by a car occupied by young persons from San Jacinto.

The inquiry by the inquisitorial body was reported caused by the action of a Coroner's jury at San Jacinto yesterday in refusing to fix blame for the crash.

Vere Raley, 18-year-old San Jacinto High School senior who was graduated with his class last night, and the two girls and second youth who were passengers in the car that struck Atherton, were among the witnesses as also was Atherton's wife. She was walking arm and arm with him along the road when the tragedy, snuffing out the life of Atherton instantly, occurred.

Raley and the others in his car testified they were traveling thirty miles an hour when the car hit Atherton.

The widow, still dazed from the suddenness of the tragedy, told the jury Atherton was hurled twelve or fourteen feet into the air by the impact. She said she thought his body "Would never come down." Atherton died of concussion of the brain, the jury decided.

GRASS FIRES KEEP FIREMEN ON JUMP

VAN NUYS, June 6.—Despite warnings, threats and instructive measures, there is no abatement in the grass fires now occurring in the Van Nuys district. Local firemen have been on the run answering grass fire calls since early yesterday morning. Most of the fires are caused along the side of highways, where passing motorists carelessly throw out lighted matches or lighted cigarette and cigar butts. Highway patrolmen today are keeping a sharp lookout for such offenders. They will be haled into court when apprehended.

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 6.—Mrs. F. W. Munson has been installed as president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the State-street school for the new school year which begins next September. Mrs. A. W. Fatherly is the new vice-president, and the other officers are Mrs. Coreless, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Allen, secretary; Mrs. R. C. McHenry, auditor, and Mrs. Elmer Rath, historian.

SAN DIEGO ELKS OPEN NEW HOME

Week of Dedicatory Events Begins There Tonight

Half-Million-Dollar Edifice Has $40,000 Organ

Southland's Antlered Herd Flocks to Ceremonies

SAN DIEGO, June 6.—Southern California Elkdom is headed for San Diego, according to telegrams and letters received today by Albert F. Flowers, Past Exalted Ruler of San Diego Lodge of Elks and chairman of the executive committee in charge of the dedication of the new $500,000 Elks' home, which begins with a program tomorrow night.

In addition to the large local membership, the committee is arranging to entertain 150 officers of other lodges in Southern California, including Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Bernardino, Santa Ana, Riverside, Santa Barbara, Long Beach and Santa Monica.

The dedicatory exercises beginning tomorrow night will continue one week, with features each night during the ensuing week, it is announced by the executive committee.

In addition to the new building to be dedicated, there will be dedication of a new $40,000 organ donated by the life members of San Diego Lodge.

The opening exercises tomorrow night will be for Elks only and members must present their card for admittance, the chairman of the committee states.

The dedication is to consist of a musical program with an address by Michael F. Shannon of Los Angeles, who was named as special representative of the Grand Exalted Ruler.

The officers serving during the dedication will be past exalted rulers of San Diego Lodge, representing the Grand Lodge.

Youth Explains Disappearance of Fruit Truck

UPLAND, June 6. — The deep mystery that has bothered officials of the Stewart Citrus Association for many weeks over the disappearance of the company truck from the company's garage at frequent intervals, was believed solved today. Dale Brown, 13 years of age, was taken into custody by police last night, as he was driving the truck on Euclid avenue.

The truck has often been taken from the garage at night and found in fields within a 100-mile radius of Upland.

The boy is said to have confessed having broken into Upland grammar school four times, each entry having puzzled school officials.

Brown was taken to the Juvenile Court for questioning.

Ojai Organizes Players' Group

OJAI, June 6.—Ojai will have a community players' organization. More than thirty persons have banded together under the leadership of Mrs. Helen Parker of the Nordhoff High School, with Mrs. Hal Gorham as director-general.

This group will be the nucleus of a larger dramatic body which will be formed in the fall.

As a start, the players will present five or more one-act plays at the Nordhoff High School auditorium on the tentative date of July 11.

LUNCHEON GIVEN BY FIRESTONE COMPANY

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 6.—The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, located at the west edge of South Gate, entertained at luncheon yesterday 150 manufacturers, professional and business men of the southeast district, the meeting being the regular weekly session of the Manufacturers' Bureau. R. J. Cope, vice-president and general manager of the company, gave a short address, during which he stated that the number of employees at the plant now is 2800, and that the annual pay roll is nearly $5,000,000. Other speakers were Phil Kennedy of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles; Mayor Otto R. Benedict, Councilman U. S. Grant Hinton and Robert J. Shanahan, executive vice-president of the Huntington Park Chamber of Commerce.

DESERT ROAD TO BE BUILT SOON

Outlay of $1,500,000 Will be Made by State

Twenty-nine Miles Between Amboy, Essex Planned

Another Thirty Miles on to Kleinfelter Included

SAN BERNARDINO, June 6.—Twenty-nine miles of road on the National Old Trails Highway extending from a point six miles east of Amboy to one and one-half miles east of Essex, will be constructed this summer by the State Highway Department and bids will be opened on the project July 2, next, at Sacramento, according to information received today by E. Q. Sullivan, district State highway engineer here.

The road, which forms an important link in the Old Trails Highway from this city to Barstow and Needles, will be the biggest job in point of length and cost ever undertaken in this district, Sullivan said. The road will be twenty feet wide with eight-foot shoulders, and will be constructed of crushed gravel and oil. Word was also received from Sacramento that the State Highway Department will likewise oil and gravel the link of highway extending from a point one and a half miles east of Essex to Kleinfelter, a distance of thirty miles. The two sections represent an outlay of approximately $1,500,000.

Plans and specifications for the new road were prepared by engineers under the direction of Sullivan last fall and winter, following exhaustive survey work during the summer months.

Six students of the engineering class of the San Bernardino Junior College were added to the crew and spent the entire vacation period working under the hot summer sun.

The plans call for 385,000 cubic yards of excavation work for storm channels and ditches for protection against floods. Forty-four bridges will be built along the route, which will add further protection against the water as well as eliminate dips and curves, and 879,000 board feet of redwood lumber will be transported by the contractors for the bridges.

Approximately 376,800 cubic yards of excavation will be necessary for constructing the roadway, while the plans call for the drilling of a well 830 feet deep near Essex for water required on the project, which will eliminate the shipping in of water. In addition, 31,000 tons of oil and gravel pavement will be required to surface the road.

Evening Mail Dispatch for Inglewood Now

INGLEWOOD, June 6. — Evening outgoing mail will be available to local residents beginning today, according to announcement by Postmaster Fred E. Laxdal. Fourteen hours are thus saved on dispatching mail from the local office, as heretofore 6 p.m. had been the closing time and the next mail out went at 8 a.m. the day following.

Four outgoing mails are provided under the new schedule, at 9 a.m., 2 p.m., 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. Incoming mails arrive at 8:50 a.m. and 2:15 p.m.

FILIPINO UNIT FORMS AT SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, June 6.—Newest Southern California branch of the Filipino Federation of America, has just been established in this city by Dr. Hilario C. Moncado, the president. The local unit, the twenty-second branch to be formed, is in charge of Luis Evangelista, as manager, and Restituto Supaegen, as secretary-treasurer. In addition to branches all up and down the Coast, the federation has units in Chicago, Washington, New Orleans and two each in Hawaii and the Philippines.

HEALTH SCHOOL PLANNED

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 6.—Children to the number of thirty, who are physically retarded will be given an opportunity to regain their health. A health school is to be opened here early in July for this number of children who are underweight, and suffer other physical deficiencies. The school will be under the supervision of the County Health Department. The Kiwanis Club of this city last year made a donation for maintenance of the school, and this year will donate $175 for the same purpose. It will continue for a period of eight weeks.

PASADENA DOG SHOW OPENS

More Than Thousand Entries, Including Reh Pinscher, Said to be Valued at $20,000, Under Canvas

PASADENA, June 6.—The Pasadena Dog Show opened today in a tent at the corner of Hudson and Colorado streets to the largest crowd of patrons that ever attended an opening day of any of the eighteen previous dog shows held in the Crown City. When the doors were opened at 10 a.m. there was a long line in front waiting to see the more than 1000 entries of the highest type of aristocratic canines in California.

Frank Foster Davis, secretary of the Pasadena Kennel Club, under whose auspices the show is being held, announced that the present dog show is the most successful of any that has ever been given here. There are more than fifty breeds on exhibition of blue-blooded prize-winning dogs worth almost their weight in gold.

One of the most valuable dogs on exhibition is Susie Von Leichenstein, a Reh Pinscher, said to be valued at $20,000. It is said to be the only dog of its kind in the country.

The principal feature of the show tomorrow will be the entertainment of the 300 orphans from the Los Angeles orphanage who are being entertained at the dog show by the Red Top Taxicab Company and the Pasadena Kennel Club. The Red Top Taxicab Company is furnishing transportation for the 300 youngsters to Pasadena.

The awards for the various prize-winners will be made tomorrow afternoon and evening. The grand prize will be the last award to be made. The prizes will include ribbons, silver trophies and merits. The show will come to a close at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, according to Secretary Davis.

INDU DUO DOING TIME

Singh and Sucha Singh Charged by Nadhan Singh With "Taking Him for Ride"

[illegible], June 6.—Mangal Singh and Sucha Singh, Claremont men in the City Jail today following their arrest this afternoon by A. B. Chambers, on complaint of Nadhan Singh of Upland that the pair attempted to "take him for a ride" Wednesday evening, motive in the affair seems to indicate jealousy on the part of a woman in whom all three were interested. In the possession of the men [illegible] found a small revolver, fully loaded, some cartridges and [illegible].

Upon reaching the outskirts of Los Angeles, Nadhan asserts, the pair ordered him from the car and, when he became alarmed at their threatening attitude and ran, that Sucha fired the revolver at him. None of the shots took effect, however.

Mangal and Sucha are being held in the local jail pending arraignment before Judge U. E. White in the local Justice Court.

BUTTER AND EGGS IN SLUMP

Decided Drop Noted, But Not in Market, When Truck Full of Hen Fruit and Dairy Product Hurtles Down Hill, Hits Bridge, Spills Contents

SANTA BARBARA, June 6.—Butter and eggs took a decided drop this morning, but not on the market.

Five tons of butter and eggs on a truck came down a grade near Zaca, crashed into a bridge, and spattered eggs all over the highway and down the creek bed, according to Capt. Lester M. Desgrandchamp of the State highway police, who investigated the accident.

E. Nido, the driver of the butter and egg truck, owned by J. J. Jones of San Luis Obispo, apparently went to sleep while driving the truck. He told the captain that he recalls coming up on top of the grade but remembers nothing afterward until he was picking himself up off the pavement.

The truck was demolished. Nido was uninjured.

ELVE ATHLETES PLACED BY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Warriors Brave Rain to Take manding Lead in National Collegiates at Chicago

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CAGO, June 6. (AP)—A glittering band of athletes from the of Southern California braved the danger of pneumonia make their bid for national track-and-field supremacy, with 425 of the greatest stars in America.

, already victorious in ◆ starting blocks which caused the International Amateur Athletic Federation to throw out his world record-breaking performance of 9 2-5s. for the 100-yard dash, George Simpson of Ohio State, with Frank Wykoff of Southern California, turned in the fastest time for the century trials this afternoon.

The Buckeye bullet and Wykoff each broke the tape winning their heats in 9 3-5s. The finals in the century tomorrow will bring together the greatest field of sprinters in the nation, and Simpson is confident he will be the youngster to win it. Arrayed against him will be Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan's Negro star, and holder of the world record, the two Texas streaks—Claude Bracey of Rice Institute and Cy Leland of Texas Christian University; Hubert Meier of Iowa State, who is credited with having run the century in 9. 2-5s.; Al Toppino of Loyola, New Orleans, and George Hutson of Denison.

Simpson, running with the speed of a frightened deer, also turned in the fastest time in the 220-yard dash, winning his heat in 21 2-5s. Tolan, Bracey and Leland also qualified, together with Farmer of North Carolina, Reed and East of Chicago, and Wells of Iowa State.

Lee Sentman, University of Illinois hurdling wizard, led the qualifiers in the 120-yard high hurdles and 220-yard low events, and also edged into the broad jump. Sentman skimmed the highs in 14 3-5s., for the fastest time of the day, and repeated with a 23 4-5s. performance in the low hurdles. Steve Anderson of Washington, furnished Sentman with his stiffest competition, running the lows in 23.9s. and the highs in 14 4-5s.

Southland Amateur Play in Semifinals Today

Armstrong, Sangster and Coleman Survive

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

One of the "old guard," E. S. (Scotty) Armstrong of Midwick, and three long-driving youngsters, Danny Sangster of Potrero, Fay Coleman of California, and Russell (Buddie) Thompson of Oakmont, survived two gruelling matches yesterday to enter the thirty-six-hole semifinals of the 1930 Southern California amateur championship at the Midwick Country Club.

Two great matches loom today when Sangster faces Thompson and Coleman meets Armstrong.

Surprises trod on each other's heels in rapid succession yesterday as the field battled down the stretch under a sweltering sun. The day's important happenings, chronologically arranged as to importance, follow:

(1.) Gibson Dunlap of Rancho, defending champion, had a 2-up lead going to the twelfth hole in the quarter-finals, only to have Bud Thompson bag three consecutive birdies and a par to win as many holes and the match, 2 and 1.

JELLIFFE DEFEATED

HOLLYWOOD STARS TWICE VANQUISH ANGEL SQUAD

Hollerson's Homer Wins First Tilt in Ninth, 6-3; Sheiks Nab Wild Nightcap in Eleventh, 11-10

BY BOB RAY

Just when Jack Lelivelt's athletes were all set to step up into a tie for first place with Sacramento, Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars woke up yesterday at Wrigley Field and bowled over the Angels twice, 6 to 3 and 11 to 10, going eleven innings to nab the nightcap decision.

Some 6000 fans saw George Hollerson ride the Hollywood jinx out of the park on a home run with two men on in the ninth inning, breaking the Stars' losing streak at eight straight. Art Delaney was giving Hollerson quite a mound battle until Hollerson connected with his circuit clout.

The second game was a wild and wooly affair that saw the Angels twice overcome three-run leads in the sixth and seventh innings to force the game into overtime. Augie Johns, Hollywood's fourth pitcher, and Bill Peters, third Angel hurler, finally turned the game back into a tightly pitched affair after the seventh until the eleventh, when Hank Seycreid's infield hit with the bases loaded drove in Green with the winning run.

Carl Dittmar, flashy Angel shortstop who is being looked over by Scout Jack Hendricks of the Chicago Cubs, outdid himself by batting out two home runs, two doubles and two singles in nine times at bat. Both of Ditty's homers came in the second game, in which he batted home six runs. Dittmar's second homer came in the sixth with one on to wipe out a three-run Hollywood lead, while in the seventh it was his single that drove across the tying run to force extra innings.

Jesse Hill, ex-Trojan athlete, started the Stars' winning rally in the ninth inning of the opener when he batted for Marlow and singled. Hill played left field in the nightcap and threw Barfoot out at the plate on his only fielding chance. Hill also drove in a run with a single in the second game and is becoming a big favorite with the fans.

STARS SCORE FIRST

The Stars got off in front in the opener by shoving across a run in the second inning. The round started with Green batting out a hit to Haney. Carlyle went out but Rumler walked. Marlow forced Rumler and then Delaney passed Severeid to clog the cushions. Hollerson smashed a hot one that Delaney knocked down but could not hold and it went for an infield hit, Green scoring.

In the fifth inning Gazella's single and Brannon's double to center put the Hollywooders out in front, 2 to 0.

The Angels picked up their first run off Hollerson in the fifth, Haney doubling to center and completing the circuit on successive sacrifice flies by Statz and Hannah.

Los Angeles tied it up in the seventh when Jacobs walked, was bunted to second by Haney and driven home when Harper, batting for Statz, dropped a double along the left-field line just out of Marlow's reach. Hannah then walked and Delaney beat out a bunt to fill the bases, but Sigafoos lined into a double play, Lee to Green.

BOTH SIDES SCORE

Both sides scored in the eighth, Brannon's double to left and Green's single through the box producing the Hollywood counter. The Angel score resulted when Dittmar doubled off the left-field wall, took third when Marlow kicked the ball around and scored after Carlyle caught Schulmerich's short sacrifice fly to center. Marlow then dropped Jacobs' drive for another error, but Gazella tossed out Haney to end the round.

Vitt sent Hill in to bat for Marlow to start the Hollywood ninth and the former Trojan responded

JOCHIM SHINES IN GYM MEET

Jersey Athlete Retains His Free-Exercise Title

Vendenbaele Takes Crown in National Tumbling

Record Meet Crowd Attends Affair at Olympic

Alfred Jochim of the Swiss Turnverein, Union, N. J., successfully defended his championship in the free exercise event, the first completed at the national Amateur Athletic Union gymnastic meet here last night. Herman Witzig, Jr., and Frank Haubold, also of the Swiss Turnverein, placed second and third in the event.

In the club-swinging championship competition Robert Job, also of the Swiss Turnverein, defended his championship, and Max Aron of the Los Angeles Turnverein and Phil Erenberg of the Los Angeles Athletic Club placed second and third, respectively.

Jochim came back to win the horizontal bars competition against Witzig, defending champion, who placed third. Glenn Berry, L.A.A.C., took second place.

In the tumbling Leo Vandenbaele of the L.A.A.C. won the championship, with William Herrman, Jr., of Philadelphia, defending champion, second, and Gary Searl, L.A.A.C., third. Byrd E. White, 11-year-old boy of the Dallas (Tex.) Athletic Club, was sixth.

Haubold successfully defended his championship in the side-horse event, with Jochim, who for five years has been national all-around champion and was high scorer on the American Olympic team in 1928, second, and Berry third.

The attendance was reported to constitute the largest crowd ever to witness a gymnastic meet in this country. Mercury officials, who were in charge of the event, estimated that 4000 persons were on hand at the start of the meet.

The meet started promptly at 8 o'clock last night and continued long into the night. Following are the results of events completed at the

VON ELM IN EASY WIN IN FRENCH GOLF FINAL

LA BOULIE (France) June 6. (AP) George Von Elm of Detroit, former amateur golf champion of the United States and holder of many titles during his brilliant career, today added the French amateur crown to his collection.

Von Elm defeated R. G. Morrison of England, 9 up and 8 to play, in the thirty-six hole final.

The American played great golf throughout, covering the eighteen holes of the morning round in seventy strokes, and establishing a five-hole lead over his English rival.

After luncheon, Von Elm went out in thirty-four strokes and increased his lead to 10 up, becoming dormie on the twenty-sixth. The Detroiter was 10 up at the twenty-sixth but slipped at the twenty-seventh, where Morrison won his only hole of the afternoon round. A half in three at the twenty-eighth decided the match and the championship.

Von Elm succeeds another American as French amateur champion, Jack Westland of Chicago, who did not defend his title.

Walker-Shade Fight for Middleweight Championship at Wrigley Field Almost Seal

TITLE CONTEST SET FOR JULY

Champ's Manager Fences for Fat Guarantee

And Promoter Doyle Moves Warily in Turn

Kearns Names Deadline for Offer to Walker

BY PAUL LOWRY

The Mickey Walker-Dave Shade fight for the middleweight championship is just around the corner. The only bar to its making is a matter of terms.

And it is over this hurdle that two of the parties deeply interested in the staging of the battle are trying to best each other to the tape.

Promoter Jack Doyle itches to stage the bout at Wrigley Field the latter part of July.

But he wants to know Jack Kearn's idea of Walker's worth before he makes any offers.

Manager Kearns has the same yen for a Walker - Shade fight as Doyle—at Wrigley Field in July.

But he wants Doyle to come across with an offer before he submits counter-demands.

TIT FOR TAT

This is the situation that has existed since Tuesday, when Kearns arrived from New York for a conference following Shade's decisive defeat of Ace Hudkins.

The conferences have been second-handed — and unsatisfactory. Kearns has been in bed with a bad cold, and couldn't get around.

But he pulled out of the sick cot yesterday, and announced a departure for New York tomorrow morning unless something definite comies from Doyle.

"I'll book Walker East if I don't get some definite offer before I leave," said Kearns. "The Shade fight would sell in New York, Chicago or Detroit.

"But there's nothing big coming up in California, and I'd just as soon have Walker fight here as any place else.

"Walker proved he could draw money here when he and Hudkins put $150,000 in Wrigley Field last October—more money than other fighters ever did. Mickey also showed how good a fighter he is, too."

HUNDRED GRAND

Before the Walker-Hudkins fight was sealed last fall Kearns demanded $100,000 for Walker's end to defend the title.

He didn't get it, but his fighter wound up with about $75,000 for his end when they cut the gate receipts melon.

If he makes as much for the Shade battle there is a general suspicion both the Messrs. Kearns and Walker will be well satisfied.

Shade is not the drawing card Hudkins was, but Walker proved he was a real fighting champion when he defeated the Wildcat, and undoubtedly has more of a following than he did previous to that occasion.

Londos Bests Shikat on Mat

PHILADELPHIA, June 6. (AP)—Jim Londos, Greek grappler, defeated Dick Shikat, Philadelphia, in a one-fall title match at the Phillies' ball park tonight. Shikat, who had been recognized as world's champion by the Pensylvania and New York athletic commissions, weighed 217 pounds. Londos scaled 200.

Londos won the title with a body hold after they had tugged and hauled at each other for one hour and twenty-three minutes. The finish came suddenly and unexpectedly to many of the 30,000 who witnessed the bout, a moment after Shikat had sent Londos to the rain-soaked mat twice with body slams.

As the referee slapped Londos on the back indicating that the champion had been pinned, hundreds attempted to climb into the ring, and police rushed inside the ropes to keep the ring clear.

GEORGE-WYKOFF GO DRAWING INTEREST

Although the finish feature mat battle between Everett Marshall and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former champion, is considered one of the most important nontitle matches ever scheduled for the Coast, the second match on Wednesday night's wrestling card at the Olympic may give it a close run for the spotlight that night. The two newest heavyweight sensations, Don George, conqueror of Nick Lutze and former national amateur wrestling champion, will clash with Lee Wykoff of Missouri in the second bout. Judging the two on the showing each made here, their bout holds promise of developing into a faster and more spectacular one than the recent meeting between Lutze and George.

TOD MORGAN HELD EVEN BY ZORILLA

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 6. (AP) Tod Morgan of Seattle, former junior lightweight title-holder, and Santiago Zorilla, dusky Panaman, fought fifteen rounds to a draw here tonight.

CONNIE MACK, JR., TO CAPTAIN PREP TEAM

PHILADELPHIA, June 6. (AP)—Connie Mack, Jr., son of the manager of the world champion Athletics, has been elected to captain the 1931 baseball team at Germantown Academy.

RING BOUTS ARRANGED

Two main events have been announced for the Pasadena Arena. Speedy Dado meets Canto Robleto Thursday night, while Mack House faces Neil Cilsby a week later.

RABBIT PUNCHES

CARNERA-GODFREY HITCH

THERE are rumblings of a hitch in the scheduled Primo Carnera-George Godfrey fight at the Philadelphia ball park the 23rd inst.

There is an "if" somewhere along the line to this battle between "the giants of the prize ring," as the promoters bill their letterheads.

The "if" even comes from Jimmy Dougherty, manager of Godfrey, who uses the promoters' flamboyant stationery to write about his welterweight, Billy Angelo, and says little about the Carnera-Godfrey affair.

There is also hint of a balk from other sources. Carnera stopped K. O. Christner at Detroit the other night, but there is some question about the Italian's handlers wanting him to try his luck against the Black Shadow.

Operatives report the fight will be definitely on or off within the next two days.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC FINALS

THE Junior Olympic boys of Southern California come to the end of the trail today.

Competition in which 50,000 kids indulged this spring will see four of them crowned champions at Los Angeles Junior College field—two in the senior division and two in the junior division.

From here the champions go to Atlantic City for the national championships, and then for a month's tour of South America.

The Southern California boys literally cleaned up at Atlantic City last year, and the marks this season indicate they are likely to do it again.

THE BASEBALL EPIC

EACH June brings an old-timers' baseball game. The one this year will be played at Wrigley field the 23rd inst.

The rival teams will be made up from the Association of Professional Ball Players of America, and one will be captained by Frank Dillon, the other by Jess Stovall.

Like rare old wine, these struggles improve with age.

Each team has won two games apiece, so this year's epic will be the rubber.

Pop Dillon's club will be known as the Forty-niners and Stovall's as the Sons of the Revolution.

Personally, I lean to Pop Dillon's club because Pop was the best first baseman that cleated a spike down the base lines in the Coast League twenty-five years ago.

WELLS KNOCKED OUT BY JACK THOMPSON

OMAHA, June 6. (AP)—One stiff overhand right in the second round spelled victory by the knockout route for young Jack Thompson, San Francisco Negro, welterweight champion, over the veteran Billy Wells here tonight. Thompson's recently acquired belt was not at stake, both entering the ring at 148 pounds.

Thompson brought a fast right-hander out from behind the shoulder which sent the cagy English veteran down for better than a ten count. Prior to the blow which ended the fight in the second round, no damage was done by either fighter. It was a one-punch victory.

ROGERS TO LEAD TEAM TOMORROW

Will Rogers, humorist extraordinary, will park his philosophical wit at the sideboards tomorrow afternoon and play a serious role for a full eight chukkers when he sends his Freebooters polo team against the Uplifters' Club riders in the first of a two-game series destined to determine the current mallet ratings of Santa Monica's two equestrian ranches. Rogers's rancho adjoins the clubmen's ranch and as polo is the outstanding sport at the two Rustic Canyon estates, a warm neighborly rivalry produces lengthy debates. Tomorrow the debaters take to the turf and ride it out.

MAROW TO BROADCAST RACES FROM ASCOT

Herb Marow, a former race driver of the dirt ovals, who has become popular as an announcer over the loud-speaker system at the Legion Ascot Speedway during the past several months, has been signed to talk over radio June 15 when the first lap-by-lap description of races at the track will be broadcast from the plant.

Edgar Johnson, secretary of the Legion race board, announced yesterday that Marow had been selected because of his thorough knowledge of the open throttle game.

WHITCOMBE WINS

PORTRUSH (Ireland) June 6. (AP)—Charles Whitcombe, English professional, won the Irish open golf championship today with a seventy-two-hole total of 289. The veteran, Abe Mitchell, was runner-up with 297.

LUTZE BOWS TO DERN

SALT LAKE CITY, June 6. (AP)—After losing the first fall in one of the toughest matches he has engaged in this season, Ira Dern, Salt Lake City heavyweight wrestler, came back to defeat Nick Lutze, Venice, Cal., in the next two in their match here tonight.

PASADENA TENNIS TEAM WINS

The Pasadena Junior College tennis team defeated the Long Beach Junior College squad yesterday, 12 to 11, in a dual clash staged at the Crown City.

DEVLIN STOPS ROCHE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—Chick Devlin, rugged young middleweight, stopped the veteran Joe Roche, in the ninth round at National Hall tonight.

AUSTRALIANS LEAD AT ENGLISH NETS

EASTBOURNE (Eng.) June 6. (AP) The Australian Davis Cup team took a 2-to-0 lead over England today, in the third round of the international play for the coveted trophy, Jack Crawford accounted for the first Australian victory, defeating H. G. N. Lee of Great Britain, after five hard sets. The scores were 3-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Harry Hopman had an easier time downing J. Colin Gregory of England in straight sets of which two went to deuce. Hopman won by 8-6, 6-4, 9-7.

MISS RYAN IN FINALS OF ENGLISH NET PLAY

LONDON, June 6. (AP) — Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California and London, and Miss Sarah Palfrey, Boston, will meet in the final for the women's singles in the North London lawn tennis championships at Stamford Hill.

Miss Palfrey won her semifinal match from Miss Mary Greef, Kansas City, 7-5, 6-3, while Miss Ryan defeated a British player, Miss E. R. Clarke in the other semifinal, 6-2, 6-1.

HENRI COCHET COPS OVER BELGIAN STAR

BRUSSELS (Belgium) June 6. (AP) Henri Cochet of France chalked up another straight-set tennis victory today, defeating Lacroix of Belgium, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4, in the quarter-final round of the Belgian championships.

Another of the Franch, "musketeers," Jean Borotra, had extreme difficulty in beating his countryman, Alain Gerbault, the lone ocean navigator, 9-7, 3-6, 6-4; this match being decided in two out of three sets.

AUSTRIA AND ITALY ON EVEN TERMS AT TENNIS

VIENNA (Austria) June 6. (AP)—H. W. Artens, Austria, defeated Pietro Gaslini, Italy, in straight sets in the third round of Davis Cup tennis play, Italy against Austria. The scores were 8-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Italy squared matters with Austria in the second singles match when Baron Humbert De Morpurgo, the Italian ace, defeated Franz Matejka, first-ranking Austrian player, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

CARL HOLLING GETS RELEASED BY ANGELS

Carl Holling, veteran right-hand pitcher, was given his outright release by the Los Angeles club, it was announced yesterday. Holling came to the Seraphs from the Missions last spring, but never was able to hurl consistently, although he did win several games with his pinch hitting. Holling was released to make room for Carroll Yerkes, southpaw recently purchased from Portland.

DUMLER KAYOES STAR

SAN DIEGO, June 6. (AP)—Andy Dumler, San Francisco heavyweight, knocked out Tony Star, San Diego, in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. Dumler caught Star with a short left hook to the chin soon after the second round started for a quick finish.

MIDDIES HONOR ASHWORTH

jump, who was reported thrown off the Hawkeye squad yesterday after a dispute with Coach George Bresnahan, competed in the event today and led all qualifiers.

After the Hawkeye team left Iowa last night, Gordon dug into his own pocket for his carfare and made his appearance on the field when the meet opened. He was so infuriated because he had to pay his own way that he went right out and jumped 25ft. even—the best leap of his life. Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, the American record holder, was second to Gordon with a leap of 24ft. 3-4in.

OLYMPIC FINALS TODAY

just as keen as it has in the past when one or two points have separated the winners from their closest rivals. There have been enough upsets in meets thus far this year to prove that no boy has a head start on the others this afternoon, and with this knowledge every youngster ought to put his best foot forward and exceed his past performances.

The boys have the added incentive of knowing that they must do their best to maintain Southern California's fine record of last year when Robert San Jose copped national honors in the senior division and Vane Baker was crowned junior title winner.

HAWAIIANS STRONG

Local competitors are also face to face with the knowledge that the Hawaiian Islands have produced four boys who have bettered 600 points, the two champions reaching 668 and 667, respectively. It will take some mighty fine work by Southern California's athletes if those marks are to be equaled.

The two favorites today are Louis Haley of San Bernardino, who has made 659 points to lead all scorers in the senior division, and Joe Andrade of Calexico, with a fine mark of 640 in junior competition.

Haley is a fine competitor and it will take plenty of stuff if he is to be defeated today. He throws the baseball more than 300ft., having a mark of 309ft., and seems destined to break the national record of 298ft. in this event. Haley is coached by Joe Colley of Sturgis Junior High School in San Bernardino and placed 12th in the Southern California finals last year with a score of 538 points.

Haley, Robert Thompson of Riverside and Albert Steele of El Centro are the only boys out of the first fifteen of last year competing in today's meet. Thompson, who scored 541 points in 1929, looms as a real threat today for he did 635 points to win the Riverside county finals. He is particularly strong in the basketball throw and sprinting.

Of the other twelve among the first fifteen last year only two were eligible for competition this season, but they dropped out of the picture.

However, other good competitors have sprung up and Haley's task in winning the title is far from an easy one. Clark Crane of Huntington Park won the Los Angeles county crown with 621 points and is a fine competitive athlete. He will bear watching today.

OKURA DANGEROUS

Andrade should get most of his competition from Tsuyoshi Okura, the little Japanese boy from San Pedro, who won the Los Angeles county championship by scoring 612 points. It is doubtful if Okura can improve much over this figure, although he has been coming along steadily.

Andrade has two marks which are sensational for juniors. He has thrown the baseball 241ft. and broad jumped 8ft. 5in. Both of these records better the present national marks.

Today's program will include a group of star athletes from the Los Angeles Athletic Club who will appear in exhibitions. Herman Brix, one of the three greatest shot putters in the world, will go after a new record in the twelve-pound event. Jim De Mers, who often betters 220ft., will try for a new American mark in the javelin, the present record being 212ft. 5in.

Tumblers, hand-balancers and other gymnastic stars are also slated to do their stuff for the edification of those attending. All in all it looks like a sparkling program.

The Deseret News of Salt Lake City has sent three boys to compete in today's meet. These boys won the Utah State titles and, as a result, were rewarded with a trip to Los Angeles. James Hodgson of the News and Coaches Anderson and Horne accompanied the boys here.

Today's meet will be run off by D. W. Lott of the Department of Playground and Recreation.

In order that the athletes may be well "watered" during the competition Sparkletts is furnishing drinks today free of charge.

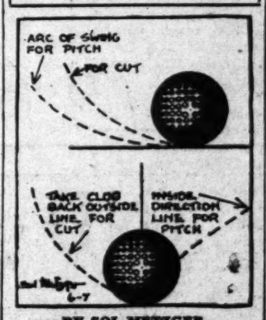
How the Cut Shot Differs from a Pitch



BY SOL METZGER

A combination of parts that relate and synchronize make a perfect whole. So it is with the cut shot that we have described Abe Mitchell playing in the past few articles. Now let's take this shot apart and study its various details so we can see just what makes it work.

Most of us know the pitch, so we'll compare the cut to it. Upper panel of the sketch shows the difference in taking the club back for the pitch and the cut. Imagine the ball in tall grass. You can't force your club under it as in pitching. The iron just won't cut through all that grass. To avoid that you pick up the clubhead more quickly.

Another thing to be careful about is to take your clubhead back outside the line. This is the sole way you can secure the necessary cut, the cut that gives the shot its name. For a pitch you take the clubhead back inside the line. These differences are shown in the lower panel of the illustration, a view sketched from directly in front of the ball, between it and the flag you are playing for.

Perhaps your grip is responsible for some misdirected shots. Why not write for Sol Metzger's new, free, illustrated leaflet on "Correct Grip for Driving," and rectify any mistakes you might be making?

BEAR RACKETERS CLEAN UP ON PENN

PHILADELPHIA, June 6. (AP)—The University of California tennis team made a clean sweep of the matches played today with the University of Pennsylvania, winning 6 to 0. Four singles and two doubles matches were played. The victory of the Californians was their thirty-fourth of the season in collegiate circles.

In an exhibition match, Harold Blauer, undefeated Pennsylvania freshman, triumphed over Russell Galloway, captain of the California first-year team. This defeat did not count in the match with Pennsylvania.

ANGLERS COOK TROUT AT SCENE OF CATCH

Since the announcement a week ago by Leigh Garnsey that the grill sites at the Azusa branch of the Rainbow Angling Club were finished the club has been quite a busy place. Many members have cooked their trout at the sites, which consist of a small house of early California architecture, containing fireplace, ice box and running water.

The warm days of the last week have enticed anglers to fish during the evening. Visibility is made possible by tinted floodlights which cast a moonlight glow over the lake and surrounding landscape. The Azusa branch is open evenings for fishing until 9 o'clock.

MOTION-PICTURE NET TOURNEY IN FINALS

Catherine Bennett and Theodore Von Eltz went into the mixed-doubles finals of the annual motion-picture tennis tournament when they defeated Eileen Percy and George Archainbaud yesterday afternoon at the Los Angeles Tennis Club. The scores were 6-3, 6-2. The winners will meet Mrs. La Cava and Solly Baiano in the finals, Sunday.

As an added attraction to Sunday's program, a doubles match between professional players has been scheduled. Harvey Snodgrass and Jimmy Ruscher will face Wynn Mace and Norval Craig.

Boston Star to Perform at White Sox Park

TONIGHT'S CARD

Honeyboy Finnegan vs. Izzy Sanders, ten rounds, 138.
Andy Martin vs. Ramon Montoya, ten rounds, 126 pounds.
Joe Bitto vs. William Kerbain, six rounds, 165 pounds.
Sandy Casanova vs. Bobby Thompson, six rounds, 95 pounds.
Augie Curtis vs. June Logan, four rounds, 112 pounds.
Bobby Flores vs. Don Arnold, four rounds, 120 pounds.

Carlo Curtis, Main-street Athletic Club promoter, stages his second open-air boxing venture at the White Sox ball park tonight with forty rounds of boxing scheduled.

Curtis has lined up two ten-round bouts as a double main event, and six-round battles and a pair of fours.

Honeyboy Finnegan, Boston lightweight, will make his first Los Angeles appearance when he meets Lou Sanders of Seattle in one of the ten-rounders. Andy Martin makes his second local start when he meets Ramon Montoya, Mexican favorite from San Diego, in one of the best 126-pounders in this coast, in the second ten-round bout.

Finnegan is something of a veteran and he has invaded the coast in search of battles with the best of the 130-pounders. After a couple of breathers at San Bernardino he scored two one-round knockouts and is said to sell himself to local fans by stopping Sanders, a trick that is not being turned by any of the seasiders.

Martin showed a real punch when he knocked out Benny (Kid) Carter in the second round of their first open-air shows. A week previous to that bout he took a ten-round decision over Montoya in a bout at Sacramento.

The two six-round bouts on tonight's card are Sandy Casanova vs. Ted Thompson, and Willie Kassabain vs. Joe Bitto. Augie Curtis, former amateur flyweight champion, will make his first professional start, meeting June Logan. Don Arnoth meets Bobby Flores in the four-round curtain raiser. There are 120-pounders.

Max Fishes; Jack Boxe

ENDICOTT (N. Y.) June 6. 'Twas six days before the bell and not a glove was unstuffed today in the training camp of Max Schmeling. A chill rain supplied the heat of the past few days, during most of the inhabitants to cower and the German heavyweight from the golf links to the training grounds in Lake Aquaga, which gven the baas failed to coax out of hiding.

Max whipped the water from the covered launch and came back to camp late in the afternoon with the usual fisherman's story of the big fellow that got away. But he had an assortment of finny prizes, none that he will ever have gracing and hang on a plaque on the dining-room wall.

SHARKEY SPARS WITH THREE PARTNERS

ORANGEBURG (N. Y.) June 6. (AP)—Jack Sharkey, boxing contender, pummelled a trio of sparring partners in a five-round workout before 1500 spectators today.

The onlookers included Tom Donohue, one-man boxing commission of Connecticut; Gene Tunney, former Olympic boxing champion; Johnny Kilbane, former Jeannette and Joe Lynch, all of whom appeared pleased with Sharkey's boxing and physical condition.

Johnny Grosso and Paul Swiderski alternated against the Boston sailor in the first four rounds while King Solomon opposed him in the final session. Sharkey was said to be one of his best days. He shifted his sparring mates at will with the left and countered to perfection. Sharkey will wind up his training for his June 12 bout with Max Schmeling with a light workout Tuesday. After his exercising today, including three miles of road work, he weighed in at 198.

TAPPAAN WINS MEDAL AS LEADING GRADUATE

Francis Tappaan, Southern California's all-American end, yesterday received the Henry Lee Mc... diamond medal, annually awarded to the outstanding graduating senior athlete at the University of Southern California. The presentation was made by Dr. Rufus B. von KleinSmid, president of the university, at the dedication ceremonies for the Trojan Shrine. Adams, student body president, received the other diamond medal for scholastic and achievement in noncurricular activities outside athletics.

DOUGLAS TO LAUNCH NEW SCHOONER TODAY

Donald Douglas, Santa Monica aircraft manufacturer, will launch his new seventy-five-foot auxiliary rigged racing-cruising schooner Endymion, at 6 o'clock this afternoon at the yards of the Wilmington Boat Works, with several hundred yachtsmen on hand to cheer her as she enters her element. Many Southland sailors have watched the building of the beautiful vessel, which is being followed with unusual interest, since she is the first yacht of composite construction, i. e., steel frames and planked hull, to be built on the Pacific Coast.

BROOKLYN, June 6. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs moved Brooklyn's lead to two games today as they batted freely against Dazzy Vance and won the opener, 13 to 6. Charley Root limited Brooklyn to only two singles as he gave the Cubs to their ninth victory.

Vance had his strike-out ball working and fanned ten Cubs in five innings he worked, but before he was driven out the Cubs connected for ten hits, including home runs by Grimm and Hartnett, and Root, a right-hander, won his ninth game. Chicago scored seven runs in each inning from the third to the ninth. The score:

GIANTS BEST

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP) — The Giants made a trio of Cardinal pitchers look like set-ups for their unanimous hits today to defeat the Cards, 10 to 7. It was New York's eighth straight victory and put it two games in front for the Cardinals in the race for the National league pennant. Hubbell pitched the entire game for the Giants, despite poor support by Hugh Critz, who made three errors. The latter also starred for his field by making four hits. Bill Terry was the most effective hitter of the game, driving in five runs by two innings with a single and a triple. The score:

STARS DOWN ANGELS TWICE

Hollerson's Homer With Two on Wins Opener in Ninth, 6-3; Nightcap Ends in Eleventh

with a single to left. Severeid also singled and Hill pulled up at second. Leishman ran for Severeid. After making two ineffectual attempts to bunt and working the count to 3 and 2, Hollerson won his own game by crashing a line drive over the left-field fence for a home run, crossing the plate behind Hill and Leishman.

Hollerson walked Parker after two were out in the Angel half of the ninth, but disposed of Sigafoos to finally rout the Hollywood jinx and end the Stars' losing streak at eight straight.

START OFF WITH PAIR

The Stars started the second game with a two-run flourish in the first inning as a result of bunched hits off Barfoot's delivery. Both Gazella and Lee were easy victims, but Brannon singled and took second on Statz's bobble to start trouble. Green's hit to center scored Brannon. Carlyle then bounced one off the top of the left-field wall for three bases to bring Green home, but Rumler fanned to end the rally.

Los Angeles came back with three runs in its half of the first, a pair of homers by Dittmar and Ray Jacobs accounting for the trio of tallies. With one away Moore singled. After fouling off about eight balls to work the count to three and two, Dittmar slapped one of Wetzel's offerings over the left-field wall to tie the score. After Schulmerich had been thrown out, Jacobs hit another homer, his drive going into the center-field bleachers.

The Angels scored another run in the second, during which round Wetzel was replaced by Page after he had walked Statz to start the inning. Page picked Statz off first, but Skiff and Barfoot singled and advanced to second and third on Sigafoos's out. Moore was purposely walked and then Dittmar spoiled the strategy by punching a single to left. Skiff scored, but Hill's perfect throw to Bassler nailed Barfoot at the plate for the third out.

PAGE'S HOMER TIES SCORE

Hollywood picked up a run in the third on singles by Gazella and Lee and Brannon's sacrifice fly, while Page's homer in the fifth tied the score.

The Stars temporarily untied the score in the sixth when they blasted Barfoot for three runs to take a short-lived 7-to-4 lead. After Green had gone out Carlyle beat out a tap in front of the plate and Rumler followed with a single to right. Hill fanned but Bassler doubled to center to send Carlyle across the plate. Page's grounder then took a bad hop just as it got to Dittmar, and went for a hit out in left, both Rumler and Bassler tallying. Haney snared Gazella's line drive for the third out.

Parker batted for Barfoot and doubled to start an Angel rally in the home half of the sixth. Sigafoos singled to score Parker, but was forced by Moore. Dittmar then punched out his second homer of the game over the left-field wall and the score was again knotted. Turner here replaced Page and got the side out.

Skipper Vitt's hired help were still determined when they came up in the seventh, and, with Augie Walsh the victim, drove over three more runs. Lee led off with an infield hit but Brannon fanned. Green singled to left. Carlyle hit what looked as though it were going to be a double-play ball but just as it got to Dittmar it took a crazy hop over the shortstop's head, Lee scoring and Green taking third on the hit. Rumler walked to fill the bases. Hill came through with a single to center to score Green, but Statz's throw to Skiff nipped Carlyle at the plate. Sigafoos then juggled Bassler's hot grounder, Rumler scoring and Hill sprinting to third on the error. Dittmar made a great play to retire Turner at first for the third out.

And then the Angels came up and tied it all over again in their half. Haney led off with a double and scored on a single by Harper, who batted for Statz. Carlyle backed up against the center-field wall to drag down a long fly by Warren, who pinch-hit for Skiff. Peters, batting for Walsh, hit to Green, who threw the ball into left field in an effort to force Harper, who went to third. Sigafoos singled to right, Harper scoring and Peters going to third with the tying run. That was all for Turner, Lefty Johns taking the mound. Johns fanned Moore on a foul tip into Bassler's glove. Sigafoos had second base stolen but got all twisted up when Bassler caught the foul, evidently thinking he should return to first. Bassler was so surprised by Sigzy's unexpected action that he allowed him to scramble safely back to first. Dittmar then singled to right, Peters scoring the tying run and Sigafoos scooting to third. Had Siggy not had a brain storm he would have easily scored from second on Dittmar's hit and the game would have been over. Gazella then tossed out Schulmerich to send the boys into overtime.

FINALLY END IT

The Stars put across the winning run in the eleventh, which opened with Green singling to left. Carlyle bunted Green to second. Rumler was purposely walked and then Peters lost the location of the plate to pass Hill and fill the bases. Hank Severeid, batting for Bassler, hit a slow bouncer toward short that went for an infield hit when Haney got in Dittmar's way as he was about to field the ball. It is doubtful whether Dittmar could have made a double play on the ball, although Severeid is pretty slow going down to first. Green scored on the hit, which left the bags still bulging. Johns hit into a double play, Dittmar to Warren to Jacobs, to bring the inning to a close.

LIFE INSURANCE UNIT ABSORBED

Mountain States Purchases Montana Company

Hollywood Concern Effects Seventh Deal

Will Change Name Soon to Pacific States

Reinsurance of the entire business of the Lewis & Clark Life Insurance Company of Great Falls, Mont., by Mountain States Life Insurance Company of Hollywood was announced yesterday by William L. Vernon, president of the local institution.

Lewis & Clark Life Insurance Company has $2,500,000 of insurance in force and $375,000 of assets, both of which will be taken over by Mountain States Life. The office equipment of the Montana company will be moved to Mountain States Life Building in Hollywood by July 1, next.

As of December 31, last, Lewis & Clark Life showed total admitted assets of $368,585; surplus, $45,060; premiums received in 1929, $59,781; total income in 1929, $93,403; total payments to policyholders in 1929, $14,404; total 1929 disbursements, $235,948, including $132,127 in stock notes paid and charged off; new business paid for in 1929 including revivals, $486,281, and total insurance in force at December 31, last, $2,199,602.

With the acquisition of Lewis & Clark Life, the total assets of Mountain States Life are increased to $2,538,547 and its total insurance in force to $22,500,000. This is the seventh standard insurance company taken over by the Hollywood company which is now operating in sixteen western States. Recently it absorbed Union National Life Insurance Company of Kansas City with assets of $300,000 and insurance in force totaling $3,750,000. Offices of the latter company are now being moved to Hollywood.

As previously announced, the name of Mountain States Life will be changed to Pacific States Life Insurance Company, effective July 1, next. The new name was chosen as being more appropriate to the location and business of the company which was moved to Hollywood from Denver, Colo., several years ago.

Warm Weather Brings Slight Trade Upturn

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Real summer weather, with temperatures in or above the nineties in wide areas is responsible for a slight pickup visible in retail trade reports and an access of sympathetic cheerfulness in wholesale and jobbing lines. Collections reports too were a shade more cheerful, and crops, although reporting rain needed, held nearly all of their former promise.

Industrial reports for the week, on the other hand, showed some evidences of quieting down noted in late May, as, for instance, in iron and steel, automobiles, lumber and cotton, being carried over into June. Pig iron production in May fell a trifle below that of April, and the slow but steady drop in steel ingot output reported weekly of late seemed to progress slightly further. The unfavorable position of lumber production and orders was not greatly changed, while raw cotton eased slightly on the reports of curtailed use of that staple agreed on in May. The downward movement of commodity prices in May as shown in Bradstreet's index number was apparently not checked.

Weekly bank clearings $10,012,710,000, a decrease of 26.5 per cent from a year ago.

Sales Report on Woolworth Chain Issued

NEW YORK, June 6.—F. W. Woolworth Company reported today May sales of $25,309,730 against $28,976,753 in May, 1929, a decrease of 11.4 per cent. Sales for the first five months this year aggregated $110,605,328 against $112,199,190 for the same period last year, off 1.4 per cent.

"May, 1929, was our fiftieth anniversary sale," H. T. Parson, president, announced, "and a tremendous effort was made on sales with an extensive advertising campaign resulting in an increase of $5,580,709, or 24.27 per cent over May, 1928, sales.

"In May, 1930, there was no advertising and nothing but the regular May sale efforts for business compared with May, 1929, which included all the Easter business," he said. May, 1930, sales increased $940,771, or 3.9 per cent over April sales of this year, and compared with May, 1928, increased $2,312,205, or 10 per cent."

M. C. BRUSH NAMED FOR WABASH BOARD

BUFFALO, June 6.—Wabash Railway and its subsidiary, Ann Arbor Railroad, have applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval to elect Matthew C. Brush, president of American International Corporation, a director of these roads. Prior to the taking over of the control of the Missouri Pacific by the Van Sweringens, Mr. Brush was a director and member of the executive committee of that road and its subsidiaries and he is still a director of Texas and Pacific Railway and Denver and Rio Grande Western.

DIVIDEND PASSED

NEW YORK, June 6.—Directors of Nachman-Springfield Corporation took no action today on the July 1 dividend due at this time. Three months ago the dividend was reduced from $3 to $2 annually.

MOREHOUSE RAPS METHODS

Del Monte Gathering Criticised for Failure to Adopt Modern Business-Getting Ideas

DEL MONTE, June 6. (AP)—Banks were taken to task today by W. R. Morehouse of Los Angeles in a series of scathing criticisms for their failure to adopt modern business building methods. He spoke at the afternoon session of the California Bankers' Association convention.

Observing that banks had made little progress in the use of new mediums since 1920, Morehouse said:

W. R. MOREHOUSE

"This is unfortunate, I say, because competition for the people's money has become extraordinarily keen during the last ten years, not so much between banks, but between banks and other financial groups, while speculation has reaped a terrible toll. Twenty years ago the banks had no near competitors for the people's money aside from the building and loan group, which at that time did not push their campaigns for new business aggressively.

"In the last ten years the person with a salary and the person with other income has been shuttled about by many agencies trying to invest his money for him or trying to sell him something. Let a man die leaving a few thousands of dollars and his body will hardly be cold before flocks of buzzards of the investment and promotion type will swoop down upon the widow and by all kinds of endearing methods try to help her invest her estate, and they will invest it where she will eventually lose it."

Morehouse recommended installment savings accounts to offset installment sales talks of business men, citing Japanese methods as successful examples. The Japanese installment savers are expected to deposit more than $100,000,000 annually in contract savings plans advanced by banks, he said.

He also advocated graduated interest scales, providing higher rates for deposits remaining undisturbed several years, and numerous devices by which saving could be stimulated in competition with the pulls exerted by other aggressive business.

Another afternoon speaker was Norman D' Evelyn of San Francisco, who recommended vigorous and persistent advertising for building up of sales of bank services.

J. E. McGuigan, San Francisco, was elected chairman of the trust company section; John Veehuyzen, Los Angeles, was named vice-chairman; F. H. Lugher, San Francisco, secretary-treasurer, and J. F. Brickwedel, San Francisco, and W. W. Jacks, San Jose, additional members of the executive committee.

PATHE FIGHT DUE MONDAY

Management Expects to Retain Control by Voting 60 Per Cent of 8 Per Cent Preferred

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Management of Pathe Exchange, Inc., most recent of the many corporate executive groups challenged by critical stockholders, will submit its case at the adjourned annual meeting scheduled for Monday, next. At this meeting it is understood the management will vote proxies for more than 60 per cent of the outstanding 8 per cent preferred stock, or sufficient by a substantial margin to retain control of the business.

Late last month a group headed by Richard A. Rowland, formerly general manager of First National Pictures, announced the formation of a stockholders' committee to obtain proxies from holders of the 8 per cent preferred stock.

CONTROL SOUGHT

Election of eight new directors, constituting a majority of the board, is the objective of this committee. The committee contends in its statement addressed to holders of the 8 per cent preferred that this class of stock has the right to place its representatives on the board, since eight successive quarterly dividends have been passed.

Charges are also made by the Rowland group that the present management has been unsuccessful and that failure to rehabilitate the company has been admitted by Joseph P. Kennedy through his resignation as president.

To these statements the Pathe management has replied with some interesting comment. The substance of the Pathe reply is the intimation that the so-called protective group has acted prematurely or without full possession of the facts and adequate protection of its own position.

None of the members of the Rowland committee is an 8 per cent preferred stockholder of record, the management states. Furthermore, Mr. Kennedy has not resigned the presidency, as the committee states in its letter, and has never been the Pathe president. J. J. Murdock has been and still is the president, the management replies.

KENNEDY CHAIRMAN

Mr. Kennedy is the chairman of the board, an office he has occupied since the reorganization. He has not resigned this position, the company states, but has retired from the active internal management. The work of actively managing the business was recently intrusted to E. B. Derr, executive vice-president, Mr. Kennedy stating at the time that sufficient progress toward rehabilitation has been made to warrant his withdrawal from active direction.

With reference to the charge of unsatisfactory financial progress, the Pathe officers point to the 1929 financial statement. This report showed net profits of approximately $501,000, as contrasted with losses reported by the previous management.

On Monday the Pathe management, it is understood, anticipates an easy victory over the opposition. Members of the management and of the sponsoring banking group will vote their own 8 per cent preferred and also a sufficient amount of shares owned publicly to retain control.

While earnings are running satisfactorily, it is not believed that dividends on either the preferred or the Class A preference stock will be resumed this year. The company has indicated its intention to apply surplus earnings to the building up of working capital.

Allis-Chalmers Backlog Mounts

CHICAGO, June 6.—Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company reported today unfilled orders of March 31, last, of $17,342,000, a new peak, against $14,954,000 on the same date a year ago, representing the fifth consecutive month the orders have shown a gain.

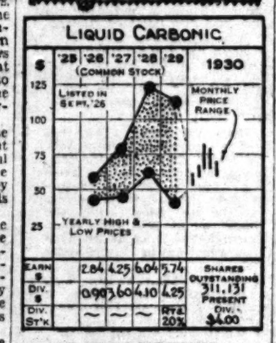
May bookings, although somewhat lower than in March and April, were above those of May, 1929, amounting to $4,708,000. Bookings for the first five months of the current year aggregated $24,871,000 compared with $48,493,000 for the same period last year.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

NEW YORK, June 6.—R. Fulton Cutting has been elected chairman of the board of All-American Cables to succeed the late W. Emlen Roosevelt and the latter's son, John K. Roosevelt, has been elected a director.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

LIQUID CARBONIC



LIQUID CARBONIC

The Liquid Carbonic Corporation is the largest manufacturer of soda fountains and carbonic gas in the United States and is also important in the manufacture of bottling machinery and bottlers' extracts. A one-quarter interest is held in the Dry Ice Holding Corporation, a company whose subsidiaries make a refrigerant from processed carbonic gas. A large supply of that chemical is supplied by Liquid Carbonic. Manufacturing facilities are at present being steadily expanded, both through acquisition and building.

Net income for the six months ended March 31, 1930, amounted to $5,459,756, or 85 cents per share, on the 342,406 shares of common stock, as compared with $4,751,800, or $1.06 per share on 266,683 shares in the corresponding period ending in 1929. The last available balance sheet is that dated September 30, 1929, which shows total current assets of $10,140,653, of which $233,733 was in cash and $1,000,000 was in call loans, compared with current liabilities of $2,166,094.

Family Stores Rights Offered

CHICAGO, June 6.—Preferred and common shareholders of National Family Stores, Inc., have been offered the privilege of subscribing for over $1000 ten-year 6½ per cent sinking fund convertible gold debentures of the company for each 175 shares of stock held, it was announced here today. The stockholders' privilege is at a price to yield about 6.66 per cent.

A syndicate headed by A. C. Allyn & Co., and F. A. Brewer & Co., have underwritten $1,500,000 of the issue, which is convertible into common stock at $20 to $40 a share from November 1, next, to maturity, according to date of exercise. Proceeds are for reimbursement of capital expenditures made in acquiring and opening new stores, and for additional working capital and other corporate purposes.

New Treasury Offering Out

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The Treasury today offered for subscription about $400,000,000 of Treasury certificates to mature in one year, carrying 2 7-8 per cent interest. The issue will be dated June 16, 1930.

The easy money rates throughout the country were reflected in the offering, which is the first in a long time to carry less than 3 per cent interest. The amount, which may be more or less than the $400,000,000 announced, is expected to take care of the Treasury's needs until September.

WHEELING RAIL PAYS DELINQUENT DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Directors of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company today declared a back dividend of 7 per cent on the prior lien stock for the period from August 1, 1922, to August 1, 1923. In January directors declared three back quarterly dividends of 7 per cent for the period from November 1, 1921, to August 1, 1922. The latest dividend is payable the 14th inst. on stock of record the 10th inst.

PENNSYLVANIA RAIL QUARTER NET LOWER

Pennsylvania Railroad Company reported today March quarter net income of $11,449,666 after all charges, equal to 88 cents a share on 12,941,487 shares, against $12,496,656 in the same period last year, or 96 cents a share on the same share basis.

CROSLEY PASSES REGULAR

CINCINNATI, June 6.—Directors of Crosley Radio Corporation voted today to omit the quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share due at this time.

OIL EARNINGS OF ROYAL DUTCH UP

Net of Company in 1929 Sets New High Record

Total of $50,841,499 Leads 1928 by $9,337,652

Return on Capital Stock Set at 25.11 Per Cent

NEW YORK, June 6.—Despite the fact that 1929 was a year of excessive competition in the petroleum industry, the Royal Dutch Company showed the largest net income in its history, amounting to 126,471,391 florins or, based on the normal exchange value of the florin of 40.2 cents, to $50,841,499.18, as against 103,281,780 florins or $41,553,847.56 in 1928 according to the company's annual report issued today.

The 1929 net income was equal after dividends on the 4 and 4½ per cent preferred stock to 25.11 per cent on 503,634,000 florins of ordinary stock, as compared with 24.75 per cent on 412,103,000 florins of ordinary stock in 1928.

The report states that the Royal Dutch Company has decided to pool its interests with those of the Standard Oil of New Jersey-I.G. Farbenindustrie combine in order to exchange experiences and patents in this direction and to work hydrogeneration patents jointly.

VENEZUELA LEAD

For the first time the company's production in Venezuela exceeded that in the United States and led all other areas with a total of 8,799,547 metric tons of crude last year, as against 7,125,339 metric tons in 1928. Through Shell Petroleum Corporation and Shell Oil Company, subsidiaries of Shell Union Oil Corporation in the United States, production amounted to 7,583,552 metric tons against 7,703,000 in 1928. Royal Dutch output in Dutch East Indies totaled 4,746,426 metric tons last year in contrast with 3,971,045 tons for 1928.

Considerable progress has been made by the company in its manufacture of fertilizers, the report states. The Velsen Rolland plant built in conjunction with the Knoinklijke Nederlansche Hoogovens Enstallifabrieken Royal Dutch blast furnaces and steel works has been brought into operation at full capacity and the products manufactured, which are marketed partly through the Royal Dutch distributing organization, have found a ready sale.

CALIFORNIA PLANT

Experience gained in this direction, the company states, has induced it to build a similar plant in California where natural gas from oil fields constitute an important basic material and it has decided to undertake the manufacture of various other chemical products from the surplus gas.

Various operating subsidiaries and affiliated companies of Royal Dutch last year produced about 12 per cent of the total crude-oil yield throughout the world. Of world output totaling 210,656,760 metric tons (a metric ton is equal to about seven and one-half barrels) against 187,674,434 metric tons in 1928 Royal Dutch interests produced 24,184,387 metric tons, against 22,063,411 metric tons in 1928.

Security Loan Takes New Home

Security Building and Loan Association, recently merged with the International Building and Loan Association, will formally open its new home today on South Vermont avenue and will hold an all-day public reception from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., C. T. Owen, president, announced yesterday.

The Security is owned by the Metropolitan Capital Corporation, a holding company, organized for the purpose of acquiring guarantee capital stock in building-loan associations. The recent merger is the first step in an expansion program for the Security, Mr. Owen said. The Security has paid-in capital of $200,000 and resources of approximately $1,000,000.

"Natural Gas" Title of Book

With the object of familiarizing the layman with the history of the natural gas industry, Carl Youngberg, a partner in the house of Goldman, Jacobs & Co., specialists in natural gas securities, has written a book entitled "Natural Gas," which has just been released for distribution through local book stores.

The book includes statistical reports covering the majority of the most important companies operating in the industry and also contains maps giving the location of twenty of the leading natural gas pipe line companies.

ADDITION TO MILK LISTING APPROVED

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday approved the application of Golden State Milk Products Company to list 12,291 additional shares of $25 par-value common stock, effective for immediate trading. This brings the total number of shares listed on this exchange to 489,776 of which 472,556 shares are now outstanding.

GOODRICH REDUCES PRICES ON TIRES

AKRON, June 6.—B. F. Goodrich Company has reduced the price on several lines of tires, effective as of the 5th inst. and meeting the price cut instituted by the Goodyear Company. The company is also adjusting its dealer discount in order to maintain profitable operations for its dealers.

BOND BATTLE FRONT SHIFTS

Congressman McFadden Asks Two Pertinent Questions About Reparations Issue Guarantees

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, June 6.—The reparation battle has been transferred to the American front. Congressman Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, whose statement as to the illegality of the reparation bonds was challenged by Thomas W. Lamont, came back hard and fast in Congress by asking the Morgan partner this question:

"Are the $100,000,000 German reparations bonds, about to be sold in the United States, an advance by the bankers to the German government for the development of German railways and postal service?"

If the bonds represent such an advance, they are secured by the German budget. If they are not an advance for either of these two purposes they are not secured by the German budget.

Of the $300,000,000 reparation bond issue to be offered, only $200,000,000 seems to be guaranteed unconditionally by the German budget. Chairman McFadden wants to know from Mr. Lamont if each and every bond offered to the American investors is a part of the bonds which are absolutely guaranteed by the German government.

The Congressman's second question is directed to the American State Department. Broadly speaking, he asks:

"What position does the United States Department of State actually assume in regard to the legality and the sale of the reparation bond issue, which is to be recommended by the house of Morgan?"

Both of these questions should be cleared up before the issue is offered and undoubtedly they will be answered. There should be no difficulty in getting a frank and complete answer to both of them.

Henry Ford's statement that if the world buying power was equal to that of the United States production would run ten times behind demand is not a wild guess. It's easy to prove—much easier than to figure out a workable plan to bring it about.

Boiled down to every-day life, it would mean that China would become a market for 100,000,000 cars.

The big job of the future is to figure out how to expand buying power and wealth throughout the world.

If China could buy 10 per cent of the number of cars suggested, it would relieve the American market tremendously. Even if that buying power took ten years to bring about.

More and more American business interests must realize that expansion of capital into foreign lands cannot be accompanied indefinitely by higher and higher walls.

The two just don't go together—unless American investors consider their exported capital in the nature of a good-will gift—with no thought of it ever being paid back.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—There was a continuation of the recent selling movement in the cotton market here today, owing to favorable average of the weather news and a belief that the crop has recently been making improved progress. A private report pointing to a decrease of 1.7 per cent in acreage and placing the condition of the crop at 69.1 per cent, compared with 68.9 last year, may have been a contributing factor in the decline.

DEMAND ON WOOL MART LESS KEEN

Fine Grades Top Sales and Prices Reported as Against Buyer

BOSTON, June 6. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

While the demand for wool has been less keen in the eastern seaboard markets this week prices have been fairly well maintained and are, if anything, against the buyer. Fine wools still are first in volume of sales but quarter-blood combings wool for knitting purposes have been prominent in the trading, both in territory and bright wools.

Foreign markets are firm on fine wools and barely firm on crossbreds. The Yorkshire textile strike is apparently near an end, with operatives accepting the reductions demanded by the mills.

New clip operations are extending into the Northwest and contracting is reported in Southern Montana at 21-23 cents. Elsewhere, prices are about unchanged, although buying pressure is less in certain localities.

The manufacturing position is considered sound and encouraging, although manufacturers still adopt a very conservative attitude.

Mohair is slow, with Texas original hair quotable at 39-40 cents in the original bags.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston, according to the same authority from January 1, 1930, to June 5, 1930, inclusive, were 57,988,000 pounds, against 80,271,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to June 5, 1930, inclusive, were 99,753,400 pounds against 110,284,685 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Texas fine 12 months (selected), 75@76; fine short 12 months, 70@72; fine 6 months, 68@70.

California—Northern, 65@67; middle county, 62@65; southern, 60@63.

Cleveland Bank Reduces Rate

CLEVELAND, June 6.—The Federal Reserve Bank here reduced its rediscount rate today from 4 to 3½ per cent on all classes of paper and all maturities. The new rate is effective tomorrow.

Reduction of the Cleveland Federal Reserve rediscount rate places this district in line with the rate now prevailing at the Boston Federal Reserve Bank, but higher than the New York Federal Reserve Bank, which is on a 3 per cent basis. Other Federal Reserve districts are on a 4 per cent basis.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Chicago's Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement today regarding its rediscount rate of 4 per cent.

Greene Cananea Earnings Jump

NEW YORK, June 6. (Exclusive) Greene Cananea Consolidated Copper Company reported today net profits for the year closed December 31, last, of $3,013,254 after all charges, including Federal income tax reserve and depreciation but before depletion, equal to $8.03 a share on 500,000 capital shares outstanding.

This compares with net profits of $1,974,047 reported for the preceding year, equivalent before depletion to $3.95 a share on the same capital basis, and represents an increase of $1,039,207 or more than 50 per cent.

RADIO CORPORATION OMITS STATEMENT

NEW YORK, June 6. (Exclusive) Radio Corporation of America has received permission from the New York Stock Exchange to omit the filing of a statement covering earnings for the first quarter of the current year on the ground that the recent recapitalization and unification plan makes it impossible to show a complete and correct picture for comparison. The corporation will issue a statement for the six months to end the 30th inst. and quarterly statements thereafter.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH OFFERS NEW RIGHTS

NEW YORK, June 6. (Exclusive) Common stockholders of Postal Telegraph and Cable Corporation have been offered the right to subscribe to one new common share at $40 for each four shares held, it was announced today. In the first quarter the company earned 46 cents a share on 305,295 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock, against $2.27 a share on 303,909 preferred shares in the same period last year.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Standard Oil Leads Selling Movement as Prices Fall Fractionally Lower

Trading operations in Transamerica settled down to a more even tenor after the general movement for the decline hit the balance of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Headed by the oils, and chiefly Standard of California, a widespread liquidation swept through the market that depressed prices as a whole. While no rally set in towards the close and prices did close finished low for the day, all losses with one exception, were small fractions.

Gainers firmed up to 39 points shortly after the opening and from then on fluctuated within a narrow range, softening gradually to a close at 1-4 down 1-8. The turnover in stock, slightly more than 7000 shares, was far less than on the two preceding days.

Standard Oil of California led the trading with sales of 7400 shares which, having remained relatively steady throughout the week. The stock, after touching 40 3-4, dropped a point and after recovering to 40 in the last hour, again turned down to 39 3-4 on final sales, off 3-4 net. Selling also came in for consideration pressure and on the force of which shares dropped 3-8 to a new bottom at 32 7-8. On a lighter turnover, Union, Union Associates, Rio Grande, Signal, Shell and Pacific Western yielded from 1-4 to ½ point. Shell marked a new 1930 low at 20¼. Gilmore Oil, usually inactive, turned up ½ to a new top at 17.

Western Air Express dropped off 1½ points to 39½ on a board-lot transaction and was the only issue to show more than a fractional loss. Pacific Finance hit a new bottom for the year at 36½, off ½ and Pacific Clay Products lost 7-8 to 27 1-8. Southern California Edison, selling actively, yielded 3-4 to 64 1-4 and Pacific Public Service dropped another 3-4 to 31. Claude Neon firmed up 1-4 to 38.

Sales totaled 25,962 shares valued at $1,221,517; previous day, 27,437 shares valued at $1,100,888.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Two Liberty bond issues went into high ground for the year on today's trading in the listed bond market. Their rise was about the only feature of the day in which the trading was brisk only at the start and close. Liberty 4¼s, of both the first and fourth issues, erased the former 1930 high mark, and the continuance of the good demand for United States governments enhanced the price of nearly all of them.

The domestic section maintained the firm trend, but suffered from dullness most of the day, and the activity of the market as a whole was not what might be expected in view of the credit situation. The spread between the current rates of money and the yields of legal issues brought increased trading in some railroad bonds, but price enhancement was small. Stock privilege issues were jumpy, with the trend downward.

New reports concerning the long-awaited German annuity issue, the first piece of financing under the Young Plan, caused no commotion in the foreign bond section. Trading was in a wide list of issues, with most bonds closing higher.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the cipher is omitted when the same as the low, and both the high and close when the same as the low.

...Near Woodland

...Pacific & Pacific Oil Com... pany offices in San Francisco, ...it is said, says Hamp... ton's Weekly, is drilling a wildcat well in ...the Woodland district as a test of ...the gas range.

...It is down 2250 feet. It lies ...close to Sacramento River, and ...about fifty miles northwest of ...Petaluma. The formation is medi... um, and is believed to be some... what like that at Petaluma, where ...gas wells have failed to obtain sat... isfactory results.

...Oil Story

...The General Petroleum Corpora... tion is drilling nine-inch casing in ...Richfield No. 1 on a tideland ...location 60 feet south of its More ...land well, which is four miles east of ...Seal Beach oil field.

...It is expected to point the ...way to production in that dis... trict. Signal got heavy gas pres... sures in More No. 1 and More ...No. 2, both on the Palisades about ...100 feet above the tideland ...level, and 600 feet back from ...the beach, and found no oil in them.

...Many have a suspicion that ...the Signal wells are on too high ...a level to get the oil, and that a ...lower tide may be just far ...enough to get the structure to bring ...in oil. The well is looked upon ...with interest by operators as one of the ...most important along the shore... line, and is being care... fully watched.

...In the Field

...Operations at Canfield-Midway ...No. 1, which was really the ...discovery well of the Seacliff field in ...Ventura county, is reaming to set ...casing and expects to get ...under control for a combina... tion shut-in test. No. A-2 on ...the Hobson lease, midway between ...the Seacliff and the Seacliff field, ...has not found its first actual oil ...sand yet, and is now down ...to 4000 feet, with 600 to 700 feet of oil ...sand to go. There is no cer... tainty that this wildcat having ...struck oil is to lift the oil, but the ...general opinion is that it is go... ing to have some kind of a well. ...Information is said to correlate ...with that of the Lloyd zone ...on the Ventura-avenue field. The ...Richfield holds a block of about ...1000 acres around this project.

...Drilling

...In the Fairfax district of the San ...Dominguez, Roy White and As... sociates have picked up some inter... esting shows in their wildcat ...and are setting pipe at ...around 6000 feet to make a ...test which is reported to have ...encountrered oil sand, which ...in many other wildcat in ...vicinity has revealed.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—The curb market turned distinctly heavy today, with most of the recent favorites losing ground moderately, and total sales again exceeding the 1,000,000-share mark.

The selling was largely in sympathy with the decline on the big board. Much of the selling was believed to be for short account and it was notable that most of the stocks active on the down side were those in which there is an adequate loaning supply.

Electric Bond and Share and United Light "A" were each pounded down 4 points and American Gas and Electric lost 2. Among the high-priced lightly traded issues, Commonwealth Edison lost 9, Niagara Hudson and Middle West lost about 7 point.

Oils were not very active, but the Indian Territory issues sagged to new lows. Cities Service sold off fractionally in active trading, closing at 31¼, about 50 points above the year's low. Such issues as Cosden Humble and Magnolia lost point or two. In the minor list, Electric sagged more than a point to 10¾, a 1930 low. Pantepec was steadier, closing at 38⅞, off ⅛.

The closing price is omitted when same as the last sale, both low and close when same as the high.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Frosh Romance." Splendid scenery of the great north country and one or two thrills, also George O'Brien.

California, Main nr. 8th.—"Manchu." Opens today.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"All Quiet on the Western Front." A mighty drama of war and its effect. This is one which should not be missed.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Hell's Angels," by Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 645 South Grand—"The Divorcee." Norma Shearer gives one of the finest performances.

Fineross, Fig. at Santa Barbara—"Dwell May Care." Ramon Novarro finds time for a song or two in the swash-buckling times of Napoleon.

Filmarte, 1238 Vine—"The Fight for the Matterhorn." Reviewed in today's Times.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Under a Texas Moon." With mustache and chaps, Frank Fay plays with romance out in the open.

Low's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Redemption." John Gilbert speaks for the second time in a lengthy, distressful tragedy of a man who couldn't find himself.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Boulevard—"Ladies Love Brutes." George Bancroft appears again as the big-hearted gangster who renounces love.

Million Dollar, Bdwy. at 3rd.—"Dames Ahoy." Reviewed in today's Times.

Paloe, Broadway bet. 6th and 7th.—"Fifty Million Frenchmen." Lilyan Tashman and Charles Farrell in a sweetly saccharine romance with guitars and accessories.

Pantages, Hollywood nr. Vine—"The Floradora Girl." A humorous and sentimental music-comedy of a past decade.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"True to the Navy." Clara Bow in not too successful an effort at the soda jerker who amuses the navy and wins her prize. Fredric March.

R.K.O. Hillstreet at La Brea—"Rich Society Blues."

R.K.O. Hill at Eighth—"Around the Corner." Another of those inane comedies which provides Maurice Chevalier with plenty of opportunity to display his popular personality.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Framed." Another gangster struggle with an excellent portrayal by Evelyn Brent.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"Golden Dawn." Reviewed in today's Times.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Bride of the Regiment." A noble romance is broken up by a laughing bandit and there is trouble all night long. Some beautiful coloring. Walter Pidgeon and Vivienne Segal.

Wiltern, 6300 Alvarado—"High Society Blues."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at Eleventh—"The Cuttle." An old-fashioned, blood-and-thunder theatrics serves to introduce the artist, Maurice Moscovitch.

Biltmore, Fifth and Grand—"Strictly Dishonorable." A New York success about Bohemian romance, which may or may not prove disappointing. Starring Margaret Perry.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Brothers." A sure-fire stage hit in which Bert Lytell returns to the theater as two brothers.

Figueroa Playhouse, Fig. nr. 104th—"A Man's Man." A deft comedy of a nice young couple neatly crushed by life. Patsy Ruth Miller.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine nr. Hollywood Blvd.—"June Moon." Mary Gardner and George S. Kaufman's comedy on the problems of song-writing returns by popular request.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"The Last Mile." A tense feverish drama of a prisoner's last hour of life. Clark Gables and Sidia Woods.

Mason, Broadway near First—"The Philanderer." Shavian satire and activities through an early scandal of the independent woman. With the Colbourne players.

Morgan, Hill nr. 11th.—"Decency," Sordid and tropic is the setting, not to sustain the action, and Hazel Dawn and Nelson Hake make the most of her opportunity.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"Wound Stripes." A war memo finds Delehanty in a trade of Germans, touching but only fairly sympathetic.

President, Broadway at Eighth—"The Wooden Soldier." Offers a trip into the old house and there is a murder beside. If you like to be scared. With Evan Thomas.

Vine Street, 1615 Vine—"The Great John Ganton." George Fawcett makes a welcome return to the stage, with a humorous one-worn dissension between capital and labor.

VARIETIES

DRY ORDERS ISSUED TO GUARDSMEN

Border Forces Instructed to Resume Own Campaign Against Rum Runners

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Preparing to turn the Prohibition Bureau over to the Department of Justice, the Treasury today ordered the Customs Service in the Detroit area and on the Pacific Coast to resume its individual efforts against liquor smuggling on July 1.

Activities of rum runners around Detroit became so intense a year ago the government mobilized large forces of customs, prohibition and Coast Guard agents for a co-ordinated fight.

Liquor cleared from Canada to the United States through that area was reduced more than 50 per cent, they reported.

Along the Pacific Coast, about the same time, the customs and prohibition forces were co-ordinated and as in the Detroit area have since operated under the Prohibition Bureau. The orders just issued cancel this and permit rearrangement of the dry forces by the Department of Justice but again place entirely upon the customs forces and Coast Guard in those sections the responsibility of preventing smuggling of liquor.

FIRE SWEEPS AREA IN NATIONAL FOREST

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 6. (AP)—Fire burnt over a seventy-five-acre area of the Prescott National Forest twelve miles east of here today before forest rangers and volunteer fire fighters could bring it under control. Fifty men battled the flames for more than four hours.

Greeting Carried to President

Mrs. Pietro G. Gentile, Pietro G. Gentile and Ruth Bowes.

NEWEST in the way of an emissary is a singing ambassador of good will, who left here yesterday to present a salute in song from the city of Los Angeles and the American Legion of California to President Hoover.

He is Comrade Pietro Gladiatore Gentile, Legionnaire and singer, who, accompanied by Mrs. Gentile and Ruth Bowes, his coach for the past nine years, will travel by motor to Washington, D. C., where he will deliver his message in a concert in the White House.

A parchment scroll will be presented to the Chief Executive. It bears the signatures of Gov. Young, John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Salvatore A. Capodice, Commander of the Hollywood Post of the Legion; Clarence Kincaid, State Commander; Buron Fitts, Mayor Porter, Mrs. George Ladd Kaeding, department president of the State of California, women's auxiliary; Mrs. Donald Macrae, national president of the Legion auxiliary; L. E. Behymer, Mitchell Lewis, president of the Masquers, and many others.

Ruth Bowes will assist Gentile at the piano for his White House concert.

COTTON MEN HEAR GROUP OF EXPERTS

Memphis Shipper Among Speakers as California and Arizona Body Meets

Members of the California-Arizona Cotton Association, meeting at the Alexandria yesterday in annual session, listened to C. H. Dickinson of the American Cotton Shippers' Association of Memphis in an advisory talk. The meeting will be continued today and will conclude this evening with a banquet.

More than 100 members were present when the session opened with an address of welcome by Herbert Ivey, president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank. A score or more of delegates were from Arizona.

The meeting was presided over by A. H. Lambreth of Los Angeles, while F. A. Stewart, also of this city, acted in the capacity of secretary. At the session this morning new officers and a board of directors will be elected.

The morning session was an open one and besides Mr. Dickinson several agricultural, railway and steamboat officials made short talks. The afternoon session was behind closed doors and not open to the public.

Besides cotton growers, dealers in cotton also belong to the organization.

Rites Today for Washington Kin

Funeral rites for Henry Washington Atkinson, retired Texas rancher, who was born in the old home of George Washington's forebears in Sedberg, Eng., were conducted yesterday afternoon at the W. A. Brown chapel, 1815 South Flower street. Interment was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Atkinson's mother was a cousin of George Washington. He resided at 183 North Mansfield avenue. Death came in his eighty-fifth year. He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Minnie A. Sellman; a grand-daughter and two great-grand-daughters.

Police Board's Investigator to Go Back on Beat

Former Acting Captain Thomas L. James of the police department yesterday was transferred from the Police Commission to patrol a beat in uniform in the Wilshire district. James formerly was investigator for Mayor Porter and chief investigator for the Police Commission.

Detective Lieutenant Lowell W. Lyons also was transferred from the Police Commission to the Seventy-seventh-street division. Both transfers, effective today, were made on order of Deputy Chief Cross.

HEROES RECALL BATTLE THRILL

Reminiscences Stir Blood of Second Division

Gen. Harbord Pays Tribute to Deeds of Veterans

Business Session on Tapis For Closing Day

Thrilling moments of Belleau Woods, memories of comrades who died with their faces toward the foe, stirring events of the tremendous drama of the World War were recalled by Maj.-Gen. James G. Harbord, on the twelfth anniversary of this battle, in an address given yesterday at the reunion of the famous Second Division at the Alexandria.

There was a moment of silence following his address, and then a brief invocation for the heroic dead.

"KEYS TO CITY"

Mayor Porter surrendered Los Angeles to the veterans of the division in a brief address. Dist.-Atty. Fitts also extended a welcome to the visitors. Homer Chaillaux, Commander of the Seventeenth District of the American Legion, gave them the keys to the city. Adolph Sutro, national vice-president of the First Division Association, welcomed them as the "only equals" of the First.

Maj.-Gen. Harbord, president of the association, replied. He declared the welcome extended the organization by Los Angeles exceeded anything in the history of the association. The hospitality and welcome amazed him, he said. While there have been bigger conventions, from point of attendance, this gathering reached the high-water mark in welcome.

Gen. Harbord gave a technical description of the moves in the battle of Belleau Woods. He was in command of the division during the fight.

WHAT THEY DID

"Belleau Woods thrills the world today because America stood like a rock. It was you boys here before me who were on the front lines—it was you who held it fast and who gave to the world a new definition of courage and honor. It was your buddies who died, and mine, and while they died in honor it is for us to live in honor and carry on the precepts of courage that they died for."

He said that had Paris been captured, which it would have been were it not for the Second Division and other American units, the war would have been over quickly as the French had concentrated their munitions factories near Paris and that was what the Germans were driving for.

William Brandell, chairman of the convention committees, introduced a number of notables, including Brig.-Gen. H. A. Ingalls, Col. Harry Lee, Lieut.-Col. Burton W. Sibley, Col. Dan Moore, Col. A. W. Hemingar, Chaplain Patrick of the Twenty-third Engineers, Gen. E. A. Dunlop and others.

DETROIT MAKES BID

Detroit is making a bid for the next reunion. Toy automobiles were passed around by the Detroit delegation. The matter will be determined at the business session to be held this morning. Officers for the ensuing year will be named at this time and the convention will close with a banquet tonight.

Yesterday bus trips and visits to Hollywood studios in the afternoon and a fight card at the American Legion Stadium entertained the visitors. The Gold Star Mothers were guests of various patriotic organizations of Los Angeles.

PANTAGES FREED ON BOND

Theater Man Weeps as Supreme Court Allows His Release in $100,000 Bail Pending Appeal

Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, was released from the County Jail late yesterday afternoon on bond of $100,000 pending appeal of his conviction of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17 years of age, a dancer.

Pantages's release from jail came after more than seven months' incarceration following his conviction last October in Superior Court. Informed that the State Supreme Court had granted his release on bond, Pantages wept. He was seated on his cot in the jail hospital on the fourteenth floor of the Hall of Justice at the time and his hands involuntarily went to his eyes to wipe away the tears.

DOUBT EXPRESSED

An instant later he looked inquiringly at his informer and expressed doubt that it was true.

The first relative to visit Pantages yesterday morning after he learned of the court's action was his daughter, Carmen.

She embraced him and tears once again were evident as Pantages kissed her.

In quick succession came Mrs. Pantages, Lloyd Pantages and Mrs. Dixie Martin, adopted daughter. Soon the hospital ward had close to a score of persons in it including Frances De Curtins, the theater man's secretary; Ben F. Rosenberg, motion-picture executive; Frank Cotter of San Diego, James Patterson, former Greek consul at Atlanta, and friends.

Pantages's first disappointment came about noon when in ex-

BEAN WILL APPEAL HIS DISMISSAL

Former Policeman Will be Given Written Hearing on Drunkenness Charge

Notice that he is preparing an appeal against his dismissal last week by Chief of Police Steckel has been given in a letter written to the Police Commission by Capt. James F. Bean, formerly in charge of the homicide squad. The notice came within the five days' limit required by the charter for appeals against dismissals.

Under the charter the commission is compelled to grant Bean a public hearing. Under the new system adopted by the commission, however, the hearing will be in written form. The commission recently decided this plan would save time and save the members from being influenced by arguments.

Bean will be compelled to present

GROUP CLEARED IN JULIAN USURY

Sixteen Acquitted at Trial Before Judge Aggeler

Court Sustains Objections to Copies of Agreement

Case Lasts Four Weeks on Conspiracy Indictment

Sixteen Los Angeles business and professional men, indicted for asserted conspiracy to committ usury in connection with the Julian case, were acquitted of the charges yesterday by Superior Judge Aggeler, before whom the defendants have been on trial for the past four weeks. There was no jury, both sides having stipulated that the court might try the case alone.

In substance, Judge Aggeler ruled that the State's evidence did not "prove or tend to prove a conspiracy to violate the usury law." He technically acquitted the defendants for lack of evidence.

THOSE ACQUITTED

Those acquitted of the usury charge are Louis B. Mayer, Van R. Kelsey, Fred B. Harris, William Rhoades Hervey, W. I. Hollingsworth, Herbert A. Bell, Henry S. MacKay, Jr., Alvin H. Frank, Joe Toplitzky, E. L. McMullen, Albert Lane, Philip Grossman, David Fox, Motley H. Flint, Adolph Ramish and M. M. Cohan. Earlier in the trial charges had been dropped against Abe Prell and R. E. Moody.

This group consists of those who invested in the so-called Julian stock pool No. 1. Indictments against twenty-two men in a second Julian stock pool probably will be dropped as a result of Judge Aggeler's action yesterday. The second case is set for the 16th inst. in Judge Aggeler's court, but it has been stated in court by Special Prosecutor Stafford that the evidence in the second case in practically the same as that ruled insufficient yesterday.

COPIES SUBMITTED

The State's evidence in the trial just closed consisted mainly of a stock pool contract entered into by the defendants in 1926 and various thirty-day extension agreements signed later. For each extension, the terms of which stated that the pool stock was not to be thrown upon the market, the pool investors were paid $3 per share for each share of stock they held. When the prosecution offered photographic copies of these documents in evidence a week ago, the defense counsel objected that they were immaterial and did not prove that a public offense had been committed. A week's argument followed.

RULING OF JUDGE

In ruling yesterday Judge Aggeler said:

"The question before the court is the admissibility of a contract, in writing, dated September 21, 1926, and modifications thereof, dated November 9, 1926, December 9, 1926, January 10, 1927, and February 10, 1927. This contract with the supplemental agreements was between S. C. Lewis and A. C. Wagy & Co., Inc., and the defendants in this case. It was not a contract between the Julian Petroleum Corporation and the defendants. It has nothing to do with the overissue of stock by the Julian Petroleum Corporation. It deals with the sale by S. C. Lewis and A. C. Wagy & Co. of 64,517 shares of preferred stock owned by them to the defendants. The contract, evidenced in writing, which is the basis of the case of the plaintiff, of date of September 21, 1926, is conceded to be legal by the District Attorney. It is simply an outright sale and delivery of stock for which the defendants paid at the time of delivery in cash, $1,000,013.50.

OBJECTION SUSTAINED

"The contract sale of September 21, 1926, provided, under certain contingencies, for the repurchase by S. C. Lewis and A. C. Wagy & Co., Inc., of the stock. The agreement to repurchase was modified on November 9, 1926, December 9, 1926, January 10, 1927, and February 10, 1927, and because of these modifications, it is urged by the plain-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE publication of the census figures indicates that Los Angeles is getting to be a big boy—or is it a big girl?

In any case, this resounding whack will be heard around the world. And it will do a great deal to give the prosperity of this city a new leap forward. You have only to look at the statistics to realize that, right now, this is the white spot of industrial America. It will be whiter.

The industrial psychology of the situation is inescapable. Census figures show that enterprising people are rushing for Los Angeles; it is human nature to figure that something good must be the attraction—and join the rush.

CATCHING OUR BREATH

While business and employment in Los Angeles have been better than in most parts of the country, they have been none too good here.

The town has caught its breath, however, and the rest of the way will be smoother sailing. Much building is starting; the real estate market is picking up. By fall it looks as though we would be stepping high and handsome.

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

There is one fact about which I feel strongly.

At the pioneer dinner given by the Women's Athletic Club half the guests were on the verge of tears as the speakers talked of the old days of California. They were such happy, friendly, carefree days.

We are the edge of a new era. Los Angeles advances by eras. It is for us so to plan the new California that it will be as charming and as happy as the hacendado days. It should be happier.

There is no reason for gearing up this country to the point of strain and hurry. A visitor to California should feel himself slipping into an atmosphere of peace and serenity. That is what makes Santa Barbara the loveliest spot on the face of the earth. And don't forget that the new Santa Barbara—with its tranquility—was built by modern Americans, most of whom were successful business men—who had made fortunes in the wild scuffle.

PUNCTUALITY FIRST

I remember talking to an English business man who contended that American business men hurry because they plan their days so poorly. An English business man plans his day minute by minute.

Hector Alliot told me that he once came over to London from Paris to see an English business king on an important mission. He arrived ten minutes late. He was told by the secretary that, having missed the appointment, he might return in three weeks. That was the next vacancy.

POR NADA

Hundreds of thousands of dollars of free advertising is being wasted on the coming fisticuffs between two second-rate potwallopers—Jack Sharkey and Maxie Schmierkase—or whatever his unimportant name might be.

The folly of newspapers—and their readers—will result in both

CANNERS OF FISH ORGANIZE

Nineteen Companies, Representing 90 Per Cent of State's Output, Join Association

Packers of Northern and Southern California yesterday effected a first State-wide organization of the industry at a meeting in the city. It will be known as the California Fish Canners' Association, according to it yesterday were executives of nineteen companies, representing 90 per cent of the State's output of canned fish, valued at more than $30,000,000 yearly.

The association is an outgrowth of the Sardine Packers' Association and will absorb the recently effected Tuna Canners' Association, which dealt in mackerel as well. The purpose is unification for strength, market studies, improvement of pack, government co-operation and research.

It is understood Dr. Norman Hendrickson, scientist, will be engaged to direct laboratories and that the association will affiliate with the National Canners' Association.

This, however, is to be worked out by a committee appointed on constitution and by-laws to be ready for another meeting of all the canners at Del Monte within two weeks. Another committee will recommend an association manager at this meeting.

Yesterday's session was presided over by Frank Van Camp, president of the Van Camp Sea Food Company and of the Sardine Canners' Association. R. E. Ludlum served as secretary.

Concerns represented were F. E. Booth Company, Carmel Canning Company, Coast Fishing Company,

Only By The Angle of Their Caps Shall Ye Know Them

Headgear Indicates Personality of Graduates

Katheryn Logan, Mary Alice Barmore, Josephine Persech, Joel Holder and Peggy Keefe.

WHEN the 997 members of the graduating class of the University of California at Los Angeles receive their degrees at the Hollywood Bowl on the 20th inst., the only thing that will distinguish one from another will be the angle at which they wear their caps.

According to psychologists at U.C.L.A., the slant of the mortarboards indicates the personality and temperament of the wearers. The nonchalant co-ed will wear hers on the back of her head; those receiving Phi Beta Kappa keys will set theirs squarely in the middle with the tassle hanging over the left eye.

If the cap is worn tipped to the right it indicates, according to the psychologists, that the graduate has an agile mind and is destined to be successful in life. When at the opposite angle it shows that the wearer is of an introspective nature and will reach success only after great effort. The girl who aspires to social leadership will wear hers tipped precariously over one eye.

LEWIS TRIAL NEARS JURORS

Instructions in Bribe Case to be Read This Morning; Defendant Weeps as He Argues Cause

Nothing but Superior Judge McLucas's instructions to the jury remained last night to complete the trial on bribery charges of S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation. The instructions of the court will be given the jury of eight women and four men this morning at 9 o'clock.

A special night session of court ordered by Judge McLucas to hurry the trial, which has already taken more than two weeks, allowed Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello to finish his plea to the jury. Arguments began yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday after the morning session had been taken up by various minor witnesses Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones, who with Costello prosecuted the case, opened the State's argument and for a little more than an hour made a complete analysis of the prosecution testimony.

Witness by witness Jones discussed the testimony and pointed out to the jury the strong points of the prosecution case. The youthful prosecutor scored Lewis for his activities during the present trial and pointed out to the jury the weak points in the defense presented by the former oil promoter.

It was following Jones's argument that Lewis, acting as his own attorney, for more than two hours attacked the prosecution case, the conduct of both prosecution counsel, Dist.-Atty. Fitts, and all of the witnesses presented by the prosecution.

Lewis, who already is serving a

FLYERS SEEKING AMECO'S BODIES

Two Planes in Initial Quest; Five to Go Out Today

Morgan of Sheriff's Detail in Charge of Venture

Supervisors Order Drawing of Safety Regulations

While the Board of Supervisors yesterday took steps to regulate the operation of fishing boats to prevent a recurrence of a disaster such as overtook the boat Ameco, search for bodies of several believed lost in the capsizing was started by airplanes and will be continued today.

On motion of Supervisor Shaw, the Board instructed County Counsel Mattoon to prepare an ordinance which will have for its purpose the regulation of docking of boats of fifteen gross tons or less. By the terms of the proposed ordinance, which is being prepared by Deputy County Counsel McFadden, it is proposed to control loading of such vessels at ports in the county, and to take such other means as are necessary for the safety of passengers.

TWO PLANES IN QUEST

The air search was begun by Capt. Claude Morgan of the Sheriff's aviation detail. He obtained two planes yesterday from Lieut. William R. Sweeley, unit instructor and commandant of the reserve field at Long Beach, and they were manned by himself, Maj. William Frye, Capt. Harry Watson and Sergt. Pick.

Although yesterday's search was unsuccessful, Lieut. Sweeley announced last night that five planes will be supplied the observers today for the coast and sea patrol. Japanese fishing boats and other craft are aiding in the hunt for the bodies.

The proposed regulatory ordinance contemplated by the Board of Supervisors probably will be submitted Monday for adoption.

GRAND JURY ACTION

A complete transcript of the proceedings at the Coroner's inquest concerning the deaths of three persons drowned in Santa Monica when the fishing boat Ameco overturned a week ago will be handed to the criminal complaints committee of the grand jury for study early next week, Assistant Chief Deputy District-Attorney Jordan announced yesterday.

Jordan indicated he does not anticipate the filing of any criminal charges against anyone unless additional evidence is obtained. Recommendations probably will be made, however, for rigid legislation covering the operation of similar vessels in the future.

LIFEGUARDS LAUDED FOR AID IN DISASTER

A resolution commending the municipal lifeguards at Venice for their work in connection with the disaster to the fishing boat Ameco, which capsized on May 30 in Santa Monica Bay during a gale, has been passed unanimously by the Playground and Recreation Commission. The resolution points out that the guards remained on duty all night and rendered exceptional service in aiding the survivors.

INVENTOR W. H. KELLY SUCCUMBS

Originator of Metal Used in Bearings Had Followed Sea for Many Years

William H. Kelly, pioneer resident of Los Angeles and inventor of Kelly metal, died early yesterday at his home, 1518 West Twelfth street, after a lingering illness. He was 66 years of age and came to the Southland from San Francisco in 1906.

The invention that brought fame to Mr. Kelly is a fusion of lead and copper and is used in airplane, automobile and marine engine bearings.

Mr. Kelly followed the sea for many years and was the youngest chief engineer ever to take a ship out of San Francisco. For a long period he served on several United States transports, including the Meade and the Buford. When the Morgan City was lost during the Spanish-American War, he went down in a diving suit and retrieved a $250,000 sack of postage stamps and other valuable cargo. He also directed operations which saved the S. S. Novarro and her crew during a storm in Alaskan waters.

Mr. Kelly leaves his widow, Mrs. Elisabeth Kelly. His body is to be cremated and the ashes scattered over the ocean from an airplane.

ASSOCIATED OIL MEN TO MEET HERE TODAY

Fred S. Shoup, southern department manager for the Associated Oil Company; C. W. Mount, Jr., advertising assistant, and the entire Southern California sales organization of the company will be hosts to visiting company officials at a meeting here at the Jonathan Club today, at which will be presented and explained in its entirety the new advertising campaign being launched by the company in connection with its equifractionated gasoline. The visiting group will be headed by P. E. Allen, domestic sales manager, and will include A. A. Hock, credit manager; E. B. Montgomery, J. F. Johnston and Harold R. Deal. Deal will deliver the principal talk of the meeting.

INCREASE IN NAVY QUOTA ANNOUNCED

Recruits Beginning July 1 Will Be Accepted at Rate of Seventy-six Monthly

Beginning July 1, the monthly quota of enlistments in the Navy accepted by the Los Angeles district will be increased to seventy-six men, it was announced yesterday by the Navy Recruiting Station, now established in its new and larger quarters at 206 South Spring street. Authorization for the increase, following successive reductions in the monthly quota during the past fiscal year, is expected shortly to exhaust the present waiting list. After August, it is believed, enlistments will be consummated within one month.

During the fiscal year ending the 30th inst., the maximum quota has been sixty men per month. This has been reduced repeatedly, with an allowance of only fifteen applicants accepted for first enlistment this month. First enlistments for May were limited to thirty men. About 150 applications at present are being investigated.

The Los Angeles district embraces all territory from Bakersfield to the border, as well as the entire State of Arizona. Information concerning current and prospective movements of the battle fleet may be obtained by calling the Navy Recruiting Station at MUtual 7923.

NOMINATING PETITIONS RECORDED

Additional Candidates File for Next August Primary Election

Nominating petitions were filed yesterday by the following persons, who seek to have their names appear as candidates on the ballot at the primary election next August, it was announced last night by Registrar of Voters Kerr:

Edward O. McCaige, 355 San Joe street, Puente, for justice of the peace of Rowland township; F. G. Wilson, 401 California avenue, El Monte, for justice of the peace of El Monte township; Ida May Adams, 2633 Ellendale Place, for office No. 1 of Superior Court; Frank J. Smith, 2137 Princeton avenue, Republican, for State Treasurer; Lester E. Hardy, 10413 Park avenue, Culver City, for justice of the peace of Venice township.

Wilford W. Simon, 449 Columbia street, Pomona, for justice of the peace of San Jose township; Paul H. Wayte, State Hospital, Norwalk, for justice of the peace of Norwalk township; Sam M. Greene, 509 East Nutwood street, Inglewood, Republican, for Assembly, Sixty-fifth District; John F. McNeil, 214 West Tenth street, Lancaster, for justice of the peace of Antelope township, and Albert F. Monroe, 423 La Colina Drive, Inglewood, for justice of the peace of Inglewood township.

Another Warm Day Forecast by Observers

Another warm day can be expected today, the observers at the local United States Weather Bureau predicted last night.

It probably will be cooler than yesterday, however, when the thermometer reached 86 deg. shortly after noon, they said.

Yesterday's highest mark was 9 deg. above the average maximum June temperature, but there was nothing "unusual" about it as records show that for the same month in past years "warm spells" generally have occurred.

A warning of increasing fire hazard was sounded by the weather men. They stated that the humidity will be low today and probably tomorrow.

The forest reserves have been closed to smoking, excepting in restricted areas.

Camp Seeley Ready to Open

Vacation time will arrive tomorrow for many Los Angeles families when Camp Seeley in the San Bernardino Mountains opens its summer outing program under the direction of the Playground and Recreation Department.

Registrations received up to yesterday indicated that the camp will be nearly filled when the first vacation period gets under way. The playground, while operated as a year 'round outing resort for transients, offers in addition American plan vacations which include all necessary expenses during the summer months. The housekeeping cabins and auto camp, in use throughout the year, also are maintained during the vacation season.

Ex-Prisoners Given Places

Seventy-three ex-prisoners were placed in jobs during May by the Sheriff's contact office, the report of R. E. Frith, contact officer, revealed yesterday. The number increases to 1936, the total of jobs arranged for by the office since its establishment, June 15, 1927.

Of the 258 ex-prisoners handled during the month just ended, 178 were found to have obtained positions through their own efforts. The office still is trying to place seven others. Loans in May totaled eighty-nine, bringing the total to date to 1661 and representing an outlay of $4947.75.

PROTESTS DELAYED

The hearing of the protests against widening Sherman Way from its northerly line to Van Nuys Boulevard was continued by the City Council yesterday until the 27th inst. Hearing of protests against establishing setback lines in Kingsley Drive from Romaine street to Lemon Grove avenue was continued until the 25th inst.

TROJAN DINNER FETES BIRTHDAY

Fifty Years Celebrated at Jubilee Banquet

Notables Speak on Outlook for Bright Future

Statue Symbolic of College Spirit Unveiled

Seven hundred alumni and visitors last night hailed the University of Southern California's next fifty years at the alumni golden jubilee banquet in the Ambassador. The dinner followed within a few hours the unveiling of a heroic figure in bronze set up on the southeast corner of the plot of ground occupied by Bovard Auditorium as another picture of the U.S.C. semi-centennial celebration.

Spirit of Troy Portrayed
Dr. Harold Stonier delivering principal address at unveiling of U.S.C. shrine.

Dr. Harold J. Stonier, educational director of the American Institute of Banking, was toastmaster. Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university, spoke on the institution's future, in which he foresaw unsurpassed opportunities to serve more fully the needs of this great city. Other banquet speakers were Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, Chief Justice Waste of the State Supreme Court, Dr. Henry Suzzallo, chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Education, and George Finley Bovard, president emeritus of the University of Southern California.

STATUE UNVEILED

Among the banqueters were 200 representatives of foreign and other American educational institutions.

At the unveiling ceremonies yesterday afternoon, each speaker stressed the Trojan spirit, keynote of the university.

Standing upon an eight-foot granite base, the sides of which are ornamented with bronze panels with athletic figures in relief, the statue of the Trojan is vital with life and action. The front of the base carries the seal of the university, beneath which are graven the words which interpret the meaning of "The Trojan Spirit." These words are: Faithfulness, Scholarship, Skillfulness, Courage, Ambition, and were touched upon by the speakers in the presentation of the shrine, the gift of the alumni association.

UNVEILED BY COED

After the introduction of Dr. Roger Nobel Burnham, who created and executed the shrine, the statue was unveiled by Miss Janet McCoy, daughter of Dr. James McCoy, graduate of the college of dentistry in the class of 1906, and past-president of the alumni association. Miss McCoy is herself a junior and recently elected as vice-president of her class for the coming year.

Dr. Burnham paid high tribute to those who had a part in the creation of the shrine, and especially to Harry Lee Martin, an alumnus and chairman of the Trojan Shrine Committee.

Dr. Harold Stonier, now director of education for the American Institute of Banking, an alumnus and formerly vice-president of the university, made the chief address.

The speaker referred to the history of Troy and to the proud place her sons had taken in the ancient world.

"In spite of faulty records of Troy's glorious past, we know that her men were of exceptional character. 'He works like a Trojan' is our most familiar symbol and how often today we hear of a man that he is 'As brave as a Trojan'," the speaker said.

LOYALTY STRESSED

"We know that those Trojans were loyal to the ideals of their city and in choosing the Trojan as the symbol of the University of Southern California it has been felt that her sons might constantly aspire to be worthy of that high legend."

Dr. Stonier referred to the fiftieth anniversaries of many of the great universities, and pointed out that not one of them had gone so far or achieved so much as had the University of Southern California, which had reached the time for its golden jubilee.

George Arliss, stage and screen star, wearing the blue and white hood of a master of arts from Columbia University, followed Dr. Stonier and read a message from J. L. Warner of Warner Brothers. He said, in part:

"To tell stories by means of pictures is, I suppose, the most primitive stage of education, while the literature of any country is its crowning glory. With the coming of talking pictures we automatically achieved literature.

"There has not been such a stimulus to the drama in all its history as that offered by the mechanical device which permits the best the country can produce to be seen and heard in the most obscure corners of the earth," the speaker said.

PURE SPEECH URGED

Mr. Arliss deplored the tendency toward slipshod speech, and said there was nothing essentially manly or clever in clumsy half-formed words.

More than 300 distinguished educators and scientists were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday at which Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university, was the chairman, and John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Among other speakers was the Visconde de Casa Aguilar, personal representative of the King of Spain, who paid high tribute to the late Charles Lummis, and said that a statue to the memory of the author of "The Spanish Pioneers" was to be erected at the College of Madrid.

SHRINE INSPIRES LOFTY IDEALISM

seven-year sentence in McNeil Island, broke down and wept while pleading with the jury not to add another ten years to his present sentence. In the main portion of his argument the former oil man charged that he was the victim of a plot directed at him because of his assistance to the stockholders of his former company in their efforts to recover something from the crash of the Julian company.

Closing for the prosecution Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello for two hours made a powerful plea to the jury to convict Lewis. The prosecutor again went over the entire case as presented by the State and told of how through J. H. Weaver, the confessed go-between, Lewis reached out and attempted to bribe Mrs. Caroline B. Love, a juror in the first Julian trial in 1926.

"This man bought Weaver and then attempted to buy both Mrs. Love and her husband," argued Costello. "He gave Weaver $10,000 to give to Mrs. Love and it was with this money that he was attempting to buy his freedom."

During the morning session Mrs. Laura Weaver, wife of the confessed go-between, testified that her husband had given her large sums of money to keep for him. She stated that he brought the money home during the Julian trial. The amounts named by Mrs. Weaver were the same as those testified to by Weaver as coming from Lewis.

Following Mrs. Weaver, Glen E. Bodell, a private investigator, called by Lewis, declared from the witness stand that he had called upon the woman and that she had informed him that her husband had never given her any money.

Mrs. Weaver during her testimony explained this by declaring that she had misunderstood Bodell when he questioned her. She stated that she believed that he asked her if Lewis had ever given her any money in the asserted jury bribery plot.

Judge McLucas who has kept the jury under lock and key since the trial got under way more than two weeks ago declared after ordering the night session that he will instruct the jury this morning.

FLYER TO TEST RADIO ON HOP TO TORONTO

Planning to try for new air records for speed on long-distance flights, Lee Schoenhair, pilot of Miss Silvertown, the Lockheed-Vega plane owned by the Goodrich Rubber Company, took off from Los Angeles yesterday for the East to test the new radio set installed in the plane by engineers of Western Air Express. The long-wave radio set, powered by a small motor generator, will be used by Schoenhair to pick up government weather reports and radio range beacons. During his trip, Schoenhair plans to visit the Shrine convention in Toronto, which opens Monday.

DELEGATES GO EAST FOR CONVENTION

Junior Chamber Members Will Fight to Win Double Honors for Southland

Determined to bring the national convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to Los Angeles in 1932, a delegation of the local organization left last night for the East on the Golden State Limited. The gathering of the national organization will be held in Brooklyn, on the 11th to 14th inst.

Those in the party are L. D. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Barcome, Joe H. Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. Durwald Howes, Louis Ireland, J. Lamar Butler and Robert McCourt, Jr. Durward Howes, who is now executive vice-president of the United States body, is slated for advancement to the position of president, according to his friends, who hope to see him given this honor at the Brooklyn convention.

Most of the party are planning visits in eastern parts after the convention. A larger delegation of friends and fellow-members of the junior chamber were at the depot to see the Los Angeles delegation leave.

tiff, that the defendants conspired to commit usury.

"It is the opinion of the court that these documents do not prove or tend to prove a conspiracy to violate the usury law and are, therefore, immaterial. The objection of the defendants is sustained."

After the court had ruled, Special Prosecutor Stafford said that he did not see how the State could prove its case without the documents that had been ruled immaterial, and, as the case had been characterized by some unusual legal procedure, he was at a loss how to proceed and suggested that the trial be continued until Monday.

ACQUITTAL FOLLOWS

This suggestion brought strenuous objection from the score of defense counsel, and finally a suggestion that both sides rest their case and let the court take the next step was adopted. Judge Aggeler then acquitted each of the defendants.

Before he rested his case, however, Stafford said that the indictment had been returned by the District Attorney's office and the grand jury in good faith and on the belief that an offense had been committed. Various defense counsel said that they had no desire to cast any aspersions upon the prosecutors, but believed that the defendants had been conclusively shown as innocent and should be acquitted without further delay.

SECOND INDICTMENT

This is the second time the defendants have been indicted on the same charge. The 1927 grand jury returned the first usury indictment, but the cases were dismissed by Superior Judge Doran. Later several were tried individually in the Municipal courts for the misdemeanor offense of simple usury but none was convicted. The indictment which resulted in the trial just ended was returned by the 1930 grand jury during its recent revised investigation of the Julian case.

Arrayed against Special Prosecutor Stafford was a formidable battery of defense attorneys, including Jerry Geisler, former Judge John Perry Wood, Le Compte Davis, Byron Hanna, J. Wiseman MacDonald, William Neblett, Mendel Silberberg, Clare Woolwine, Isaac Pacht and others.

W. T. Barnett's Rites Conducted

Funeral services for William T. Barnett, Los Angeles pioneer, who died unexpectedly Thursday, were conducted at 2 p.m. yesterday at the Malinow & Simons Chapel, 1218 South Flower street, with Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin officiating.

Mr. Barnett was 79 years of age. He came here from Macon, Ga., his birthplace, when a young man; and for many years served as secretary of the congregation of B'nai B'rith. He and Mrs. Barnett recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Besides Mrs. Rachael Barnett, his widow, Mr. Barnett leaves one son, L. W. Barnett. The family residence is at 1018 Elden avenue.

AIRPLANE SERVICE TO YOSEMITE READY

Air transportation service for tourists to and from Yosemite National Park will be inaugurated tomorrow from Los Angeles and San Francisco, adding an entire day to the vacations of travelers who use it. The new service is announced by H. W. Beck, western traffic manager for the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines. It will be effective until the close of the summer tourist season September 1. Fares are approximately the same as for existing transportation tariffs.

COMMENCEMENT OPENS AT OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE

The first event of four days crowded with scheduled events marking the opening of the thirty-eighth annual commencement season was held last night at Occidental College, when twelve newly initiated members of the honor fraternity Phi Beta Kappa were guests at a dinner at the College Union.

The dinner was sponsored by the Delta chapter of the fraternity and the new members introduced are Katherine Clove, Esther Earl, Harold Gresham, Mary Hartshorn, Roma Holly, Marian Lyle, Lyle McAllister, Helen Montgomery, Vincent Parsons, Charles Pershing, Lucien Shaw and Addison White.

Many diversified events are scheduled for today in honor of visiting alumni, with a variety of athletic contests, dedication of the new Thompson gates at the Ridgeview-avenue entrance, a reception for graduates and alumni by Dr. and Mrs. Remsen D. Bird, president of the college, and an alumni dinner, which will be held at 6 p.m. in the College Union.

A vesper communion service will be held Sunday afternoon and this will be followed by the baccalaureate service at 7 o'clock in the Hillside Theater with a procession of seniors and faculty from Erdman Gardens to the bowl. Rev. John R. Atwill, rector of Our Savior of San Gabriel Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

The graduation of 120 seniors will take place Monday evening, when Dr. Henry Nelson Wieman of the University of Chicago will be the principal speaker.

MADE-IN-STATE LIST TO EXPAND

Steps Taken to Attract New Industries Here

Report Given at Meeting of Chamber Council

Launching of Olympic Traffic Committee Told

Southern Californians were given a glimpse of a future in which they will be able to fill their wants from a still greater list of California-made articles.

This developed at a meeting of the Southern Council of the California Chamber of Commerce at the Alexandria, with about 100 leading men and women of the ten southern counties in attendance. Dr. T. C. Young of Glendale, regional director and chairman of the southern council, presided.

A. E. Holloway, chairman of the industrial committee, held out the prospect of an expanded list of articles manufactured in California in a report in which he told of steps taken to prepare a list of outstanding articles that are not manufactured in California, but which may be successfully manufactured here.

It was proposed that the Purchasing Agents' Association of Los Angeles be requested to make a survey of home industries in connection with the plans.

REPORTS GIVEN

Holloway's report was one of seven recitals to the council at a noon meeting at which the results of committee meetings throughout the morning were told.

Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish, vice-chairman of the safety committee, reported the launching of an Olympic traffic committee at the morning group meeting. The Olympic traffic body, she said, will work actively for universal State traffic laws, with the automobile problems believed likely to develop with the rush of motorists to Los Angeles for the 1932 Olympic Games in mind.

Efforts will be made to arouse the interest of other States directly and, also, to work in sympathy with President Hoover's national commission on highways.

"We hope to make California the 'white spot' of courtesy and understanding in highway matters," said Mrs. Irish. "Our program is educational; we are not concerned with enforcement."

PLAN SUPPORTED

Justice of the Peace Cook of Westmoreland and Judge Mayfield of El Centro attended the safety committee meeting and told of plans to speed the committee's campaign in the Imperial Valley.

Wallace Woodworth, chairman of the highways committee, told of progress in a movement to remove objectionable signs from road sides. Progress also was reported in connection with the placing of historical highway directional markers. Ernest East, engineer of the Automobile Club of Southern California, made a report on the recent tour to Mexico City and the proposed International highway from Los Angeles to the Canal Zone.

Working out of a program looking toward the elimination of air traffic over motion-picture studios was proposed at the meeting of the aeronautical committee. It was also decided to ask the Department of Commerce to make an investigation of advertising beacon lights in and about Los Angeles.

CONVENTION SOUGHT

Acting Chairman Harry S. Webster of the publicity committee reported that a local representative will attend the convention of the National Editorial Association in Milwaukee the 16th, 17th and 18th inst., and present an invitation for the organization's 1932 convention.

C. E. Kelsey reported on the work of the conservation committee and H. W. Postlethwaite on the work of the agricultural committee.

Postlethwaite said farm labor is adequate for the present but added there is considerable question as to whether the needs of the fall may be met.

F. J. Palomares, manager of the Agricultural Labor Bureau of the San Joaquin Valley, Inc., related that the labor question in the San Joaquin district has been beclouded by the recruiting in California by other States of farm laborers. He commended that there is a sufficient supply of labor for the present, but said that between 25,000 and 30,000 workers will be needed later to harvest the fruit and cotton crops.

CHURCH DISAPPEARANCE REVIEWED IN COURT SUIT

The mysterious disappearance of a church corner-stone, and later, the equally inscrutable vanishing of the church itself were reviewed by Superior Judge Hanby yesterday, in the course of the trial of an injunction suit brought by members of the Mt. Olive Missionary Baptist Church (colored) to oust Rev. James Spencer as minister of the congregation.

At the conclusion of the hearing, during which affidavits by deacons supporting Spencer were opposed to affidavits of other deacons denouncing his stewardship of the flock, Judge Hanby refused to grant the injunction, observing that, inasmuch as the session of prayer he suggested had failed to bring about peaceable compromise, the matter had best be laid before the proper religious authorities for adjustment.

The schism in congregational affairs at Mt. Olive first developed when one faction of the congregation, asserting that Spencer was quarrelsome and disposed to un-Christian use of his fists in shepherding his charge, voted to oust him and install Rev. H. D. Prowd. But Spencer went right ahead and inclosed his own name as pastor in the corner-stone intended for a church edifice to be moved to a site at 9825 Zamora street.

Later the corner-stone disappeared. Another one was obtained, however, and shortly thereafter a church building was provided to hold it down. Later this also disappeared.

The matter of the peripatetic church was compromised by financial negotiation with the owners, but to the anti-Spencerian faction, the event was as the final straw on the overladen camel. Feeling themselves outraged, certain members of the congregation hired Lawyer Lewis Hicks, and started suit, to enjoin their pastor from interfering with church affairs, particularly the circulation of the collection basket at services.

The legal points in the controversy, which were followed with great interest by practically the entire congregation in Judge Hanby's courtroom yesterday, [illegible] moot point of whether the procedure outlined in Edward [illegible] Baptist Church [illegible] followed in dismissing [illegible]

"I am sure you appreciate [illegible] courts are overloaded with [illegible] said Judge Hanby in [illegible] suit, "and realize that it would be better for your Baptist [illegible] body to settle your differences [illegible] the court."

BANQUET OF ALUMNI SET FOR TONIGHT

Los Angeles High School Graduates Will Pay Honor to Old-Time Pupils

Graduates and alumni of the Los Angeles High School will gather tonight in the school cafeteria for the annual banquet of the Alumni Association, at which special honor will be accorded to the classes of 1880 and 1905.

One of the features of the meeting will be inspection of the new Memorial Library from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and the program will include addresses by Edwin Meserve, Albert Clapp and Miss Sara Reese, according to announcement made by Samuel L. Kreider, president of the association, who will preside.

Special guests of honor will be Mrs. Adelaide Hellman, 90-year-old mother of Maurice Hellman, graduate of 1880; Mrs. Margaret J. Frick, former vice-principal of Los Angeles High School, and Dr. Joseph P. Widney, who, as the president of the Board of Education, presented diplomas to the graduating class in 1880.

Surviving members of the class include, Ada Biles Marshall, Albert Clapp, Nellie Curtis Short, Jessie Gibson Dunham, William Grosser, Edith Hadley Edwards, Maurice Hellman, Rebecca Levanthal Voorsanger, Edwin A. Meserve, Sara C. Reese, Lizzie Thayer Lathrop and Mamie Woodworth Camp.

Insanity Fear Causes Man to End Own Life

Fear that he was losing his mind was ascribed yesterday by deputy sheriffs as the reason for Alvin Block, 42 years of age, a patient of the Alhambra Sanatorium, 1047 Rosemead avenue, Rosemead district, taking his own life by firing a bullet through his head.

Block, Deputy Sheriffs Purdue and Coombs reported, sent his nurse, Mrs. Lavina Feller, out of the room. On her return a few minutes later he was found shot through the right temple and with the gun close by. He died en route to Stanley's Hospital in El Monte and the body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Addleman & Klingerman.

Addresses on papers gave Block's home address as 1020 North Flower street, Santa Ana.

Excursionists Visitors Today

A special Santa Fe train of fifteen cars bearing approximately 165 persons en route from New York to San Francisco for the annual convention of the National Electric Light Association, beginning there the 16th inst., will arrive in Los Angeles at 9:45 p.m. today after its passengers have put in most of the afternoon at Riverside and taken dinner at the Mission Inn.

This party left Chicago on the 1st inst. and spent yesterday at Grand Canyon, with stops at Kansas City, Colorado Springs, Santa Fe and Albuquerque. The party will spend two days in Los Angeles and one in San Diego before the train is moved to San Francisco.

Murder Trial Recesses as State Closes

With the close of the prosecution's case against August A. Gingell, on trial for murder in Superior Judge McComb's court, the case was adjourned yesterday until Monday morning, when the defense will present its testimony.

Gingell is charged with murdering his estranged wife and her assorted sweetheart, Sigurd Bjorneby, in an apartment at 1225 West Sixth street, on February 21, last.

SYRIAN GROUP WILL REPEAT BENEFIT

The performance of "A Victim of Despotism," five-act drama of Turkey, given by Syrian Marounite Catholics Thursday night for the benefit of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Lebanon, will be repeated tomorrow evening in the Blessed Sacrament Auditorium, 6657 Sunset Boulevard. It is to be acted in the Arabic tongue. In the cast are Toofik Simon, film player and technical adviser, who plays two roles; Andrew McKanna and Miss Linda Lebbos. The play was written by George Baik Maloof and directed by Aisar Gandour.

REDUCING DIET GOES TOO FAR

Despondent Devotee, Unable to Hit Happy Medium, Tries to End All

With crushing embarrassment Mrs. Freda Saitlen, 50-year-old housewife, stepped on the scales about fourteen months ago and learned she weighed 200 pounds. To reduce she ate only lettuce and drank only orange juice.

Having carried the diet to extreme measures, she tipped the scales yesterday at less than 100 pounds. Being painfully thin was less to be desired than being uncomfortably stout; so in a spell of despondency over her plight she swallowed poison.

Her husband found her in agony and rushed her to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where surgeons report she will recover.

YOUNG ARCHITECT WINS AWARD

Prize of $8000 Provides Study in Rome

Walter L. Reichardt and His Plans

WHEN Walter Louis Reichardt arrives home from college next week he will bring with him the Prix de Rome, an award for outstanding excellence in architecture, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Reichardt, who is 22 years of age, has just graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. He is a product of the Los Angeles public schools, having attended West Vernon grammar school and Polytechnic High School.

The Prix de Rome award carries with it the payment to the winner of $8000 to cover expenses for three years of study at the American Academy in Rome, under the auspices of which the contest was held. Herman Reichardt of 2005½ Third avenue, father of the young man, said that great credit is due the faculty of Polytechnic High School for giving his son the proper groundwork in his education, and particular praise is due C. A. Faithfull, instructor in architecture.

Mr. Reichardt won the award in a competition in which more than 900 students of architecture at eastern colleges and technical schools participated. His entry was a plan and design for a church.

His mother will not be here to share in her son's honor, for she died only two months ago.

Death Strikes Daughter of Andreas Pico

Mrs. Carolina Pico de Saiz, a daughter of Gen. Andreas Pico and a niece of Gov. Pio Pico of early California history, died yesterday in a private hospital in Pasadena. She was born in Los Angeles eighty-four years ago and lived in this city until two years ago, when she made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Chester Sexton, at El Monte.

Mrs. Pico de Saiz was paralyzed during the last three years of her life. She was known to many of the original residents of Los Angeles.

Rosary services will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Wendell P. Cabot chapel, 27 Chestnut street, Pasadena. Funeral services will be from the chapel at 9 a.m. Monday, and mass at St. Elizabeth's Church, Pasadena, at 9:30 a.m., followed by interment in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Pico de Saiz was the widow of Jesus Saiz, and was the mother of twelve children. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Chester Sexton of El Monte and Mrs. George Yager of Placerville, a son, Andrew Stanard of Oakland, and six grandchildren, Walter Stanard, Andrew Stanard, Jr., Ed Cummings, Jr., Benjamin Pico, Mrs. W. Kemp and Mrs. Carrie Hornberger of Tehachapi.

Missing Co-ed's Relatives Hunt Her in Bay City

Convinced that Miss Bernardine Alice Giddens, missing Los Angeles university co-ed, is hiding in San Francisco, relatives of the missing girl have concentrated their search in that city and, according to word received last night by Mrs. Wilda Giddens from her son, the girl possibly may be living in the Bay City under an assumed name.

Ray A. Giddens, a brother of Miss Giddens, learned in San Francisco yesterday that the girl had occupied her cabin on board a steamer bound for San Francisco on the night of May 27, dispelling a theory that she might have left the ship before it sailed from Los Angeles.

The girl's brother yesterday was checking records of telephone, gas and electric companies to determine if she made an application for service.

NEBRASKANS TO MEET

Former residents of Cass county, Nebraska, will join tomorrow in a picnic at Bixby Park, Long Beach, it was announced by Mrs. Anna J. Davis of Downey, secretary of the organization.

Speed Classic in Latest Issue of News Reel

Automobiles, speeding at more than 100 miles an hour are shown in the latest issue of The Times-Universal Newsreel, to be released at local theaters. Billy Arnold is pictured winning the 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Speedway. Graham McNamee, as the newsreel's talking reporter, adds a vivid oral account of the speed classic.

Other important news events in this issue include the landing of the Graf Zeppelin at Lakehurst on its four-continent flight, the Columbia-Pennsylvania varsity shell race, the Memorial Day G.A.R. parade in New York City and the trial flight of a new mystery plane at Seattle.

The schedule may be obtained by telephoning the Newsreel Booker at REpublic 3171 and asking about Newsreel No. 45.

Salvation Army Officer Buried

The last rites for Adjt. Marie Hamilton, 58 years of age, retired Salvation Army officer, were conducted yesterday at the Salvation Army plot in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Speakers included Commander Adam Gifford, commander of the work in twelve western States; Maj. Percy Morton, and Col. Blanche B. Cox. Taps were played by Capt. Edwin Taylor.

Adjt. Hamilton died Wednesday at her home in San Diego. She had been bedridden since the death of her husband two years ago.

Born in Denmark, she came to the United States at the age of 18. She spent her entire life in America in the work of the Salvation Army. She leaves a daughter, Miss Helen Hamilton, and a son, William Hamilton.

CITY ATTORNEY AIDE IN BED DUE TO FALL

A fall off a horse has put Rose Phillips, deputy City Attorney, in bed for three weeks, it was learned yesterday. A week ago Sunday Miss Phillips was riding along the trails of Griffith Park when she tumbled from her steed. After suffering for several days she consulted a physician and the X-ray showed three displaced vertebrae. She is at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

SPEAKERS PLAN REUNION

A reunion of graduates of the Franklin Evening High School's public-speaking class will be held in Room 402 at the school, Fifty-fourth avenue and York Boulevard, Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Members of the current class will be hosts. The program will include readings by Miss Dorothy Bell. Mrs. Elizabeth Cloud Miller is the instructor.

ARMY MURDER QUIZ EXTENDED

Long-Interred Corpse Here May be Exhumed

Body of Accused Officer's First Wife Sought

Charge of Slaying Second Spouse Pending

Coroner Nance last night was awaiting a formal request from Federal authorities asking that the body of Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Shepard, buried seventeen years ago, be disinterred as a part of the investigation of murder charges against Maj. Charles A. Shepard, an army officer under indictment at Topeka, Kan.

Maj. Shepard was indicted last March for the murder of his second wife, formerly Miss Zenna McCoskey of Los Angeles, and is at liberty under $20,000 bail pending trial next December.

The move to disinter Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Shepard, the officer's first wife, who is buried at Inglewood, is a new angle of the government's investigation and is under the direction of R. J. Caffrey, Department of Justice agent from Washington.

LEGAL QUESTION

Caffrey interviewed Coroner Nance to determine if the local Coroner has jurisdiction to disinter the body, or if that right is vested in the Coroner of san Bernardino county in which county, Mrs. Shepard died, although buried here.

Coroner Nance says County Counsel Mattoon has ruled that the Los Angeles Coroner's office has the authority to order the body exhumed, and he will co-operate with the Department of Justice if a formal request is made.

The government investigators decline to comment on the probable request to Nance, or what their suspicions are in connection with the investigation.

If possible traces of poison are sought County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner and Nance believe such traces—if they ever existed—may have been dissipated since burial seventeen years ago.

DAUGHTER ALSO DEAD

The first Mrs. Shepard died at Needles in 1913, and the second—for whose murder Maj. Shepard is charged—died a year ago at Fort Riley, Kan. Edna Shepard, a daughter of the first wife, died eighteen months after her mother. She lived at 2421 West Twenty-second street.

Maj. Shepard was arrested last March in Denver, after the Topeka indictment was returned against him.

Southland and Argentina Alike

Southern California and the Argentine have much in common, according to Dr. Juan Carlos Godoy, Argentine Consul-General at San Francisco, who is in Los Angeles this week attending the semicentennial anniversary of the University of Southern California.

"Both have the mixture of the Teutonic, the Anglo-Saxon and Latin blood. The climate of Los Angeles and vicinity is practically the same and both sections are growing rapidly. The visit of the tourists from Southern California to the Argentine has done much to strengthen friendly feelings," he said.

"I am amazed at the size of the University of Southern California. To have accomplished this miracle of organization and construction speaks for the progress of this great community. We find that it pays to send many of our young people to the schools of this State."

Dr. and Mrs. Godoy are stopping at the Mayfair and will return to San Francisco Monday.

Former Idaho State Leader Buried Today

Ezra A. Burrell, retired banker and former Lieutenant-Governor of Idaho, who died Thursday, will be laid to rest today in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Funeral services will be conducted at the W. M. Strother chapel, 6240 Hollywood Boulevard, at 3 p.m.

Mr. Burrell was 62 years of age. He came to Los Angeles in 1918. For many years prior to his retirement he had been active in Idaho politics. He was a Mason and a Shriner. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Edith F. Burrell, and one daughter, Mrs. Emelia Burrell Knodell. The family home is at 1425 North Orange Grove avenue.

BREAKFAST TO AID HOME

Invitations have been sent by Marco H. Hellman for a breakfast to be given Monday at the Breakfast Club, 3213 Riverside Drive. Several hundred guests are expected. The motif will be the emergency building fund of the Hebrew Sheltering Home for the Aged, of which Mr. Hellman is general chairman.

CAUSE OF FATAL BLAST UNEXPLAINED AT INQUEST

Cause of a gas explosion and fire which wrecked a building at One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street and Harbor Boulevard early last Wednesday morning and resulted in fatal injuries to Frank Oberle, 66 years of age, and his wife, Caroline Dora, 56, could not be determined yesterday by a jury at a Coroner's inquest conducted at the Whittington funeral parlors, Gardena.

While finding the deaths of the couple to have been accidental and without negligence on the part of any one, the jury recommended that proper authorities conduct an investigation.

Two theories of how the explosion and subsequent fire may have resulted were advanced by witnesses under questioning by Deputy Coroner Kane.

Joseph F. Wagner, 16900 Harbor Boulevard, a friend, testified he talked to Oberle at the Torrance Memorial Hospital shortly before the man and his wife expired and that Oberle told him he was in the act of lighting a gas plate when the explosion occurred.

Hearing the explosion and seeing the flames leaping from the building, Charles Straumers, owner of the property, who lives at 16512 Harbor Boulevard, testified that he and his sons reached the burning structure in time to see Oberle near the gas plate and his wife attempting to make an exit from the rear door.

Straumers also testified, that the day previous repairs were being made on a gas main in the street and that he had detected the odor of gas escaping which may have seeped into numerous gopher holes in and adjoining the property, permeating the house during the night. He and other witnesses stated flames were coming from the ground several feet distant from the house.

This is just the time of the year to have your down coverlet renovated and recovered by the Western Feather and Down Works, whose address is 1205 West Washington street. Telephone number WEstmore 9654. They do beautiful work at phenomenally small prices. Call them now, why don't you?

Wouldn't you like to have an opportunity to learn profitable trades for home or commercial purposes. Candy making, chocolate dipping, glace fruit, cake ornamenting, ice cream and drinks for soda fountains; the Liberty Candy and Supply Co. will teach you either personally or by mail. Their address is fourth floor, Grant Bldg., 355 S. Broadway. TU. 4156.

Embroidery hoops and cheesecloth for cooling dishes—When putting puddings or other dishes out of doors to cool, use a cover made of embroidery hoops of proper size with cheesecloth put in as a piece of embroidery is. The contents will be safe from dust while the air can circulate freely. The hoops keep the cloth from getting in the contents and weigh enough to keep it from blowing off.

Nothing looks more attractive in your beach cottage than Fluff rugs or Colonial rugs. The Hoffman Rug Works, 2914 W. Jefferson, (EMpire 2048.) make them at a very reasonable price out of your old carpets and rags. Order them now, why don't you?

When the lids of saucepans need to be kept raised while cooking, use a clothespin with a tack in the top near the head; place the pin over the edge of the pan the same as on a clothesline and rest the lid on the tack.

For those of you who are planning trips it would be profitable to see the many useful and compact articles for travelers shown at the Steinen Cutlery Shop at 210 West Third (VAndike 5791.) So many practical things for both men and women you'll find there . . . and inexpensive are they, too!

To give soup a rich, creamy taste put in for each quart of soup a piece of cheese about the size of a walnut just before serving. Adding a little celery salt to potato soup gives it a delicious flavor. Grated cheese is fine for onion soup.

I'll wager that you all thought your days for having "mint juleps" were gone forever—but such is not the case . . . though we'll admit there is a difference in the mint juleps you may have today, but the modern version of this celebrated drink—the recipe for which is given us by the Italian Vineyard Company, is wonderfully delectable and on these hot June days just touches the spot!

This recipe I speak of calls for Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice, which is absolutely indispensable in every well regulated family—particularly during the summer months. It just makes your desserts and cooling beverages! Order a quart or gallon of Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice this very day and make right off the reel this marvelous mint julep.

P.S.: All better stores sell this product of the Italian Vineyard Company.

MINT JULEP

Add one quart charged water, one-half cupful lemon juice and one-half cupful chopped mint leaves to ten-ounce can of Guasti Pure Concentrated Grape Juice. Garnish glass with sprig of mint and a slice of orange.

If you are particular about your dry cleaning, and laundry work being done expertly then you will want at once the phone number of the Crown Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company. There is a great deal of satisfaction to be derived by their work which speaks for itself—no higher compliment can I pay them. WEstmore 6351 is their number.

Onions for seasoning—Plant one or two sprouting onions in a pot of good mold and place on the kitchen window sill; shoots soon appear which may be removed for flavoring soups, etc., and others soon take their place; the onions continue sprouting a long time. Chives and parsely can also be grown in this way.

This is worth-while news . . . Mr. Kent up at the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring, (upstairs) resets diamonds, repairs watches, too, and has a beautiful line of wedding rings—the latter very very reasonable in price. Go up and see him at your first opportunity won't you.

For poisonous insect stings remove the sting, squeeze out the poison and apply scraped chalk and olive oil, mixed to a thick cream.

To stop sneezing—Swallow three or four tablespoonfuls of milk slowly.

The neck bands of your husband's shirts if too large or too small are made just right by Arthur M. Werner, the Custom Shirtmaker of 111 South Spring street. Also cuffs are turned, sleeves are shortened—indeed, altering and repairing of all kinds is done by him. Phone MU. 1589.

If the knob comes off the lid of a pan or kettle slip a screw through the hole with the head to the inside of the lid and screw a cork on the protruding end; this knob will not get hot and can be renewed when dirty.

Are you overrun with ants? Want to know the very best way to get rid of them for all times? Install the Calpro System around your house and in half an hour's time they will have disappeared forever! Of course, you want full information about this item, so phone or write the Calpro Sales Company, 1329 Santa Monica Boulevard (OXford 1311.) They also have a branch at 16 East Canon Perdido, Santa Barbara.

The most alluring French prints are to be found in the picture department of Mathews' Paint Company's three stores . . . while their English prints and etchings of innumerable scenes are quite the loveliest I have seen in many a day.

Do you know this picture and framing department is unusually interesting? You can find just the wedding gift you desire among the host of framed and unframed subjects and if you are desirous of procuring a frame for the photograph or picture you own, why, nowhere will you see more appropriate frames or mouldings.

Go in soon and satisfy yourself of their allure. There are three addresses to visit: One is at 1248 S. Hill; another, 1859 Vine (corner of Selma.) Hollywood, while the third is at 740 E. Green, Pasadena.

To keep lid on a boiling pot—Drop a teaspoonful of butter into the water when boiling dry beans or other starchy vegetables to stop the annoyance of the lid of the pot jumping off, as it will otherwise do. The butter acts the same as oil on troubled waters and keeps it calm and manageable. If the edges of the saucepan are well buttered it also helps.

During the warm summer months you should lighten your work as much as possible so with that idea in mind let me urge you to serve with greater frequency, Laura C. Scudder famous "Mayflower" Potato Chips. They are really superior in every way being at all times perfectly fresh and crisp and some how different. All the better stores sell them, you know.

To prevent a glass from breaking when pouring hot water in it, first put a silver spoon in the glass. This method can also be used when pouring hot soup, hot stewed fruit or any hot liquid in a glass dish or other fragile receptacle, the larger the vessel the larger the spoon to be used.

The best way to dispose of the clothes which you have that you no longer wear, and the various articles in the house you don't want any more, is to gather them together and send the whole lot to the Children's Hospital salvage department of 712 Maple ave., (TUcker 1203.) They will be glad to call for the bundle if you can't bring it to them by the way.

If soup is too salty do not waste it; slice a raw potato and drop it in the liquid; boil up for a short time and the salty flavor will disappear; remove potatoes and use for other dishes.

For a perfect pumpkin pie, try spreading it with plum jam and whipped cream, or whipped cream alone. A half teaspoonful of mace is a pleasing addition to any pumpkin pie.

PANTAGES WINS JAIL RELEASE

pectancy of being released within the next few minutes he donned street clothes and returned only to learn that it probably would be an hour or more before the required bond and its approval would be satisfactorily made. It was not until 4:24 p.m., however, that he was permitted to descend the jail elevator to the first basement of the Hall of Justice, there to board a limousine at the basement entrance in company with Mrs. Pantages and his daughter, Carmen.

Before leaving Pantages said good-bye to a number of jail trusties, shaking hands with Jailer Peoples, Assistant Jailer Fisher, Deputy Jailer Sumner and Dr. Benjamin Blank, jail physician, under whose care he has been for the last several months.

The theater man was taken directly to his home. He will under no circumstances be allowed to attend to any business matters, Mrs. Pantages said.

HUMANE GROUNDS GIVEN

Humane considerations apparently figured prominently in the deliberations that led to the decision by a majority of the State Supreme Court to grant Pantages's application for release from the County Jail on bail.

This is indicated by the following statements from the opinion:

"Laws of the State should be administered in a humane manner and it is for that reason that the power to grant bail in a proper case is conferred upon courts and judges. Where the showing of fact is sufficient to meet the above requirement, judges and courts should not hesitate to give the benefit of the law to the defendant."

Following this recitation, the opinion takes up the contentions of the defense that Pantages has suffered and is suffering severe attacks due to heart disease and is so ill that further incarceration will result in great and permanent injury to his health and will render his death in the near future imminent.

ANGINA PECTORIS CITED

Mention is made of affidavits submitted by the defense in which five physicians set forth that the theater man is suffering from angina pectoris. Dr. Blank was among the physicians who made that diagnosis of Pantages's condition. Consideration is also given to affidavits from two physicians summoned by the State to inquire into Pantages's health.

The State's doctors decided that Pantages is in ill health, but asserted his condition is not such as to threaten death.

After consideration of the views of the physicians, the opinion continues that "the overwhelming weight of evidence is that the petitioner's condition is serious and that his surroundings are such that not only his health, but his life, is in danger."

Another point, presented by Pantages's attorneys for the first time in the last application for release of their client on bail, after four earlier unsuccessful efforts, is examined. This other ground pertains to Pantages's asserted inability to prepare properly while in the County Jail a defense to a series of damage suits brought against him. Miss Pringle is seeking $1,000,000 and Nick Dunaev $500,000.

The opinion was written by Justice Preston, with Chief Justice Waste, Justice Richards and Justice Pro Tem Nourse, the last named appointed to break the deadlock which prevented an earlier decision, concurring. Justices Curtis and Seawell dissent. It was stated that a dissenting opinion will be written later.

It is stated in the opinion that "the generally accepted rule is that courts and judges should not exercise the power to grant bail after conviction of a felony except with the greatest caution and only when the peculiar circumstances of the case render it proper."

Pantages applied to the Superior Court for release on December 27, 1929; January 30 and April 16. He was denied liberty in appeal to the Appellate Court on April 8, last.

WIFE DEEDS SEATTLE PROPERTY TO SONS

SEATTLE, June 6. (AP)—Two deeds under which Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of Alexander Pantages of Los Angeles, theater magnate, transferred the Pantages Theater and the former Pantages home here to her two sons, Rodney and Lloyd Pantages, were received today by County Auditor Grant.

The deed transferring the residence property was recorded, but filing of the other deed was delayed on account of minor technicalities. Deeds transferring the properties from Pantages to his wife were recorded here last May, it was revealed today.

Trio Arrested and Jailed in Shooting Quiz

Accused of having fired a revolver at three men standing on the street in Belvedere shortly after midnight Thursday, Ynes L. Calvan, 30 years of age, and Tiburcio Careon, 33, of Belvedere, and Leo Fernandez, 1415 North Main street, were arrested by deputy sheriffs and lodged in the County Jail.

Salvador Montes, Manuel Eras and Ricardo Ortiz, all of Belvedere, reported they were standing in front of a store when the other three men passed and fired two shots at them. Officers reported arresting the trio and finding a .32-caliber revolver with two exploded shells in it on Calvan.

STUDENT LIEUTENANTS ASSIGNED TO OUTFITS

College graduates of Los Angeles and vicinity who have been commissioned second lieutenants in the Reserve Officers' Corps of the United States Army were announced yesterday from Maj.-Gen. John L. IF THIS WERE TRUE

We note that Stanford brides demand a 5000-mile honeymoon in a fancy car and the U.C.L.A. prospectives would be content with a 500-mile jaunt in any old kind of a conveyance. We suspect that there will be more brides in the south.

INNOCENTS ABROAD

Word comes that first-class reservations to Europe are going begging on the bargain counters of the big steamship companies. At the same time the transcontinental railway lines are announcing greater travel than ever to California. The lack of the last syllable of these inno-cents abroad will be keenly felt in Paris and other points.

THE METROPOLIS

The 1930 census has officially established Los Angeles as the metropolis, Los Angeles county as the principal county and Southern California as the dominant section of the State of California. The city has a population of 1,231,730; the county of 2,199,557, and the combined populations of the eight southern counties, now nearly all in, will reach 2,825,000, which is considerably more than half of the estimated State population of 5,426,000. The counties of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego and Imperial are thus given the majority voice in directing the activities of the sixth State in the Union.

Leadership is always a responsibility, and the leadership of so vast an empire as California, with its great resources and area, means a heavy burden as well as a privilege and an opportunity. The region will do well to consider all the implications of its power and its responsibility as it assumes them so that it may act wisely and for the good of all. If this power is exercised selfishly and arrogantly a great harm may result, not only to the State, but to Southern California itself.

Since California was organized, its northern half—actually much more than half in area—has always run things. In the early days it had the population and the wealth and its dominance was a matter of right, if not always equitably manifested. But for nearly two decades now the balance has been swinging in the other direction and northern dominance has been merely the continuation of a tradition. It was perhaps natural that, feeling power slipping from their grasp, the northern counties should have made every effort to retain it, but the methods used have aroused a great deal of resentment in the more populous end of the State.

It is not necessary to recite how reapportionment, both of Senate and Assembly districts and of Congressional districts, was denied after the census of 1920; how the road program was juggled to give the northern counties the bulk of the improvements; how the tax funds raised in the south were spent in the north; how the north took the lion's share of the offices, of Federal patronage and of appropriations. Southern California has had but one Governor in this generation, and he tied to the northern machine. Both the United States Senators are from the north. Most of the Supreme Court justices are northern men. The north has unjustly retained a majority in both branches of the Legislature and even attempted to defeat a reapportionment which was obtained by initiative. Its attempts to rig the gasoline tax in its favor as recently as a couple of years ago are still fresh in memory. The State lends its credit to San Francisco Harbor, but not to any other.

All these things have, as is said above, aroused resentment and would perhaps justify retaliation, now that the scepter passes. And the scepter is passing; it is probable that Southern California will choose the next Governor, and it is a certainty that it will have a majority in the State Assembly. California's share of additional Congressmen will be apportioned mainly to the southern counties. The lifting of the dead hand cannot much longer be delayed.

But retaliation, however justified, would be poor policy. If Southern California elects the next Governor, it will expect him to be Governor of the whole State; it will expect its representatives in the Legislature to give due regard to the equities of every situation. Southern California, to be worthy of the trust which circumstances have imposed upon it, must be careful to insist upon no more than its just dues; to take its fair share, but to see that the share is fair. Any other course would be a threat to unity, an invitation to discord. Two wrongs never yet made a right.

The undue advantage which Northern California has taken of the political situation must not be reversed, now that the political situation has been reversed. The southern counties may have to take steps to show who is boss, and should certainly right the balance and assert their rights, which have too long been disregarded; but the good of the State as a whole cannot be forwarded by hoggishness. Northern California, though now in the minority, has valuable contributions to make to the progress of California and must be given every opportunity to work out her destiny freely and fairly.

Los Angeles city now has nearly one-fourth and Los Angeles county more than two-fifths of all the people in the State, and naturally expect the prestige and the influence which go with such numerical position, but at the same time both must be careful not to infringe the rights of others. San Francisco is a great city and will always remain so; Northern California is a great, a populous and a wealthy section. To treat either as a sort of conquered province would be silly arrogance, as hurtful to us as to them.

The situation in which Southern California has been placed by the census findings is to be used, and not abused.

Being a metropolis has its privileges; but there are duties connected with such eminence and they must be meticulously performed.

PARADES

We are accused of being a nation of joiners. If a couple of boys meet on a school lot, they organize a team and take the other youngsters in. If two men meet on the street, they form a club, adopt a pass word and grip.

And when we are not organizing a new lodge and soliciting members to pay dues, we are appointing committees to which to refer things. Half of the world is on committees to see that the other half in subcommittees function. More things are killed in committee than by any other form of murder.

And when we are not serving on a committee, we are marching in parade. If we have a war, we march off with the boys, and when they return we escort them through the streets. If we have an air circus, it is just a heavenly parade. We parade for the youth who flies across the ocean, and we cannot celebrate such a beneficent occasion as Easter without a parade of clothes on Fifth avenue. Every premiere performance is a parade of stars. And our most glorious parade in the Southland is staged on New Year's Day to show off our weather to those from Missouri and Iowa that it can be done with roses.

Everybody is trying to show off to everybody else. We just naturally like to strut, whether it be in grand lodge or at a wedding. We put on our glad garments, hire a brass band and clog up traffic to make folks stop and look.

Even the Communists have caught the infection and parade as the best way to overthrow the government and to induce everybody to divide up. If we can induce the Mayor and City Council to ride at the head of the procession we feel we have saved the country.

We act as if we thought a parade the panacea of all ills and the most effective help in time of trouble. Not all the roosters are in the chicken coops.

THE OPTIMISTS
By James J. Montague

We'll know the robin's on his way,
Though still he is unseen,
Before the slender willow spray
Is clad in tender green;
For when the snow is off the ground,
From all the mossy bogs
We'll hear the trembling, treble song
Of myriad little frogs.

The ice may lightly film the pond,
And biting breezes stray
Across the meadows on beyond,
When sunset dims the day.
But, while they whisper through the hills,
The frosty zephyrs bring
The optimistic little trills
The happy peepers sing.

Through all the night their voices rise,
Proclaiming far and near
The message from prophetic skies
That spring will soon be here.
And many a heart is filled with cheer
When, wandering down the lane,
Belated farm folk pause to hear
The distant, sweet refrain.

Too bad that through the city street,
Where moves the noisy throng,
No tiny choristers repeat
So bright and brave a song.
For only by the water's brim,
Amidst the reeds and bogs,
Resounds the gentle evening hymn
Of little singing frogs.

WHEN harsh critics wish to be crushing they call Los Angeles an overgrown country town. Speaking for our single self, we think that quite a compliment and readily admit the impeachment.

A country town is one in which one finds good air, plenty of open space and good neighbors. And Los Angeles has them all. The largest city in the world in square mileage, it has within its city limits approximately 10,000 square feet of space for every man, woman and child. There are more than 450 square miles of territory within our city limits, and there are 27,878,400 square feet in a square mile. That gives more than 10,000 square feet for 1,250,000 inhabitants, with a few square miles left over to take care of the rest of us.

Modesty Plus

There was a time when we didn't like country towns—when we thought one might as well be dead as live in Jayville. Then we lived in a crowded city and didn't know the people next door. It was a shock to us to learn that they had been living through tragedy which, had we known of it, we might have alleviated with our sympathy. Then we moved to a small town, where there were never any dull moments, because we knew and were interested in everybody and everything, and everybody was interested in us. It was a pleasure just to walk from our office to our home up the main street of that tree-shaded town, because from every porch friends called out greetings, and when one was in sorrow everyone did unexpected little kind things which warmed the heart. We were so impressed that we wrote an article for Collier's on "Small-Town Neighborliness"—and this year people all over the country are wondering why it is that so many great cities have failed to grow as rapidly as their suburbs have. Shows how careful a fellow ought to be about what he writes for publication!

May We Never Outgrow This Spirit

Los Angeles is so country-townish that when we first moved here, from down in Del Mar, the woman in the house next door came right over to offer us the use of her gas stove till our gas was turned on, and any other friendly service we might need. She didn't know us or anything about us—she had just seen a travel-stained, tired family with five small children moving in, one of the latter a baby in arms, and wanted to be neighborly.

The other neighbors were equally kind. They were cultured people who knew the world, but their neighborhood was very much like a small town, with its own group of stores run by friendly neighbors. In a single day we felt right at home. But the traffic drove us away. Our children had been used to roaming the woods and playing all over the beach at Del Mar, and Brownie, our faithful neardale, had formed the habit of lying in the middle of the street. There all the motorists knew him and drove around him. So there was no peace for us on Hillhurst Boulevard. Every time a motor horn began to bark wild warnings our helpspend frantically counted the children and looked for Brownie.

Small-Town Folks

That was why we moved to Ourville. And now it is no mystery to us, if it is to students of census figures, that so many people should prefer to live in suburbs. In Ourville we found what one finds in every suburb of Los Angeles — friendliness, spaciousness, big yards full of flowers and orange trees, a good school, a good library, an energetic Woman's Club. One neighbor is a famous miniature painter and a woman of ineffable charm. Several are noted writers. One used to be a musical-comedy queen and her husband is a noted violinist. Another man has been a matinee idol in England, America and Australia—without getting spoiled. Half a dozen are artists of distinction. Another is a noted composer, another a retired publisher, and others well-known business men or professional men in the city. That's the sort of people that make up small-town life in the suburbs of Los Angeles, not only in Ourville, but in many suburbs.

A stranger may drive forty miles out any great highway leading out of Los Angeles and never know when he gets out of town, because the city and the country and the country towns are so much alike. And so are the people.

Who Wouldn't Like These Small-Town Ways?

And yet—glory be!—we still have some charming small-town ways in our neighborhoods, both in and out of the city. We were due to move into our new home last Saturday, and everyone in Ourville knew it. So some friends called and insisted on taking us to their house for supper—kiddies and all. "You're all upset with moving," they said, "and we have everything all ready." That's like Ourville, so we accepted—indeed, it's very hard to refuse things like that in Ourville. They piled us in their car and started out. "It's such a lovely evening," they said. "Let's drive around a little first." They drove us all over town. We thought they were rather overdoing it. Then they took us back to our own house. And there was half Ourville! They had driven us about to give everyone the signal. The neighbors had then hurried to our house, taken possession, spread out a mighty feast. Not only that, but they had brought a deluge of presents. It was an old-fashioned small-town surprise party!

It made our eyes misty with gratitude and affection.

And next day, by mail, came two beautiful books from some one who couldn't be there and who forgot to inclose a card. But we want it known that we appreciate them, too.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

CANNONICAL
[New York Herald Tribune]

There are two kinds of repentance. One signifies a change of heart and the other a loss of nerve. They are not always easily distinguishable, even to the subject himself, but, roughly speaking, the first may be identified as purely a voluntary emotion, inspired by the "still, small voice" articulating within, and the second as the creature of extraneous pressure. This pressure may take the form of a headache on the morning after, or of a loss of savings in the stock market, or of a threat of censure from a board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

It seems hardly necessary to point out that these two kinds of repentance differ as night from day or that the kind referred to in the Bible as warranting forgiveness is that which signifies a change of heart. Wherefore, the absolution granted Bishop Cannon by the episcopacy committee of the Methodist Church, South, on account of his dealings with the defunct bucketshop of Kable & Co., will strike the average observer as more in the nature of a whitewash than of Christian justice.

IN DEFENSE OF JURIES
[Bangor Commercial]

The seed of jury justice, found in France, nurtured in England and transplanted to every continent, now thrives over two-thirds of the land area of the world. Employed originally by King Charles of Burgundy to collect taxes and later by William the Conqueror to take the English census, the jury system has finally become, in this day, a symbol of justice to men in many nations.

Japan is the latest nation to place the jury system in operation. Although the jury law was passed by the Japanese Legislature six years ago, it went into effect only a month ago. It was necessary to rebuild the courtrooms before granting accused persons the right to demand trial before "twelve good men and true."

Americans do not find trial by jury as perfect as the needs of justice demand, but the rest of the world is finding it better than all substitutes yet devised. The jury system has many critics of that common species which has nothing to offer for the institution it would destroy.

The faults of the jury are the faults of humanity. A jury is only as good as the men and women in the jury box. Where trial by jury breaks down, it is because of corruption. The system merely reflects man's imperfect workmanship.

Approves Mail Service

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Referring to the letter of May 24 by H. D. Brockway, I desire to say I am surprised that anyone claiming to be a business man should show so little knowledge of the mail service. I am not connected with the Postoffice Department, but I do know the city of Los Angeles does not control it and that the service is about the same in all cities. I have lived in several of them.

Perhaps Mr. Brockway is not aware that the carriers start work about 6:30 a.m. at the postoffice and delivery on their routes about 8 and it should be apparent to anyone that he cannot deliver his entire route at one time, some will naturally receive mail as late as 11:30 or 12 o'clock. A. H. DERRY.

Another Water Scheme

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read about all articles concerning our water supply systems, the various dams, including Boulder Dam, and everybody admits that it will be only enough water for a few million more people and after that, what?

My idea is to use our rivers up north for irrigation and other purposes, piping the water down and along the coast at ocean level and pumping the water inland at points where the water is required. For pumping we could probably use wind or wave power, or both.

It would not only benefit Los Angeles, but the whole coast of California, and why let rivers like the Sacramento, San Joaquin, the Columbia River, etc., run into the ocean?

Most of our water is used in cities along the coast and such a system would be paid for in a short time.

WILLIAM TOCKER.

For Snail Control

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The following method has proven to be a most satisfactory way to eliminate that most obnoxious of all garden pests, snails and slugs:

Sprinkle thoroughly your entire garden, both flowers and lawns, about 8 o'clock in the evening, then about 10 o'clock, two hours later, go out with a spot light and a can of strong salt water and gather up your enemies. The salt water kills them quickly. Do this once a week for about three or four weeks and you will thoroughly eliminate these destructive creatures. I gathered up five quarts in this way and now I haven't a slug or snail on the place. However, I presume that some unhatched eggs will give me a little trouble later on and this will be taken care of as outlined above. I find this system far superior to the mixture of bran and arsenate of lead.

WIN A PRIZE

BY GREENVILLE TALBOTT

Announcement is made of The Bookmakers' $500 Italian Sonnet Contest. Contestants must be members of the Bookmakers' International League of Writers.

There is no division of the prize. The best sonnet, in the decision of the three judges, will win. Any number of sonnets may be entered, but none will be returned. The sonnets must be strictly Italian. The contest is conducted every other year.

For full information, without cost or obligation, write to Gertrude Perry West, editor The Bookmakers' Folio, Callahan, Fla.

(If you are interested in science and invention, you should read the prize awards announced tomorrow under the heading, "Win a Prize.")

THE TROJAN SEMICENTENNIAL

BY E. GUY TALBOTT
(Class of 1912)

A host of Trojan graduates,
A mighty Thundering Herd,
Have come to U.S.C. again
With strange emotions stirred
To see a student army pass
And have degrees conferred.

It brings to mind the golden days
When we were students, too.
We throb with alma mater pride
As they pass in review.
Yet what a change the years have wrought!
So many things are new!

A half a century ago,
Where now these buildings stand,
There grew a field of flowing wheat,
For this was farming land.
And now these classic halls abound,
Obeying youth's command.

Although James Harmon Hoose is gone,
Yet George Bovard is here.
We hail the stalwart president
Who saw his dream appear.
And ow, three cheers for U.S.C.!
Our alma mater, dear.

Bill Will Limit Work

The English government's new hours of industrial bill limits the ordinary working hours in industrial fields to eight in any day and forty-eight in any week. Among the extensions of the limits allowed are the hours of shift workers, which may be arranged to average not more than forty-eight hours over two or over three weeks. Employment of workers on continuous processes may be extended to forty-two hours weekly on an average over three weeks.

COSMIC MIND THEORY UPHELD

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Judging by the pronounced tendency of modern science to dispute the old evolutionary theory that our world was developed at random out of atomic chaos, there will be few among our scientific pundits to deny the dictum of Prof. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago, Nobel prize winner in physics for 1927, as to the existence of a creative and directive force in the universe.

Prof. Compton, who will fully expound his ideas to the scientific world at Ithaca, N. Y., this month, has given an important advance interview to the Chicago Tribune on this subject. He strongly holds that the evolutionary process is not a chance one, as old-fashioned scientists have stated, but is directed toward some definite end. In other words, the creative force, which is also the activating and directive one, has a design of some sort always in view. It indicates a universal intelligence and a purpose back of everything.

This coincides with the ideas expressed in recent years by several well-known scientists, among them Prof. Arthur S. Eddington, the famous English physicist, and also in a way with those of Sir Henry H. Jeans, eminent astrophysicist of London. It tends to bear out the statements made by Dr. Robert A. Millikan in his widely read pamphlet on "Science and Religion." It supports the theory of the existence of a cosmic or universal mind and its activity and directivity beginning with electrons of which all matter, as we call it, is composed and working through all space and every unit of every system.

Prof. Eddington, whose dicta as to these affairs provoked much comment in England and America, takes the liberal stand that scientists who have made a thorough study of ecclesiastical lore can find no good reason to reject its essential truths, particularly those as to the existence of God, though he is not ready to accept the idea of His personality. It is evident that he and Compton and others have been impelled by what they have seen of the workings of the atom to direct their thoughts to God and to tug hard at the veil of mystery which wraps Him by making a deeper and deeper study of electrons. All of these studies point to the soundness of the theory of a cosmic mind. Indeed, it would seem that that theory now stands on a firm foundation.

Let us briefly recapitulate the facts upon which this theory is based. When Becquerel and the Curies discovered radioactivity and Thomson, going a step further than Crookes in his investigations of the nature of matter, had reduced the atom to its ultimate divisibility in the electron, it was declared that "the electron turns out to be nothing more than superimposed positive and negative layers of electricity." These electrons, constantly in internal motion, were seen to represent not matter, but force. As all we know of the essential nature of electricity is that it is a manifestation of energy, this statement of the case was accepted by many scientists.

Then arose the question, What activates the electron? Science could conceive of no activating force save mind—a natural conclusion. Well, if mind were the activating and directing force, what must that mind be? Naturally the next concept was that it was cosmic or universal mind. This theory lends color and support to the old metaphysical doctrine of an omnipresent power—to wit, God, though not the God of the ancient dogmatist, for He walked the earth and talked with men.

The force I have referred to has been spoken of as mind, but it is not mind as we apprehend it, but something which not only transcends mind, but is beyond all human concept.

Modern science as expounded by Prof. Compton and others takes it for granted that in the economy of nature nothing is lost—not even an atom—only changed. It had been thought that the cosmic rays of Millikan resulted from the degenerative processes of nature, but their discoverer believes that they result from creative processes. Dr. Millikan considers them a part of a great creative cycle. His theory that the process of degeneration and regeneration provides a never-ending circle of creation has aroused hopes that the material from which the universe is made has immortal life.

As showing that science and religion have begun to walk hand in hand, we have another dictum of Prof. Compton tending to confound the atheist who takes no stock in the idea of a future life. "We have found," he says, "strong reasons for believing that man may be of extraordinary importance in the cosmic scheme. . . . The adventures and discipline of youth, the struggles and failures and successes, the pains and pleasures of maturity, the loneliness and tranquillity of age—these make up the fire through which he must pass to bring out the pure gold of his soul. Having been thus perfected, what shall nature do with him? Annihilate him? What infinite waste!"

And again he says: "We might expect nature to preserve at all cost the living souls it has evolved at such labor, which would mean the immortality of intelligent minds . . . No cogent reason remains for supposing that the soul dies with the body."

Here is another chapter in our observation of human progress which makes us see, as Dr. Millikan sees, "science and religion as twin sisters effectively cooperating to lead the world on to better things."

The Marx-Engels Institute of Moscow, Russia, has recently acquired a "run" of the London Times from 1800 to 1930. This is said to be the most extensive file of that paper in Continental Europe.

FAMOUS WHISKERS

Of J. Ham Lewis it is said, his whiskers, once a dazzling red, have faded to a dingy gray, their pristine glories flown away. Those whiskers, once described as pink, were long embalmed in print.rs' ink; a thousand bards in sonnets weird, exalted Lewis and his beard; a thousand artists strove to show those whiskers in their fiery glow. The years, I say, have made the Lewis beard look rather frayed. But J. Ham Lewis doesn't fret; he's blithe and optimistic yet. He wears his whiskers every day, and says there is no hue gray. A less courageous, slightful toff would spend two hours to shave them off, or purchase dye or carmine ink and stain them to a mottled pink. But J. Ham Lewis is too wise to blow himself for drug-store dyes; he knows says he'd rather own gray whiskers than a pink or rean. And that's the way to act, my friends, when age, an incubus, descends upon us like a crushing weight, and makes us feel we're out of date, when it enfeebles legs and arms, and works dire havoc with our charms. Some foolish people fret and rage when they behold the signs of age; they use restorers to renew the vanished locks of raven hue, and dyes and lotions to remove the marks of time, the seam and groove. The more they fret like fools, gadzoot, the more they grow the worse they look. It's hard far to say, "I know I have improved since long ago; I have more dignity and pride, I have a more majestic stride."

STAGE STARS SIGN WITH FOX

Louise Huntington, Claire Luce Given Roles

Mary Astor Will Play Lead in Warner Feature

M.-G.-M. Casts Maria Alba in Foreign Version

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Two more notable Broadway actresses have been signed by Fox, we learned yesterday. Both are arriving at once to make their talker debuts, having been viewed by Winfield Sheehan, Fox head, while he was in New York.

LOUISE HUNTINGTON

Louise Huntington, who has played many notable roles, will arrive in town on Monday. Miss Huntington, won laurels for herself in "The Constant Nymph," "The Spider," "The Marriage Bed," "The Nut Farm," and others, and has for some time had the attention of the picture producers. Her first assignment under her Fox contract is not yet made known.

Claire Luce, who acquitted herself brilliantly in "Show Boat," has likewise signed a contract with Fox, and will arrive here tomorrow to attempt the talkers.

CLAIRE LUCE

Before going into "Show Boat," Miss Luce distinguished herself in the Follies, in which she won laurels both by her beauty and voice as well as her dancing and acting ability. She is, it is understood, to be at once assigned to an important featured part in a Fox picture, which is to be announced within a few days.

MARY ASTOR SIGNS FOR WARNER LEAD

Going from one role to another, Mary Astor is a very busy young actress now-a-days.

MARY ASTOR

Miss Astor, having just finished a part with First National, has been signed by Warner Brothers for the leading feminine role in the railway story, "The Steel Highway," which William Wellman will direct.

Grant Withers has the star part among the male roles, and Regis Toomey will have an important part.

The company will go far afield for its location scenes, journeying, probably to Canada, and possibly to Chicago.

Maria Alba Plays Lead

There is hardly a luckier girl in Hollywood, it seems to me, than Maria Alba.

Miss Alba, Spanish actress, who was brought to this country by Fox to appear in pictures, was making excellent headway when the talking pictures came along. Then she was sunk for a time, due to her faulty English.

But then came the many Spanish versions of pictures which are being made, and at once Miss Alba was in demand. In the meanwhile her English is improving.

Now the actress has been cast by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the leading role in the Spanish version of "Olympia," the Ferenc Molnar play. Jose Crespo is another noted Spanish actor, from the Benevente Theater in Madrid, who is to have a leading role in the Spanish version. He will play the male lead, a character called Capt. Kovacs.

PRESIDENT BOOKS 'CRIME'

"Crime," a spectacular play, will be given its first presentation here when it is offered by the Henry Duffy Players at the President, starting with the evening performance on the 16th inst. This drama, which was written in collaboration by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer, has been produced both in New York and London.

The manner in which crooks plan their robberies is set forth in a series of episodes, it is said, with the actual story dealing with two youngsters who find themselves in the toils of a gang and who are forced to become unwilling participants in the robbery. The play is based on the exploits of "The Candy Kid," a notorious criminal, who terrorized the country a few years ago.

There will be a cast of more than thirty players and the production will be one of the most pretentious ever offered at the President. Rehearsals already have started under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis. "The Whispering Gallery" will continue until the 15th inst.

arrived in Hollywood and has taken a screen and voice test at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where he is under consideration.

Will Rogers Departs

While Will Rogers is waiting for Fox to prepare a story for him he is not wasting much time on polo.

Yesterday he left for New York, where he is to attend to certain business matters, but expects to return within a few weeks.

SEMINARY SANCTIONED

An ordinance granting the Pacific Palisades Association permission to erect and conduct a seminary in Temescal Canyon was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

"CAUGHT SHORT" NEXT AT PALACE

Booked to succeed Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "High Society Blues," the current attraction, "Caught Short," starring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, will start a week's run at the Fox Palace Theater Wednesday. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy is Willard Mack's adaptation of Eddie Cantor's book.

The love interest of "Caught Short" is furnished by Anita Page and Charles Morton. Charles F. Riesner directed.

DRAMATIC PORTRAYALS IN "MAMBA"

Unique Setting for Story Presented in Color Film at California.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

There are interesting portrayals in "Mamba," which is showing at the California Theater, and the plot of this film offers an unusual background. Also, if you like your melodrama, with a good old roaring finish of battle, this production, which echoes very indirectly the war, should provide its share of thrills.

"Mamba" is the major portion of the entertainment on the California program. A comedy short subject, and a musical depiction of the romantic life of Franz Liszt, the composer, are the other events, but the main feature overshadows these in its attractions.

"Mamba" is photographed entirely in color, and I believe, by a new process. It is inclined rather giddily to ruddy hues, but proves an embellishment in a majority of the scenes, that is if you are among those who heartily approve color, and naturally a goodly proportion of audiences probably does these days.

The story of this film evolves in German East Africa, and its central character is a disreputable trader, wealthy but despised especially by the soldiers who are stationed in the town where he resides.

Determined to have their outward respect, at least, he decides to buy it through a marriage to a girl of high family in Germany, whose father is in straitened circumstances.

The wedding takes place, and the couple come to the home of the man, whereupon he forces an invitation upon the officers to attend a reception in his wife's honor. They accept out of regard for her, and also because led in to this by a young major who has become interested in her welfare on the trip from Europe.

The reception eventuates in various dramatic complications, and then the news of war is told to the soldiers. British and German had been friendly prior thereto, but both are called to their colors.

Simultaneously an uprising occurs among the natives, and culminates in a battle and incidentally in the death of the villain.

A certain artificiality permeates the plot of "Mamba," but it is rather consistently redeemed by the portrayals of Jean Hersholt, Ralph Forbes and Eleanor Boardman in the leading roles. Hershalt's is the particularly vivid performance, and another remarkable addition to his collection of amazing character portraits. Miss Boardman impresses very favorably with the reserve that she imparts to the heroine role, while Forbes, with a sabre cut across his cheek, looks decidedly not the typical leading man, and invests his interpretation with distinct character besides. Supporting parts are in some instances very capably done. The picture was directed by Al Rogell.

The comedy " . . . and Wife" is fairly amusing. The Liszt feature presents various excerpts from the composer's works.

Noted Aviator to be Honored at Late Show

As the guest of honor, distinction will go to Capt. John A. Macready, who, it is said, has held the world's records for altitude, endurance and speed in airplanes, at tonight's matinee of "Hell's Angels" at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

Noted aviators are planning to compliment Capt. Macready by attending the late performance, together with many stars of stage and screen who are prevented from attending regular presentations by engagements at studios and theaters.

Amplifying a complete showing of Grauman's spectacular prologue and the Howard Hughes air spectacle, special attractions have been added to the program.

'June Moon' to Close in Week

George Holland's comedy, "June Moon" will play another and final week at the Hollywood Playhouse. The show played three weeks at the Belasco Theater when bookings forced the production to be moved elsewhere, and when "The Criminal Code" succeeds "June Moon" at the Belasco, Mr. Holland filled in hurriedly a week in the outlying districts while negotiations were under way for the Playhouse.

Cleve Moore, Helen Cohan, James Spottswood, Edith Van Cleve, Ruth Abbott, Murray Smith, Cyrena Smith and others are in the cast.

"Brothers" in Fourth Week

Bert Lytell is now in the fourth week of his El Capitan Theater engagement, playing a dual role in "Brothers," the Herbert Ashton, Jr., drama which deals with the problem of heredity vs. environment.

Appearing with Lytell is a large supporting cast headed by Grace Menken. Other members of the cast are Matt Briggs, Clara Palmer, Frank Sylvester and John Webb Dillon.

EX-TROOPERS USED

Front-line battle scenes involved in "Beyond Victory," which John Robertson is directing for Pathe, utilize several thousands of former soldiers and Robertson intends to use only bona fide ex-troopers, it is said. Assisting Robertson will be Col. Frank Scott of the Coast Artillery Corps.

YOUNG TENOR SIGNED

Donald Novis, young tenor who won the second annual national radio audition conducted by the Atwater Kent Foundation, has been cast for an important singing role in Ernst Lubitsch's new Paramount production, "Monte Carlo."

"Divorcee" Continues on Merry Way

Norma Shearer

Portrays the ex-wife in her latest starring vehicle now at the Criterion Theater. The picture closes its run on the 24th inst.

JOLLY TARS FROLIC IN NEW FILM

Trio of Sailors Engage in Amorous Pursuits in "Dames Ahoy"

An atmosphere of utter realism surrounds "Dames Ahoy," a navy escapade which is bringing laughter to the Million Dollar this week. Making no pretense whatsoever at the dramatic, William James Craft has guided this Universal story through the mazes of a beach resort to the final happiness of a bungalow for two. He has no climaxes or tense situations, but he has a logical succession of incidents and these he has worked out smoothly with an effect of casual comedy.

The problem of the picture is to find one blond, unknown and at large. She, it seems, has managed to acquire half a pay check belonging to the eldest of a trio of jolly sailors. His two younger buddies lend a helping hand and start for shore determined to find the woman and put her in her place. The hunt takes up most of the coast line and all of the first portion of the film, including many amusingly embarrassing moments.

The real humor of the story is brought out through the navy's change of policy. The trio are seen wandering about repeating their self-defense motto, "Nix on dames," and through the course of circumstances each man weakens and finds himself with a girl in tow.

Glenn Tryon, the star gob, finishes up the most reformed of all. He marries Helen Wright in a dance-hall contest and wins a home and $500. It is at first a business proposition, the girl wanting a home and he needing the money, but as youth will have it, all changes as love creeps in and the prospects of raising chickens and vegetables in the back yard take on vision.

The performance given by Tryon is at no time outstanding, but is always natural and convincing. A very pleasant speaking voice is one of the assets which Miss Wright possesses. Her role is not a meaty one, though she endows it with vigor and charm.

Otis Harlan, Eddie Gribbon and Gertrude Astor all connive to make as much out of the comedy as possible and are successful.

A rather elaborate stage program occupies part of the Million Dollar bill. There is a violinist who responded willingly to five encores and the big spot is an Indian orchestra composed of ten tribes of musical and dancing chieftains who set to syncopation popular Indian melodies.

NEW ROGERS FILM NEXT AT CIRCLE

"So This is London" to Follow Current Run of "All Quiet"

With the western premiere set for Thursday evening, the 19th inst., the Carthay Circle Theater is now making reservations for the initial showing of Will Rogers's second Fox comedy-drama, "So This is London."

The picture is adapted from the stage success by George M. Cohan, and it is said that it contains more original humor and laughable situations than any picture in which Rogers has appeared.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Maureen O'Sullivan, Frank Albertson, Irene Rich, Lumsden Hare and Mary Forbes. "All Quiet on the Western Front," current attraction, will close its run on the 18th inst.

Belasco Theater Has New Policy

The Belasco Theater has announced that for the summer season the usual Sunday night performance will be dispensed with. Current at the Belasco is Maurice Moscovitch in "The Outsider."

Betty Ross Clarke, talented young leading lady, heads the supporting cast in the stage production.

FILMARTE SHOWS DANGERS OF ALPS

"Fight for the Matterhorn" New Attraction; Crevices Peril Climbers

BY ELENA BOLAND

A rope and courage and men triumph over Nature in "The Fight for the Matterhorn."

Against walls of stone, amidst crevices of ice and vast wastes of snow, is laid this supersceonic now at the Filmarte. It is a story of amazing dangers and a race to the death between men.

Primarily, the value of this U.F.A. production is the wonder of its photography which brings to the eye the beauty of the land above the clouds. Except for occasional shots, every bit was filmed high up in the Swiss Alps which have taken their toll of so many lives.

To add to the suspense and peril which is felt at the sight of men crawling their lonely way up the seemingly limitless heights, there has been injected a personal struggle between two men over a girl. Jealousy between the husband and the supposed lover as they balance on crags or are suspended in air far over the earth, bring moments tense with fear. To increase the realism, more than one slip occurs and bodies hurtle dizzily through space.

How the camera ever followed these men in their climb, showing closely the danger of each step, is one of the marvels of the picture. Marie Bonnard and Nuntie Malsomma have excelled in this particular portion of their direction. Most of their attention must have centered on it, for the minor incidents in the tale are not handled so carefully.

More American than most foreign films is the directorial technique, in that it evinces both imagination and skill, though lacking a needed sense of tempo.

In the cast is Clifford McLaglen, brother of Victor MacLaglen and astonishingly like him. His piece of villainy is well done as he all but succeeds in sending two men to their death. There are others, too, who should be commended: Louis Trenker, Marcella Albani, Alexandra Schmidt and Peter Voss.

The atmosphere of far places is also carried out in a short travel film made in Prisma color called "Bali, the Unknown." The camera wanders in and out the mystery of this tiny island, stopping to catch the strangeness of native life and customs.

AFRICA IN OPERETTA FORM NOW

"Golden Dawn," a Musical Production, at Warner's Downtown

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

"Golden Dawn," with a musically inclined cast, was screened yesterday at Warner's Downtown Theater. The film traces its lineage to the Harbach-Hammerstein operetta produced in New York a few seasons ago. It has been photographed in the stage manner, which always seems a bit outre to a movie-trained audience, especially where operettas are concerned. The most vital persons in it are Marion Byron and Noah Beery. The others are Vivienne Segal, Walter Woolf, Alice Gentle, Dick Henderson, Lupino Lane and Lee Moran, all of whom sing as opportunity arises.

The opening shot, like all the others, is in Technicolor. It discloses a kampong in British East Africa, temporarily under the domination of Germany. (This is during the World War.) Miss Gentle, as Mooda, a native woman, sings about golden Dawn (in English.) Dawn is her daughter, and she has been promised to Mulungu, the African god, as a bride. Shep Keyes (Noah Beery,) covets Dawn. He looks like a native, but talks like a southern Negro. He has a whip which he swishes and sings about, baritone.

Dawn (Vivienne Segal) loves Tom Allen, a British prisoner of war. She sings to him. Jealous, Shep Keyes plots against him. Nevertheless, Tom (Walter Woolf) sings to Dawn. His serenade is the title number, ace melody of the operetta, and he has a pleasing voice. Shep warns the German commandant that nothing must interfere with Dawn's immolation, lest the natives rise up against all whites. So Dawn is consecrated to Mulungu, and Tom banished to England.

Before he goes—under duress—Shep taunts him with the news that Dawn is not Mooda's daughter, that she is all white. The denouement (corresponding to act three) shows Tom's return and the claiming of his loved one.

Numerous interludes are provided by other characters, Dick Henderson's song, "Just We Two," being catchy. Miss Byron takes up the refrain successfully, Lupino Lane, except for one tune, and an acrobatic dance, plays a fairly serious role. Miss Gentle's voice is true, though I was unable to understand her words. Nearly all screen lyrics are lost, anyway.

"Golden Dawn" is the first Vitaphone operetta I have heard. I liked its music, though being unfamiliar it struck the only really responsive chord with "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," as sung by marching soldiers. I liked the scenes at the tribal sacrifice, because they achieved tempo. The "book" itself seemed fairly incredible from the moment Mooda, the native woman, sang in perfect English. After a while, perhaps, it will be easier to accept on the literal screen what is never questioned in the "legitimate" playhouse. Now, it just seems stupid.

The most interesting short subjects are those presenting Max Schmeling, German heavyweight champion, and the Los Angeles Times-Universal news reel, with Graham McNamee at the "microphone."

Play Fashioned from Diary of Condemned Man

A diary written by a condemned prisoner in the death house of a Texas penitentiary just twenty-four hours before he paid the supreme penalty provided material for a story written by Robert Blake and published in a widely read magazine. From this John Wexley fashioned the first act of his play, "The Last Mile," now showing at the Majestic Theater.

The prison drama is said to be one of the most powerful ever staged and is a direct outgrowth of the Canon City jail break in Colorado. Wexley combined the diary and the prison riot into a play that is decidedly off the beaten path of regular theater fare.

The capable cast includes Clark Gable, Edward Woods, Russel Hopton, Paul Fix, Earl Dwire and others. Lillian Albertson is staging the production.

WIDE VARIETY ON AIR TODAY

Belmont Stakes to Feature Broadcast Over KFI

Aerial Bombardment of City to be Heard Via KHJ

Don Lee Station Also Will Carry Reed Address

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Listeners-in today will find plenty of variety on the radio dial. There will be the Belmont Stakes, one of the nation's racing classics, at 12 noon over KFI. Close upon the race's finish KHJ, at 1:20 p.m., is to broadcast an aerial bombardment of the city of Los Angeles.

The last bomb and the last word of description will hardly have been heard when Senator Reed, the fire-eating former United States legislator from Missouri, comes in over KHJ at 5 p.m., setting forth his ideas on prohibition.

SAN DIEGO ON CHAIN

Radio station KFSD is to bring San Diego into a national chain, the station being scheduled to join the National Broadcasting System next Wednesday. This news will be welcomed by radio fans in that territory inasmuch as reception of chain programs from outside San Diego have been more or less unsatisfactory. Walter B. Weil, vice president, and Leslie Adams, program director, promise a de luxe dedicatory program celebrating KFSD's entry into the national circuit on the evening of the 11th inst.

HITS ON TODAY'S DIAL

KHJ at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon will broadcast the bombardment of Los Angeles by the Seventh Bombardment Group from Rockwell Field, known in the West as "California's Own." The flyers will emerge from an altitude of 30,000 feet and descend on the city. Six Curtiss bombers are to be dispatched from San Diego loaded with bombs. A few seconds before the bombers arrive the Ninety-fifth Pursuit Squadron will dive earthward. Continuous radio communication will be maintained between the two squadrons during the entire aerial warfare. At 2:30 p.m. Ted Husing's Sportslants will offer Frank Wadia, for seven years trainer at West Point, in a talk on athletics. At 4:15 this afternoon the business man will tune in to hear Philip LeBoutillier, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, speaking on "The Retailer and His Customer." All politically inclined citizens will dial in at 5 o'clock tonight to hear former Senator Reed address the Young Men's Jefferson Club of Missouri. His address is to touch on the government and "The Crime of Prohibition." At 6 p.m. Paramount Publix hour is to bring a program of musical novelties, with Paul Ash, Marcia Freer, Paul Small, Jesse Crawford and the Glersdorf sisters. This is always good. While Charlie Wellman goes vacationing, Kenneth Niles at 9 o'clock tonight will bring Kollege Kinks, a collegiate revue. He is announced as composer, director and master of ceremonies—so listen in.

HORSE-RACING CLASSIC

KFI at 12 noon will offer the Belmont Stakes over the National Broadcasting System. The winner of the recent Kentucky Derby is to participate and lovers of horse racing will find it worth while dialing. Description of the crowds, the entries and the race will be given by chain announcers. At 7 o'clock tonight a Forest Lawn program with Anna Kristina as guest artist will provide an hour of folk and national songs with quartet, orchestral and solo numbers. At 8:30 p.m. Robert Hurd and the Packard Orchestra will be heard in thirty minutes of concert music and song.

KECA at 5 o'clock tonight is to offer Floyd Gibbons, noted war correspondent, on a program with Walter Damrosch, famous musical director, in an hour of orchestral classics and scientific discussion of the advance of electrical inventions.

At 10 o'clock tonight a program engaging to dialers liking plenty of variety will include comedy, old-time songs, skits, ballads and novelties. This will be the NBC Sportlight Review.

KNX at 2 p.m. is to feature a recording of the opera "The Valkyries" and 8 o'clock tonight will bring a musical-comedy hour devoted to the music of Rudolph Friml. Scott Bradley will lead his symphony orchestra in selections from "Katinka," "The Firefly" and others. At 9 o'clock tonight, following announcements of church services, the Lubovisky Trio will present another of their programs of light compositions.

KMTR at 2 o'clock this afternoon will broadcast the opening ceremonies of the dedication of the Los Angeles Municipal Airport. At 8 p.m. Musical Pictures will use as its theme Lido Isle, with Venetian water songs.

WIFE BLAMES LIQUOR IN OBTAINING DIVORCE

Mrs. Edith C. Weifenback, seeking a divorce from William C. Weifenback, told Superior Judge Yankwich that her husband seldom drew a sober breath. She declared he had lost his interest in a marble plant because of excessive drinking. At the close of the hearing Judge Yankwich gave Mrs. Weifenback a decree of divorce and allowed her $200 a month for the support of herself and a minor child. The couple married in 1920 and separated in July, last.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER RABBIT IS STARTLED

It nothing costs to be polite,
And furthermore you know its right.

—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit sat on the edge of the water watching Starnose the Mole swimming toward him. Up above sat Redwing the Blackbird. As Starnose drew near Redwing flew down to a tussock of grass and began his familiar clucking sound. Instantly Starnose turned his head. "Hello, Redwing!" said he in a squeaky voice.

"Hello, Starnose!" replied Redwing. "I want you to meet a friend of mine."

"Who?" squeaked Starnose. "Whom do you want me to meet and where is he?"

Just then Peter moved a little and instantly Starnose turned in his direction. "It is just Peter Rabbit," said Redwing.

"I thought it was a rabbit," squeaked Starnose. "That's what it sounded like. How comes it I have never met Peter Rabbit over here before?"

"That's what I want to know," said Redwing. "Peter comes over here often enough, but he says that until today he never has seen you."

"Well, I never have seen him," squeaked Starnose, and then gave a funny little chuckle. Of course, he hadn't seen Peter, because, as I have already told you, he cannot see people or things. All he can do is to tell light from darkness. Now he swam rapidly in to where Peter sat and climbed up beside him. Evidently his nose told him all he wanted to know. "How do you do, Peter Rabbit?" said he.

"Very well, indeed, thank you," replied Peter in his most polite manner. "If I felt any better, I should feel too good. Is it true that you are cousin to Miner the Mole, who lives up on the Green Meadows?"

"I suppose I am," replied Starnose. "Do you see him often?"

"No," replied Peter. "In fact, I have seen him only two or three times in all my life. He certainly does like to keep out of sight. Do you stay underground as much as he does?"

"Oh, I stay underground a good deal of the time," replied Starnose. "Still, I like to come out once in a while. That's how I happened to be taking a swim just now. I certainly do like the water. Do you like the water, Peter Rabbit?"

"Oh, I stay under ground a good deal of the time," replied Starnose

Peter shook his head. Then he remembered that Starnose couldn't see him shake his head. "No," said he very frankly, "I don't like the water. By the way, was it you who scared me so the other day?"

"Don't ask me," replied Starnose. "I don't often scare anybody. How were you scared?"

"I was taking a little nap up there on the bank and suddenly the ground was pushed right up underneath me," replied Peter.

Starnose chuckled. It was a funny, squeaky little chuckle. "Was that you?" he squeaked. "Then I suppose it was you who scared me half to death right afterward."

It was Peter's turn to chuckle. "I thumped the ground hard enough," said he, "but I couldn't be sure that I scared anybody."

"Well, you did, you scared me," replied Starnose. "I didn't do any more digging over there for a long time."

"Then it was you and not Miner who made all those little ridges," said Peter.

"Certainly," replied Starnose, "Cousin Miner doesn't like such wet soil. He likes it where it is dryer. There are not earthworms enough over here to suit him. My, my, my, how that fellow does like earthworms! I like them well enough myself, but I can get along very well without them. He seems to think he must have them, so he stays where he is likely to find them. I want to be near water. Yes, sir, I want to be near water."

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BANANA CUTLETS

Four medium-sized bananas, one cupful of chopped walnuts, one teaspoonful of butter, one cupful of milk, three level tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Peel the bananas and mash through a sieve, add to them the finely chopped nut meats, place the butter in a saucepan, add to it the flour and milk, and allow to cook for five minutes, stirring constantly, then add the bananas and nuts. Beat well, and cook for two minutes longer, remove from the fire, add the lemon juice and salt, pour into a dish, and allow the mixture to cool, then form into cutlet shapes, and fry in deep fat, or the mixture may be placed on a buttered baking sheet and baked in the oven until brown.

SPANISH STEWED CHICKEN

One large chicken, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, two medium-sized onions, three cupfuls of tomatoes, one cupful of ripe olives, stoned and chopped, one medium-sized green pepper, one pound of cooked peas, one medium-sized can of mushrooms. Joint the fowl and wash and wipe dry. Roll it in flour, place in a saute pan with butter and when it is hot lay in the pieces of chicken, brown each piece lightly on both sides. Remove the chicken, place in the pan containing the butter, the chopped onions and cook for five minutes, then add the tomatoes, the olives and pepper. Season with salt and paprika. Simmer for ten minutes, then lay in the pieces of chicken, and add two cupfuls of boiling water, cover tightly and simmer gently until the chicken is tender, drain the mushrooms, add them and the peas, and allow to simmer for fifteen minutes longer. Remove the chicken to a hot platter, thicken the gravy with brown flour, and add to it a little of the mushroom liquor, pour over the chicken and serve.

SQUASH PUDDING

Two eggs, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. To one cupful of cooked squash pulp, add the two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one-fourth of a cupful of milk and season with salt and white pepper, add the well-beaten yolks of the two eggs, mix well, then beat in the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs. Place in a buttered baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake in the oven until firm in the center.

AVOCADO AND TOMATO SALAD

Take one large avocado, peel it and cut it in rings, garnish a salad plate with leaves of lettuce, place on them one avocado ring, on top of this place a slice of peeled and chilled tomato. Place a spoonful of mayonnaise on top of the sliced tomato, and in the center of that place one small green onion.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful talks on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, sanomedical grins, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, figs, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, steps and bolts and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

ENLIST FATHER'S SUPPORT FOR BABY'S SCHEDULE

Fathers do not intentionally upset the discipline or the schedules of their children, but their dissenting voices very often turn the tables on carefully planned schedules and the babies are the sufferers.

Mother knows that her baby should be in bed at 6:30. Naturally, having had baby on her hands all day she would appreciate an evening in peace and one meal without the annoying presence of her adorable offspring. But father thinks differently. He hasn't seen the baby all day (and he doesn't want to get up at 6 o'clock and spoil his morning rest to entertain him.) so he demands that mother keep him up at night. He clinches the argument by saying: "I'm his father, I have some privileges."

UNFAIR TO MOTHER

So baby is kept up. He is held on mother's lap (while she snatches a bite) so that daddy can make eyes at him across the table. If baby cries (and being tired and sleepy, he probably does) he is soothed with food from the table. Daddy loves seeing him reach out for a chicken bone. "Who ever heard of chicken bones hurting a baby?" says father. So baby gets a chicken bone. Then he demands mashed potatoes and strawberries and baked beans. In fact, he wants whatever he sees and rather than listen to him cry daddy sees that he gets it.

The end is very clear. What chance has a mother to keep to a regular feeding schedule, to teach the child that only the food on his plate is for him and that he is never fed at the table if his daddy in his one hour at home can so effectively teach him otherwise?

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Then there is the father who pooh-poohs any regularity of schedule which the mother wishes to carry out. What was good enough for him is good enough for his child. Threadbare as the argument is, few young mothers can stand up against it. A young mother needs co-operation. She usually can't get it from the older generation who think her ideas are silly, half-baked, too strict and whatnot, but she should be able to depend upon the steadfast co-operation of her husband. He ought to know that her efforts are all directed toward improving baby's health and happiness and he should stifle any criticisms when things go wrong (as what system doesn't at times?) tell her that she is headed in the right direction and stick to the ship.

Fathers and mothers just have to learn to stand together. Father wants applause and advice from mother in the management of his business affairs but not disruption of it. Mothers want a comforting word, a pat of approval but no upheaval of their policies. When children learn, as they do very early, that what mother says goes, and father doesn't interfere, and what father says goes and mother doesn't interfere, we have a smoothly running household.

Jury Dismissed in Assault Case Against Woman

If the State wants to find out whether Mrs. Anna Willey, 21-year-old wife of Leslie A. Willey, air transport pilot, is guilty of assaulting her sister-in-law, Marlowe Murray, it will have to try her again for battery.

A jury in Municipal Judge Bogue's court was dismissed yesterday after failing to reach an agreement as to her guilt. She will appear before Judge Curtis this morning to have the case reset for trial.

Deputy City Prosecutor Brockman charged that Mrs. Willey went to 1014 North Virgil avenue, where Miss Murray has been caring for the Willey children, Colleen, 4, and Leslie, 19 months, since their parents separated a short time ago and there assaulted her without provocation. Mrs. Willey declared that Miss Murray started the combat while the little girl was being held on her mother's lap.

Doctor Winner in Beach Club's Suit for Dues

Dr. E. E. Ramsaur of Beverly Hills does not have to pay the $300 which he agreed to for life membership in a beach club, a jury in Municipal Judge Frederickson's court decided yesterday.

The club sued for the $300, which Dr. Ramsaur admitted he failed to pay. In his defense he established that an agent for the club told him a ten-story club building would be erected, when the structure built was only of four stories. The jury not only found in his favor, but ordered that he be paid the costs of defending the action.

Wife Divorces Joke Husband

Marriage was only a joke with Thomas P. Reville, his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Reville, testified yesterday before Superior Judge Yankwich, who granted her a divorce.

"After the ceremony my husband said our marriage was just a joke," she testified. "He drove his car a few blocks, got out, got drunk and left me. Later I saw him and he said he had only married me to spite another girl, and that he never intended to live with me."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

HAY FEVER UNNECESSARY

Now that the summer and fall are coming, over a million hay-fever patients are looking forward with dread to the new-mown hay, or rag weed, or golden rod, or any of the pollens which seem to cause their attacks to descend on them.

With hay fever the attacks are usually seasonable, that is, the patient has times when he is usually free from them. During the attack the nose itches, the eyes water and smart, patient sneezes and is extremely restless at night. The mucous membranes of the nasal passages swell, causing a constricted feeling and an excess of mucus is secreted.

It should be remembered that a disease of this kind is really constitutional and the patient already has a congested mucus membrane which only needs the invasion of bacteria, or the breathing of dust or flower pollen to bring on an acute attack because of the congestion and serum already there.

Many kinds of foolish advice are given these sufferers for curing their hay fever, but the cure is really very simple and depends entirely on dietetic treatment. The first thing to do if you have this disease is to take a short fast to cleanse the blood stream of excess accumulation of toxins and relieve the congestion in the mucous membranes. Water should be taken copiously to drink, and one enema should be used daily of one quart of warm water.

The congestion in the mucous membranes can be relieved by stimulating the skin by using two sponge or shower baths daily, using a rough towel afterward to rub down the body vigorously until the entire skin is glowing. This treatment will increase the activity of millions of pores and increase elimination of body poisons. You will find that the hay-fever symptoms disappear in a very short time with this method of treatment, but if the condition is chronic you must persist faithfully with your diet for some time in order that your mucous membranes which have become virtually eliminating organs may be restored to normal. This change is necessarily slow, but it can be hastened with the use of local actinic rays directed into the nose where the membranes are irritated.

The diet should be free for a considerable length of time of all starch and sugar foods. In most cases it is also advisable to discontinue milk and cream for a time. A little butter may be used, but not over two or three ounces daily.

Keep up the skin elimination and try to sweat each day through exercising and follow this with a cold shower. The sweats are best produced by exercising and are more beneficial than by artificial means.

These rules are very easily followed and they will bring about a very satisfactory cure so that all of the hay fields and pollens in the world would no longer affect you.

Council Decides to Take Bids on Public Property

The City Council decided yesterday to receive bids the 23rd inst. for the purchase of four parcels of public property in the downtown district. Minimum figures which will be acceptable have been set for each parcel. The aggregate is $1,045,000.

The sites and the minimum figures are: Police station, First and Hill streets, $130,000; old City Hall site, $580,000; lot at 1019 South Broadway, $200,000; lot at 1224 South Broadway, $135,000. Once before the Council offered these sites for sale. There were no bidders, as a legal difficulty, since surmounted, arose as to a sliver, six inches wide, in the City Hall site.

WHITNALL WILL SPEAK

Gordon Whitnall, who after ten years as director is about to resign from the City Planning Commission, will be the guest speaker next Saturday, the 14th inst., at a luncheon meeting of the Association of City Planners in the City Club, 833 South Spring street. He will talk on "Ten Years of City Planning—and What of It?" Luncheon will be served at 12:15 p.m., preceded by a meeting of the executive and advisory committees.

PROFANITY FOES PLAN CONCLAVE

Holy Name Societies Will Have Eucharistic Rally at Inglewood the 15th inst.

As a protest against blasphemy, profanity, perjury and obscene speech the members of the Holy Name Societies of Southern California will hold an open-air Eucharistic rally in Inglewood, Sunday afternoon, the 15th inst. The Holy Eucharist will be carried in procession from St. John's parish church to the campus of the high school where Bishop John J. Cantwell, D.D., will give benediction and impart the apostolic blessing.

Attending Bishop Cantwell will be Vicar General, Rt. Rev. Mons. J. Cawley, St. Vibiana's cathedral, Los Angeles; Rt. Rev. John McCarthy, Pasadena; Very Reverend Dean John M. Hegarty, San Diego; Very Reverend Dean P. Dunne, V. F., San Bernardino and Superioors of the Jesuit, Franciscan, Dominican, Vincentian, Capuchin, Salesian, Oblate, Paulist, Mary Immaculate Fathers, Augustinian, Maryknoll and Apriean Missionary orders.

P. H. O'Neil, diocesan president of the Holy Name Societies will be grand marshal assisted by Maj. J. H. Dockweiler, California National Guards (retired,) and a group of ex-service men.

Very Reverend M. O'Gorman, diocesan Holy Name Director, will be master of ceremonies and a special choral selection of Gregorian and liturgical church music will be rendered by the combined male parish choir under the direction of Dr. William F. Grode.

Commander James C. Cortner and Inglewood Post, No 188, American Legion, will participate as an honorary escort.

Bandits Sought After Woman's Kidnap Story

A police search was instituted yesterday for two bandits who late Thursday night abducted Mrs. Margaret McNiell, 30 years of age, of 2622 San Marino street and, after robbing and attacking her, pushed her from their automobile at Seventh street and Broadway. She is in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital recovering from shock.

Mrs. McNiell told police she went to a theater with a man acquaintance Thursday night, after which he drove her to the apartment of a girl friend at Fifth street and Boyle avenue, where she planned to spend the night. The friend was not at home and while Mrs. McNiell was awaiting her in the hallway two men set upon her and carried her off in a car to the Ninth-street bridge, where the robbery and attack took place. They obtained $30, she reported.

The bandits then returned Mrs. McNiell to the downtown section, where she told her story to Officer Phelps.

Federal Grand Jury Accuses Score of Crime

Twenty-one persons were indicted in true bills returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury, among them four Mexicans accused of violating the Immigration Act by smuggling two alien Chinese into this country from a point below Mexicali.

The four Mexicans indicted are Joe Concepcion De Landa, Vicente De Landa, Donaciana De Landa and Brigidio Guzman. Each is being held on bail of $3000. Henry O. Cary is charged with forgery of a small government check. Gustave Planter is accused of making a false claim in connection with the filing of citizenship papers.

Charges against the other defendants included violations of the Tariff Act, the Immigration Act and the Dyer Act.

Friends Gather and Pay Honor to Mrs. Wilde

Honoring Dr. Maud Wilde, founder of the Mothers' Educational Center Association, friends assembled yesterday at the home of Mrs. George L. Eastman, 8150 Hollywood Boulevard. Dr. Wilde will leave the 19th inst. for Hamilton, Ont., to present the work of the Mothers' Educational Center at meetings arranged by the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and the Community Fund Association.

A special study of preventive agencies has been conducted for three years by W. C. Walton of Hamilton, who is creating the Walton Race Betterment Foundation. He is reported to have selected the program of Dr. Wilde's organization, which has functioned here for fifteen years.

Car Franchise Data Ordered

The City Council yesterday directed the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation to furnish "full and complete information as to the character, conditions and duration" of various franchises now held by the street railway companies operating in the city. The action was taken on a resolution introduced by Councilman Williams and was unanimously adopted.

SMOKER FOR MASONS

The Masonic Library of Southern California will give a smoker next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Masonic Temple, Pico and Figueroa streets. Col. F. Harvey Holden, a member of Durant Lodge, No. 268, Berkeley, will speak on "East Central Europe After the War." Col. Holden served as an artillery officer in France, was statistician in charge of accounting with the Hoover relief administration in Poland and was in charge of all accounting for food supplies sent from America into Russia during the famine of 1921, 1922 and 1923. Master Masons are invited.

CHURCHMEN ASSEMBLING FOR SESSION

Fundamentalists to Open World Meeting Tomorrow, Continuing to 15th Inst.

Hundreds of fundamentalists will assemble here tomorrow for the thirteenth annual convention of the World's Christian Fundamentals Association, beginning tomorrow and continuing through the 15th inst. Week-day sessions will be conducted at the Bible Institute, with Sunday services there and at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood. "The Ministry of the Holy Spirit" is to be the theme of the convention.

Paul W. Rood of Turlock, Cal., president, sounds the keynote at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Presbyterian church service, speaking on "Can We Expect a World-wide Revival?" Other speakers are Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton College, and Paul M. Kanamori of Japan at 3 p.m. at the Church of the Open Door, and Dr. P. W. Philpot, pastor of that church, at the evening service.

Dr. Buswell and Dr. W. P. White, president of the Bible Institute, will speak Monday at the institute sessions. Leading Sunday-school men will speak on "The Holy Spirit and the Children" at Tuesday's sessions.

A feature of the convention will be a debate Thursday night on the proposition, "Resolved, that the creative days of Genesis were eons, not solar days."

Dr. Westlake, Slayer, Loses Court Appeal

Dr. Frank P. Westlake, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Laura B. Sutton and sentenced to life imprisonment, yesterday lost in the District Court of Appeal.

The decision was written by Presiding Justice Conrey, of Division One of the Apellate Court. It held that the evidence was sufficient as to the identification of the body and, further, that Dr. Westlake had been conclusively linked to the crime.

The crime was revealed when the torso of a woman's body was found in the Los Angeles River bed. A head later was found and identified by the teeth as that of Mrs. Sutton.

Council Backs Mayor's Veto of Mechanic Plan

Mayor Porter's veto of the ordinance which would place all automobile mechanics under the regulation of the board of mechanical engineers and require them to obtain licenses to operate was sustained yesterday by the City Council.

The vote was unanimous. A report by the Building and Safety Committee declaring that numerous and vigorous protests have been filed against the ordinance also stated that the intent and purpose of the ordinance have not been made clear. Had the ordinance become effective it would have applied to about 10,000 men.

MRS. ISABELLE MILLS RITES WILL BE TODAY

Last rites for Mrs. Isabelle Mills, wife of Rev. W. G. Mills, pastor emeritus of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will be conducted today at 2:30 p.m. at the Ruppe mortuary, 950 West Washington Boulevard. Interment will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mrs. Mills died at the California Lutheran Hospital Wednesday, following a brief illness. She had returned from a sojourn in Honolulu but a few weeks prior to her death. She was 53 years of age. Mrs. Mills leaves her husband, of 4389 Second avenue; a son, J. Gordon Mills, and three daughters, Mrs. Herbert Owen, and Marjorie and Marion Mills.

CONTEMPT CASE HALTED BY WRIT

State Supreme Court Acts to Delay "Record" Trial

Jurisdiction of Judge to be Issue on July 8

Hearing Will be Conducted at San Francisco

An alternative writ of prohibition staying proceedings in the contempt-of-court action brought by the Los Angeles Bar Association against the Los Angeles Record was issued yesterday by the State Supreme Court. The writ is returnable at 10 a.m. July 8 in San Francisco.

The writ was issued on the petition of the law firm of McAdoo, Neblett & Clagett, representing the Record. The application is based on Section 170, of the Code of Civil Procedure, stating that no judge shall sit or act as such in any action or proceedings in which he is disqualified and that if a question of a judge's qualifications is raised the jurist has no jurisdiction.

Record attorneys charged when the contempt action was called before Judge Superior Judge Collier that the judge was prejudiced.

The petition refers to the case brought by D. T. Blodgett of Santa Barbara against the Superior Court that was on Thursday's calendar of the State Supreme Court. That case was not argued, however, because of the filing of an affidavit of prejudice against the Supreme Court. Blodgett also accused the trial judge of prejudice, basing his charge on the section of the Code of Civil Procedure relied upon by the Record in its petition for a writ of prohibition.

SUIT LOST BY EDISON COMPANY

Damages of $57,600 Will Go to Five as Result of Doheny Ranch Fire

VENTURA, June 6. (Exclusive)—After deliberating eighteen and a half hours, a jury tonight returned a verdict against the Southern California Edison Company allowing a total of $57,600 damages in five suits growing out of the Sulphur Mountain fire September 16, last.

The actual amount asked in the five cases was $42,500, of which the jury allowed $19,200, but under a provision of the State code the damages awarded are automatically trebled. The five plaintiffs and the amounts awarded after being trebled are: W. C. Harvey, $6600; Edith H. Hoffman and Effie S. Hobson, $8000; Hobson Brothers Packing Company, $6000; Gosnell Company, $9000; Thomas McGuire, $30,000.

The jury found that the defendant company was negligent both in letting the fire start and in letting it get off of its property. The blaze started from breaking of a 11,000-volt high-tension power line crossing the E. L. Doheny ranch.

The trial lasted five weeks, the plaintiffs being represented by Attorneys Clarke and Bowker of Los Angeles and Dist.-Atty. J. C. Hollingsworth of this county, and the defendant company by Hindman, Clark & Davis of Los Angeles and L. C. Drapeau of this city.

Five similar cases, in which the plaintiffs are all oil companies, are scheduled to open here next Tuesday. It is estimated that this trial will require six weeks.

Potter Given State Narcotic Southland Post

Appointment of Franklin J. Potter as attorney for the State narcotic division for Southern California was announced yesterday when he received notification from Frank H. Benson, chief of the bureau at San Francisco. Potter is a Los Angeles attorney and county commander of the United Veterans of the Republic. He will fill the position left vacated by the resignation of Jack Friedlander.

FRANKLIN J. POTTER.

Potter is a member of American Legion Post, No. 8, judge advocate of the local Officers' Reserve, a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, a Mason, a member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and secretary of the local University of Nebraska alumni luncheon club. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, admitted to the Nebraska bar in 1925, and to practice of law in California in 1927.

Wife Appointed to Guardianship

Mrs. Dorothy Louise Baily yesterday was appointed guardian, with the First National Bank of Beverly Hills, of the property of her husband, Fisher Baily, wealthy Beverly Hills resident, who recently was arrested after waving a pistol at motorists near his home.

Baily, adjudged mentally ill by Superior Judge Gould, has been ordered confined in a sanatorium at his own expense.

WAY PAVED FOR CITY TO ACCEPT TWO LOTS

City Attorney Werner yesterday reported to the City Council that, with a few modifications, the city can accept the deed to two lots in Owensmouth for a fire station. The offer was made by the Owensmouth Chamber of Commerce.

DANISH-ASIATIC LINE TO EXPAND

Plans Announced for Eight New Motorliners

Growth of Trade in Pacific Prompts Action

President of Company Here to Meet Amerika

BY WALDO DRAKE

So confident is the Danish East Asiatic Line that the Pacific area is shortly to be the world's chief market place that it is now spending $15,000,000 for the building of eight motorships for Pacific trade exclusively, it was announced yesterday by Christian A. Jensen, president of the East Asiatic Line. Mr. Jensen, arriving yesterday from San Francisco, is here for the maiden visit tomorrow noon from Copenhagen of the new Danish East Asiatic liner Amerika.

"The 16,000-ton Amerika is blazing a new trail in European-Pacific trade," said Mr. Jensen, "much in the same fashion as did our first motorship, the little Siam, back in 1913. European shipowners laughed at us in those days for attempting to develop business on the 'barren' Pacific coast.

"Today, we have nine motorships in this trade and a total fleet of twenty-four vessels running in Pacific trade from Copenhagen via Panama and Suez."

The Amerika, first of two sister ships, will be followed next April by the motorship Canada, now building. These two sixteen-knot liners, said Mr. Jensen, are being built expressly to meet future requirements of the North Europe-Pacific Coast passenger and cargo trade; their passenger accommodations exceeding in luxury any other ships in the trade.

WORK OF REFLOATING LASSCO LINER BEGUN

Pumping operations to raise the Lassco liner City of Honolulu, sunk aolngside her dock at Honolulu as a safety measure during the fire of May 25, were in full swing yesterday, Los Angeles Steamship Company executives were advised last night by Capt. Leb Curtis, marine surveyor in charge. Lassco officials believe that the ship will be refloated early next week, after which she will be drydocked at Pearl Harbor for temporary repairs before being brought here under her own power. She is expected at this port about the 23rd inst.

Lassco's cabin liner Calawaii will sail at noon today for Honolulu with 120 passengers and 2500 tons of cargo. Among her passengers will be Lineoln Rogers, local architect, and Mrs. Rogers; G. J. Yorba, member of a pioneer California family, with his wife; Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Mojonier, local newlyweds, and Larry Gleason, Long Beach golf professional, with Mrs. Gleason.

Commodore Owen Churchill's eight-meter racing sloop Angelita will leave for Boston aboard the American-Hawaiian freighter Montanan on the 13th inst. She will be sailed by her owner this summer in the Marblehead and Larchmont regattas.

A large percentage of California vacationists will be among the 450 passengers sailing for New York Monday morning aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner Pennsylvania. Los Angeles passengers sailing will include Robert Casamajor, with Mrs. Casamajor and their sons, Gordon and Paul; E. P. Dentzel of Beverly Hills, starting with Mrs. Dentzel and their sons, Carl and William, on a two-year tour of the world; Mrs. Neil Bosworth with her daughters, Bessie and Eleanora, and E. C. Ahearn, Mrs. H. C. Kern, Daisy Kern, Mrs. Walter K. Perkins, Walter B. Perkins, Mrs. Anna Cavanaugh, Miss Anna Marie Cavanaugh and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gullberg.

The Swedish steamer Indianic of the Transatlantic Line fleet will sail for Australian ports today after loading passengers, automobiles and 3500 tons of case-oil products at the General Steamship Corporation terminals. She is on her first visit here in four years.

Hugh Brittan, general passenger agent of the Pacific Steamship Company, came down from San Francisco yesterday morning on the Admiral liner H. F. Alexander for an inspection of local terminals.

The Admiral liner Ruth Alexander sailed last night on a chartered week-end excursion to Ensenada via San Diego with 315 California automobile dealers aboard. She will return here tomorrow night.

Holland-America Line offices announce that the line's newest European-Pacific motorship, the Damsterdyk, will arrive here on her maiden voyage on October 9. She is a sister of the fifteen-knot motorliner Delftdyk, recently added to this service.

MOTHER OF HUMANITY

More than 200 products of commercial value now are being made from petroleum and scientists still are at work to discover others. The United States Bureau of Mines predicts in time the manufacture of artificial rubber, butter substitutes, soap, synthetic leather, dyestuffs, inks, paints and a variety of other products all from crude oil. Scientists of the bureau say the day will come when you can go on a picnic, the motive power in your car and the tires on which it runs supplied by petroleum, wearing rubber boots and rubber coats made from petroleum, if it rains, your sandwiches spread with butter made from petroleum and when you have finished your picnic dinner, you can wash your hands in soap made from petroleum.

What Do They Say

The QM sergeant rushed into the animal dealer's shop in a great rage.

"Hi you," he shouted to the shopkeeper. "You told me this dog would be fine for rats and he never even touches them."

"Well," said the shopkeeper quietly, "ain't that fine for the rats?"—[Army and Navy Journal.

LYNWOOD QUIZ TAKES IN PAVING

Cost of Surfacing Century Boulevard to be Sifted

Ornamental Lighting System Figures Will be Aired

Investigation by Grand Jury Planned by Fitts's Aide

Investigation into Lynwood City affairs, which already has led to the questioning of several police officers and city officials, yesterday was directed into new channels, when Dep. Dist.-Atty Veitch and Investigator Cavett announced they have started an inquiry into the paving of Century Boulevard.

A three and one-half-mile section of this street was paved at a cost of approximately $250,000 a mile, according to the investigator. This figure is estimated to be higher than what the improvement should have cost the city. Other figures submitted to the investigators indicate a high price also was paid for the installation of ornamental street lights.

All these matters, together with corroborative evidence, will be placed before the grand jury for investigation, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Veitch said.

In announcing the new turn of the inquiry, Veitch pointed out that Mayor Snodgrass of Lynwood is cooperating directly with the District Attorney and grand jury in trying to clear up the situation.

Lincoln School Alumni Choose New Officers

Sam Warner was elected to head the Lincoln Alumni Association for next year at the annual dance held last night in the school's gymnasium. Warner, who was student body president at Lincoln in 1924, proved a popular choice to the more than 500 couples who were in attendance, and was elected on the first ballot.

Lawrence Lee, the retiring president, was immediately chosen as one of the three trustees of the association following his handing over the gavel to Warner. Other officers elected are Alda Fowler, vice-president; Irma Hummel, secretary, and Roland Pierson, treasurer. Victor Condren, Marietta Chew, and Lawrence Lee were chosen trustees.

The faculty advisors elected are Rogers Van Pelt, Lincoln boys' vice-principal; Mrs. Sarah Mullen, head of the English department, and Rita May Mitchell of the music department. Miss Ethel Percy Andrus, principal of the school, continued as honorary president of the association.

Municipal Judge Ellis Eagan headed a long list of noted alumni members who were present. Jackie Fields, former world's welterweight champion; Milt Nolan, football star, and Burdette Henny, cheer king at U.S.C. two years ago, also were present.

Two Persons Slay Selves, Another Fails

One patient killed himself and another tried to end his life last night at Alhambra Sanatorium, 1047 Rosemead avenue, Rosemead, deputies reported to the Sheriff's office. Alvin E. Block, who lived at 1020 North Flower street, Santa Ana, admitted Monday as a mental case, shot himself in the right temple with a revolver. He died on arrival at the Stanley Hospital, El Monte.

While deputies were investigating this suicide, they report, another patient, Gerhard Erich Reiners, 26 years of age, of the Barbara B stock Farm, El Monte, cut his wrists with a glass broken from his room transom. He was rushed to the Stanley Hospital.

Mrs. Elma Westbury, 53, of 24256 Hawthorn avenue, Walteria, shot and killed herself in her home some time yesterday, Deputy Sheriff Hutchison reported last night after investigating. The woman was seen alive last at 10 a.m. yesterday. Her husband, Fred Westbury, discovered her dead when he returned from work last night.

KANSANS WILL PICNIC

Former residents of Ellsworth county, Kan., will have a picnic-reunion all day tomorrow at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

HOLLYWOOD SEES FAN-USE REVIVAL

Claudia Dell

Former Ziegfeld girl illustrates proper fan-technique of colonial days.

The fan as an adjunct of milady's wardrobe is being revived in Hollywood, having made a conspicuous appearance at a number of recent social affairs attended by film folk.

According to Claudia Dell, former Ziegfeld star, French schools for girls devote considerable attention to the etiquette of the fan, teaching their students how to handle the implement with grace and expression. Miss Dell predicts a revival of the fan among women in America.

Dinner Marks Celebration of Polytechnic

Alumni of the Polytechnic High School last night celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of the school on its present site with a musical and speaking program which included John H. Francis, who was principal of the school at its founding.

One of the features of the entertainment program was the showing of stereopticon views of the early days of the school during 1905 and the contrast of modern events at the institution shown with a motion picture.

Judge Wilson, Dr. E. C. Moore and Frank A. Bouelle were additional speakers. The program yesterday included a reception in the afternoon, an alumni dinner at 6 o'clock and a dance following the program in the evening.

Asserted Stolen Goods Recovered

Discovery of $1000 worth of assertedly stolen articles last night was reported by Detective Lieutenants Gillete and Deneen following their arrest of Jack Hayman, 31 years of age, at 454 South Catalina street.

Officers say Hayman presented Virginia Fuller of that address with a pearl necklace which she told them she recognized as a string stolen last week from a friend, Florence Weddler, 5435 Hollywood Boulevard. The detectives said that, when they searched Hayman's car, they found $1000 worth of jewelry and trinkets which had been reported stolen.

CORPORATION FORMED FOR MEAT PACKING

SAN DIEGO, June 6. — Incorporated for $1,000,000, the Hardy Packing Company, a Delaware corporation, will operate the Hardy meat plant and wholesale business here, according to a certificate of incorporation filed with the County Clerk today. The articles under which the Hardy business is incorporated provide for 10,000 shares of a par value of $100 each. The purpose is to deal in packing-house products, hides, fruits and vegetables. The articles were filed at Dover, Del., where the incorporators, H. E. Grantland, L. E. Gray and C. S. Peebles, reside. Whether the Cudahy Packing Company has any interest in the new corporation, the articles do not state. C. S. Hardy of this city, says he will continue the business of meat packing as an incorporated concern.

D.A.R. LOSES LEADING LIGHT

Mrs. Thayer Resigns at Pasadena in Protest Against National Body's Anti-World Court Policy

Mrs. Maynard Ford Thayer, one of the most prominent women in the activities of the Daughters of the American Revolution in California, yesterday tendered her resignation from the Pasadena chapter of the organization in protest against the national body's recently expressed opposition to the World Court policy of President Hoover.

Despite efforts by the chapter members to keep it strictly secret, it was learned that the resignation was presented in writing at a private board meeting preceding the annual luncheon and installation of new officers at the Huntington Hotel, Pasadena.

"TOO NATIONALISTIC"

Mrs. Thayer gave as her outstanding reason for resigning the fact that during the convention in Washington last April the national body allowed only opponents of the World Court to be heard. This she characterized substantially as unfair. The national body, her letter stated further, has become too nationalistic in its viewpoint, instead of embracing internationalism.

The resignation is the first of record in Southern California circles and comes in the wake of a stormy session at Palo Alto recently when approximately half the members of the Palo Alto chapter withdrew in a gesture of loyalty to President Hoover, and in protest against the blacklisting by the national body some years ago of David Starr Jordan.

PAST STATE REGENT

Mrs. Thayer is a past State regent of the organization and only recently relinquished the office of State chairman of the department of American citizenship.

Under auspices of the Law Enforcement League, Mrs. Thayer recently made a tour of Europe, studying internationalism, and returned to predict that one day prohibition will prevail throughout the world.

The new regent of the Pasadena chapter installed at yesterday's meeting is Mrs. J. F. McKeefer and the new vice-regent, Mrs. Leon Brockey.

CIVIC BODIES FETE GROUP OF OFFICIALS

Precinct Workers in Bond Campaign Also Guests; Mayor Porter Speaks

Mayor Porter was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Los Angeles Homeowners' Association, the Western-avenue Chamber of Commerce and the Wilshire Community Council last night. Frank Watters of the Wilshire organization presided. Supervisor Graves, Councilman Burns, Frank Brooks of the water board and Ed W. Hopkins, County Assessor, and E. J. Fleming, president of the Downtown Business Men's Association, were speakers. The precinct workers in the recent water bond campaign were guests.

"Our bond election showed that our citizens believe in the further development of our water resources. This, coupled with the fact that our new budget proves that we will be economical, is already encouraging capital in the East to look to Los Angeles as the city of the future," the Mayor declared.

Porter made special mention of the work of one individual, E. J. Fleming, director of the activities of the water bond campaign. "This man gave of his time and money as no other citizen did in this fight," said the Mayor.

W. D. Jones was awarded a prize of $50 for having brought out the largest vote in his precinct. His precinct registered a vote of 70 per cent of the registration, there being only six noes to 194 yes votes.

Krumm Plant at Mentone Has New Owner Now

MENTONE, June 6.—J. R. Pitcher, Jr., of Pasadena, who with his father and W. R. MacLeod of Los Angeles, has just purchased the Krumm fertilizer plant here, announced this morning that he will be in Redlands next Monday and at that time will make public plans for enlarging the plant.

"We have incorporated under the name of 'The Krumm Manufacturing Company,'" said Pitcher, "and plan to make this one of the largest fertilizer plants in the State. We feel that the location is ideal for distribution to the richest agricultural sections of the south."

Krumm has sold to the syndicate for approximately $40,000, it is said. He sold not only the name, but the firm name, also his formulas for the making of fertilizer. Krumm says that he is retiring from business and intends to sell all his property here and in Florida.

Pitcher is owner of 250 acres of grapefruit in the Imperial Valley and is well known in the citrus industry.

A Los Angeles factory will manufacture raw materials, which will be mixed and distributed from the Mentone plant. The Krumm plant now is producing thirty tons of mixed fertilizers daily and has a capacity of 18,000 tons a year of certified products, which will be increased.

Hill Resort Opens Sunday

VISALIA, June 6.—Mineral King, pioneer mountain mining town, where thousands of miners, who labored under the ribs of the gigantic sheltering hills once resided, will open Sunday for the summer season as a resort.

The Mineral King Hotel will reopen Sunday while cabins for summer tourists and campers will be opened for the first time. Pack trains are in readiness for treks into the High Sierras. Roland Ross will be in charge of the pack trains. Fishing is good in the immediate Mineral King district, according to report. Several thousand large fry were liberated in the streams last year to add to the thousands of larger fish in the river and smaller streams.

A COMEBACK FOR TERRAPIN

At the Beaufort (N. C.) biological station the practicability of growing the diamond back terrapin, says Nature Magazine, has been advanced to the stage of consideration by the water farmer. In co-operation with the North Carolina State authorities, thousands of young terrapins are being reared for stocking the waters of the State.

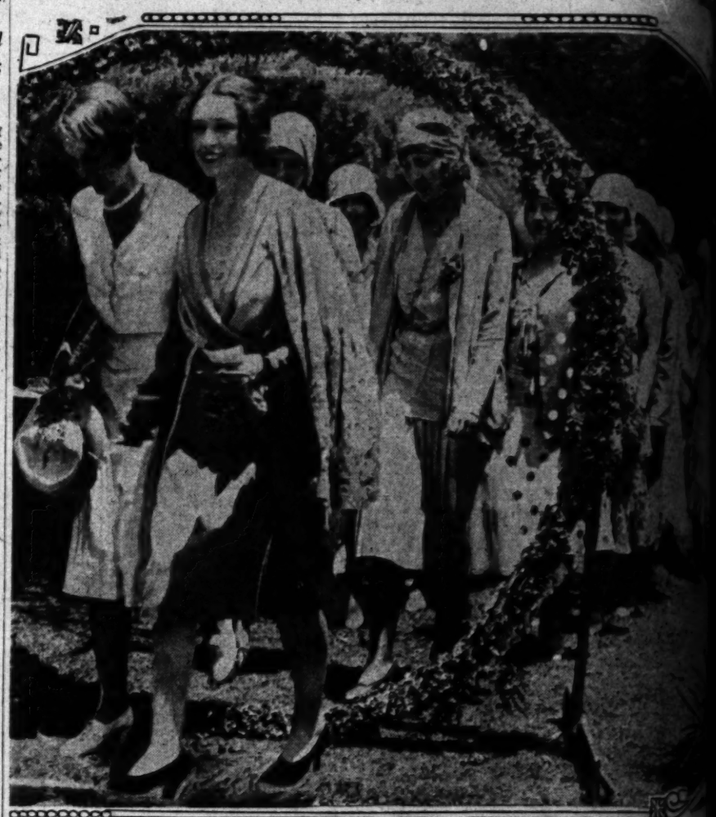
Matrimonial Candidates, Hats and All, in



Under the Yoke

Tri-Delt volunteers for marital yoke pass under symbolical wreath of pansies. By a strange coincidence leading pair, above, though not related, bear the same surname—Smith. Meet Miss Dorothie.

Exchange Ends Plum Shipment

PORTERVILLE, June 6.—Shipment of beauty plums, the first to ripen, by the Rosecrest Fruit Exchange here, has been completed, consignments going to eastern and European points through the California Fruit Exchange and a London importing firm. One car was sent to England last week. Some apricots are being packed by the exchange, while about two carloads of fruit are now going out daily, including Santa Rosa plums and apricots.

Early next week shipments will reach four cars daily, Famosa and Climax plums then being included. Santa Rosas are expected to reach about thirty-five cars for the season, with plums and apricots totaling around fifty-five cars. Plums are of superior quality this year and good prices are expected. The Rosecrest exchange will also ship peaches and grapes.

CHINO LEGIONNAIRES TO OBSERVE FOURTH

CHINO, June 6.—As has been the custom, Chino Post of the American Legion will sponsor a Fourth of July celebration here again this year, it is announced by Frank Mogle, member of the July 4 celebration committee. City Council has given the post permission to stage the celebration and the right to operate all the concessions desired. To help the celebration committee, the Council members voted to subscribe a fund for the event. A parade, music, speeches, fireworks and a grand ball are the outstanding features proposed by the Legion members. It is the plan of the exservice men to have this year's celebration one of the largest in the Southland.
